

Washington Crew Sets Sights on Henley Event

By JACK HEWINS

SEATTLE, Wn. — The news that Yale's powerful crew will not row in the Henley Regatta brought no jubilation Wednesday to the University of Washington shellhouse.

"The boys want to race everybody who has a boat," said coach Al Ulbricksen, "and Yale was one of the best."

The Washington crew has set its sights on England's Henley Royal Regatta July 2-5. A good showing there may earn it a State Department-sponsored jaunt to Russia — termed the "whipped cream on the top of the sundae" by Rusty Wallace, one of the disappointed Yale crewmen.

The Eli oarsmen voted against the European trip because many of them had other obligations for the summer months. With Yale out, Washington will have no U.S. competition for the Russian visit.

The Henley Regatta looks sweeter than a sundae to the Washington crew, which had no

Wimbledon Bans Gold Panties; Women Howl

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — "Why, I'm thunderstruck," said gorgeous Gussie Moran Wednesday when told that Carol Fageros' gold lame panties had been barred from the Wimbledon tennis courts.

"The next thing they will be doing is taking away women's suffrage," Gussie added.

"This action is dictatorial. It's Caesarian. It's a blow at democracy and freedom."

"It's like taking away Carrie Nation's hatchet, plucking out Pocahontas' feather, bursting Sally Rand's bubble and cutting Lady Godiva's hair."

"I think women of the world should revolt against such an action. I'd suggest they all come out on the court in long, ankle-length bloomers — white, of course — that would show them."

Miss Moran, now a New York radio and television commentator, was the first to shock Staid Wimbledon.

In 1949 she appeared on the center court in white panties trimmed in delicate lace, under a short ballerina skirt.

Prim ladies dropped their logins. The men sniped their binoculars. But no formal action was taken because the only stipulation about dress in the rules is that it be white.

Miss Fageros, a shapely blonde model from Miami, Fla., who calls herself the "Golden Goddess," turned up at the French championships in Paris Tuesday with gold lame panties edged in black lace.

She announced that she planned to wear them at Wimbledon next month. But Wimbledon officials said "no."

"It is clearly covered by the rules," said Col. Duncan MacAvley secretary of the Wimbledon championships. "They state players must wear white."

"This is absolutely disgraceful," Miss Moran said. "The way Paris fashion designers are taking

Beavers Ink Coyote Star

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — College of Idaho shortstop Ron Morrison Wednesday was signed to a contract by Portland of the Pacific Coast League.

The terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Morrison, who throws and bats right-handed, will join the Beavers here May 30, said Bill Brenner, the club's assistant general manager.

The 21-year-old native of Pittsburg, Pa., had a .380 batting average this season in leading the Caldwell, Idaho, school to the Northwest Conference championship.

Last season he hit .500. Morrison is 5-11 and weighs 180 pounds. He is a sophomore.

Mann to Play Canadian Ball

TORONTO, Ont. — Dave Mann, who played three years with the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League as an end and a two-way halfback, Wednesday was signed by the Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four (Canadian) Football Union.

The Argos were given permission to negotiate with the six-foot-one, 190-pound Mann after the Cardinals decided not to take up his option for the 1958 season.

YMCA Junior Olympics Set for Saturday Morning

The annual YMCA Junior Olympics for both boys and girls up to 15 years of age, will be held Saturday morning, 10 o'clock, in McCulloch Stadium.

There will be three divisions in which the kids can compete: (1) Midget, for boys and girls 11 years old and under. (2) Junior, for boys and girls 12 and 13 years of age. (3) Intermediate, for boys and girls 14 and 15 years of age.

Events will include 50 and 100 yard dashes, shuttle relay, softball throw, 200 yard relay, high jump, running and standing broad jumps, 440-yard relay, 8 pound shot put and 440 yard run.

No spiked shoes are to be worn during the meet. Ribbons will go to first, second and third place winners in the events and these winners will be eligible to participate in the State AAU Junior Olympics at Portland June 7.

Kids can participate in only three events Saturday—one track event, one relay event and one field event.

"He was such a nice man. I didn't have the heart to disappoint him. So I didn't wear lace the second year at Wimbledon."

Later Wimbledon champion Althea Gibson also took the side of Miss Fageros.

"Tennis is nothing more than a show business," said the Harlem girl. "I think Carol should be allowed to wear anything she wants to—as long as it's comfortable and doesn't violate propriety."

placer $15 and the others $12 each. If the purse is $700 the winner gets $35, second place $20 and the others $15. If the purse is either $500 or $300, the pay is $25 to winner, $25 to second place and $15 to all other. For a $1,200 or $1,500 race it's $35 for winner, $25 for second place, $20 for third and $15 for fourth, with the also-rans getting $15 too. The winning rider doesn't graduate to the $50 level until he hits a $2,000-or-better race. Second place is then worth $35 third $25, fourth and others $20.

Of course there's nothing to prevent a happy owner from handing the jock a few extra bucks if he happens to steer his steed under the wire first. . . . In the big ones, such as the Derby or Preakness, it isn't uncommon for the winning owner to give the victorious rider 10 per cent of the purse. Which at times amounts to $10,000 or more. . . . Pretty fair pay for a short horseback ride.

Big Jim Olsen Now Native of Dallas

Big Jim Olsen, a 17-game winner for the Salem Senators of 10 seasons ago, is back with us again. But not as a pitcher. Jim and his wife, Linnie, have taken over the North Dallas Tavern in Dallas, and will change the name to "Baseball Tavern". He'll not limit his time to the beer cans and bottles, however, as he's already putting together a semipro team with players from the Dallas area, and will be coach, first baseman and part-time pitcher.

The latter two items may be hard to believe, for Jim now weighs 260 pounds. . . . Since last in these parts Olsen has been at Aberdeen, Wash., where he coached the McCaw Harbories to second place in the State Semipro Tourney. . . . During his spare time, if he has any, he'll be watching the youngsters play, for he's bird-dogging (scouting) for the Milwaukee Braves. . . .

Now that Vic Backlund has completed his collegiate athletic career, wonder which major league club will sign him? Numerous scouts have been watching the big guy for the past three seasons, and although he had a rather feeble one this year with the bat he's still the type they're looking for in young catchers. . . . If Vic could make his bat talk like that used by teammate Frank Caruso, he'd have the scouts standing in line. . . .

Eagles Get 5 All-Stars

Champion Stayton placed five men on the 13-man Capital Conference and District 8 A-2 all-star baseball team picked Tuesday night at a district meeting in Salem. The selections were made by the nine district coaches.

The Eagles winning spots on the team were pitcher John Lucas, catcher Ken Ware, outfielders Clayton Emery and Ralph Stevens, and Don Bomberger, who was picked as a utility infielder.

Serra was next with three selections. They are second baseman Bill Lange, shortstop Tom Frank, and center fielder Tom Gripenrot. The latter tied with Cascade's Jim Lyons in that spot. Cascade also placed Keith Hankel at third base.

Mt. Angel also had two, first baseman Bill Beyer and pitcher Tom Miller, and Scio placed utility outfielder Ken Robinson.

Fifteen players received honorable mention. They are:

Catchers Paul Foltz, Mt. Angel, and Alva Vohland, Gervais; First basemen Doug Hilton, Cascade, Bill Zyp, Woodburn, and Marvin Champ, Stayton; second basemen Dale Barrocka, Stayton, and Jim Halter, Woodburn; third baseman Jim Luke, Serra; shortstop Jim Berchfield, Mt. Angel; left fielders Dick Palmquist, Silverton, and Ken Neuberger, Serra; center fielders Bill Bishoprick, Woodburn, and Tim Butsch, Mt. Angel; right fielders Vic Belleque, Woodburn, and Frank Netter, North Marion.

Rutgers converted 25 out of 29 foul shots when it beat Delaware on the basketball court last winter.

Hungarian Fells Nielsen

PARIS (AP) — A virtually unknown Hungarian upset Kurt Nielsen of Denmark Wednesday in the French International tennis championships, providing the biggest surprise of the young tournament season.

Y. Gulys, whose reputation has been hidden behind the Iron Curtain, swept to a straight-set victory in gaining the third round. The scores were 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Nielsen, veteran Danish Davis Cup ace and twice a Wimbledon runnerup, was seeded 15th in the tournament, the world's premier Clay Court event.

A temperamental player, Nielsen early became discouraged over his erratic shotmaking. In the final sets he appeared to be not trying.

Other favorites, including Californian Budge Patty and Mrs. Dorothy Knode of Forest Hills, N.Y., a seeded entry in the women's division, advanced easily.

But Bob Perry of Los Angeles was a second round victim, bowing to Antonio Magg of Italy 6-2, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1.

Bill Quillian, U.S. Davis Cup team member from Seattle, defaulted to Australia's Warren Woodcock in the fourth set of their second round match because of illness. Woodcock won the first two sets 6-4, 6-4, dropped the second 1-6 but was leading 4-1 in the fourth when the American defaulted.
