Eugene Lad Recovering

MINNEAPOLIS—Robin Pound, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Pound of Eugene, Ore., plays with two toy guns Wednesday and smiles from his University of Minnesota Hospital bed while recuperating from his May 23 heart operation. A group of 16 Morgan, Minn., residents donated fresh blood for the lad to help his recovery. (AP)

Lumbermen Continue Strike at Westfir Plant

EUGENE (AP)—The International Woodworkers of America withdrew picket lines from one lumber mill Wednesday, but continued its strike against the Oregon Lumber Co. plant at Westfir.

Picket lines were withdrawn from the company's plant at Dee, near Hood River.

But the picket lines may reappear at Dee, union officials said.

"If the company won't talk to us, picketing may be extended to the other Hines plants," said Harvey Nelson, IWA Columbia River District Council president.

Owns Other Plants

Oregon Lumber is owned by the Edward Hines Lumber Co., which also owns plants at Dee, Hines, Baker and Bates. The Westfir plant employs 260 men. The other plants employ some 750 men.

Nelson said the union struck because the company notified the union it would not renew a contract clause dealing with pay rates for fallers and buckers.

A company spokesman said it was willing to go along with other employers in extending the contract, except for that one clause. The spokesman said the company was willing to negotiate on the clause.

Seek Mediation

A union spokesman said the federal mediation service is trying to arrange a meeting between the company and the union.

A spokesman for a management group said that many firms have switched fallers to hourly pay scales.

For years fallers and buckers were paid on a piece-work basis —the so-called busheling. Sometimes fallers under that arrangement could make as much as $100 a day.

Most fallers, however, get about $24 a day under the hourly pay scales, the management spokesman said. He also said that employers feel they can better control quality and reduce tree splintering losses with hourly pay.

Portland Firm Low Bidder On Dam Job

MEDFORD (AP)—A low bid of $2,635,493 was submitted Tuesday for enlargement of the Emigrant Dam in the Talent Irrigation Project.

The low bidder was R. A. Heintz Construction Co., Portland. There were eight other bids, ranging up to $4,212,970.

The present concrete dam will be used as a core for an earth-fill dam to increase the capacity of Emigrant Lake from 8,000 to 40,000 acre feet.

Mayor Resigns So He Can Keep Liquor License

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (AP)—Because he'd rather retain his drug store liquor license, Carl A. Leonall isn't mayor of Cheboygan any more.

Leonall resigned as mayor Tuesday night, explaining the Michigan Liquor Control Commission advised him law prohibits a licensee holding any office involved in enforcement of liquor laws. As mayor he controlled police.

Leonall remains a city councilman. He was elected in May and named mayor in May for a two-year term.

On Leonall's motion, councilman Warren King, a milk processor, was elevated to mayor.

Medford People Can't Wait for 4-Cent Postage

MEDFORD (AP)—Medford residents can't wait for the new postal rate bill to go into effect Aug. 1.

Already, postmaster Moore Hamilson said, some Medford residents have begun putting 4-cent postage on letters.

House Group Okehs Loans to Municipalities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Banking Committee Wednesday approved a two-billion-dollar program of federal loans to municipalities for construction of local public facilities.

Rep. Albert Rains (D-Ala) said that next to housing it is the best anti - recession bill Congress has considered. But Rep. William B. Widnall (R-NJ) labeled it "a complete grab bag," and there were predictions of a presidential veto.

The bill, approved by a 16-6 vote, provides double the loan authority voted last month by the Senate. It also offers much more lenient interest terms on the proposed 50-year construction loans.

Many Projects Possible

Projects under the bill would range from repair of streets and sidewalks to construction of parking lots, airports, parks, sewage systems, hospitals and public lands, water or timber conservation. It also provides for loans to nonprofit private hospitals.

Unlike the Senate bill, the House committee measure bars use of federal funds for construction of schools or for use by state agencies. Southern members said inclusion of school construction might entangle the bill in a racial segregation fight.

Interest Rate Different

Aside from the total of the loan authority, the biggest departure from the Senate bill was the interest rate, a feature which drew the strongest opposition. Borrowers would be charged a rate computed under present conditions at 2⅝ per cent. The Senate bill carries an interest rate of between 3¼ and 3½ per cent.

Under the House bill, the interest rate would be the same as the average annual interest paid by the federal government on all its interest - bearing obligations. This is expected to be opposed by the Eisenhower administration.
