U.S. Official Pays Quick Visit to Fair

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — George V. Allen, chief of the U.S. Information Agency, wound up a quick visit to the U.S. Pavilion at the World's Fair Saturday. He leaves for Washington Sunday.

Allen's trip here followed congressional rumblings in Washington Wednesday over the etching of a partly nude woman in the U.S. Pavilion and the quality of hamburgers and hot dogs being served there.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) delivered a complaint to President Eisenhower and urged a review of the exhibit. The complaint, Bridges said, came from a private citizen.

Allen told a news conference here his trip here was not made because of Bridges' report. He declined to comment on the U.S. exhibit.

"I am not going to say anything on any specific exhibit at the fair, and that also applies to the U.S. exhibit," he said.

He added that the trip was planned long ago with the suggestion from the President: "Why don't you go and have a look at the U.S. exhibit?"

Asked about published reports that he would give a reasonably favorable report when he got back to Washington, Allen replied: "These stories were of the general interest type. I have no cause to object."

Allen visited several other pavilions at the fair as well as briefings on the U.S. show. He plans to meet with President Eisenhower Tuesday.

Howard S. Cullman, U.S. World Fair commissioner, said most of the non-American press has been favorable to the U.S. exhibit and that only a small percentage of Americans have been critical.

Mamie Given Rug, But Gift Not Expensive

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower also got a rug as a gift recently. However, it came not from a rich business man, but a poor blind man.

While Washington stowed about millionaire Bernard R. Goldfine's gifts and the expensive Oriental rug he put in Sherman Adams' house, the home of the New York Guild for the Jewish Blind told Friday of the gift to the First Lady.

A small, hand-woven scatter rug, it was sent to her early this month by David Semel, 84-year-old resident of the home, with a note saying:

"By this rug I have woven for you... you may see what a man of my age visually handicapped can be taught to do."

Mrs. Eisenhower replied: "I am happy to accept such a lovely gift. You used the most beautiful shades to make this rug, combining them so well to give a soft and eye-pleasing effect. Thank you for your thoughtful gesture in remembering me."

Citizenship Day Due Sept. 17th

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Saturday designated Sept. 17 as Citizenship Day. It will commemorate the signing of the Constitution and recognizing citizens who have become of age or who have been naturalized during the past year.

Eisenhower's proclamation also designated the week beginning Sept. 17 as Constitution Week.

It urged federal, state and local officials, as well as religious, civic, educational and other organizations to arrange appropriate ceremonies on Citizenship Day "to strengthen a better understanding of our rights and our responsibilities as citizens of the United States."

Accused Killer's Flight Ends Up In Canada Jail

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Accused killer Howard B. Stickney's 27-day flight from the law has ended in a small-town Canadian jail.

Stickney, sought in a double slaying here, was captured near Perth, N. B., late Friday.

Royal Canadian Mountie Norman Crawford related these details to The Houston Chronicle:

Stickney, 29, was driving north on Canadian Highway 2, heading deeper into Canada.

Crawford spotted the 1963 Ford with a Texas license. This was the car the Mounties had been alerted to watch for by the FBI and Texas authorities.

He had been told it probably would be driven by Stickney, wanted for the slayings of Shirley Elaine Barnes and her husband Cliff, both 26.

Crawford, in a patrol car, motioned the Texas driver to a roadside halt, and he made no effort to resist.

"At first he denied knowing anything about the Houston murders," Crawford said. "However, he seemed to be glad it was all

Copter Record Claimed

PARIS (AP) — The French South Aviation Co. says one of its Alouettes recently set a helicopter altitude record of more than 36,000 feet — almost seven miles. It reported the climb took only 35 minutes.

Later, the Mountie said, Stickney made a long statement. Canadian authorities withheld its details.

Brasilia, the new capital city of Brazil, will be built at an altitude of 3,500 feet and the city's outline will resemble the shape of a huge airplane.
