INVESTIGATORS ARRIVE

HONOLULU, Jan. 1.—(AP)—Members of the senate Mead committee arrived here yesterday on the first leg of a world tour to investigate military bases and surpluses.

Salem Invited to Participate in League of Oregon Cities Meet

Mayor I. M. Doughton and the other city officials of Salem have been invited to take the city's reconversion problems to the joint convention of the League of Oregon Cities and the Oregon Finance Officers association, to be held in Portland, January 21, 22, and 23, at the Multnomah hotel. The convention is planned as a "clinic" where outstanding national authorities as well as federal, state and local officials will be on hand to offer information and suggestions on federal surplus property disposal, return of airports to civilian management, planning problems, building codes, Oregon finance problems and other matters of particular interest to Oregon cities.

Prominent guests will be Gov. Earl Snell, who will speak at the opening luncheon on Monday; Dr. Harry K. Newburn, University of Oregon president, who will deliver the League banquet address on Tuesday evening; Carl H. Chatters, executive director of the Municipal Finance Officers association of the United States and Canada, scheduled to speak at the Finance Officers banquet Monday evening; Earl D. Mallory, executive director of the American Municipal association, speaker at the Tuesday luncheon; Mayor Harley Knox of San Diego, president of the League of California Cities, speaker at the Wednesday luncheon; and Charles B. Bennett, director of the Los Angeles Planning Department, who will speak at the planning and zoning section meeting on Monday.

Special Meetings

Special section meetings will be held on subjects of special interest to cities. The planning and zoning section will meet all day Monday, with exhibits and reports on current planning and zoning studies of The Dalles, Salem, Eugene, Corvallis, Portland and others, and a critique of each by Bennett to be presented at the morning session. Bennett will speak at the afternoon session, and will then head a panel of planning experts who will discuss current planning problems and advise individual cities on their specific questions. Topics which will be discussed include: Location of parks, swimming pools, sewage disposal plants, schools, and highway routes through cities; civic centers and their relation to new federal buildings; zoning and industrial sites; subdivision control; off-street parking; public works programming; and city policy on tax-deeded lands.

Airport Section

The airport section will feature a round-table discussion of the development, financing and management of airports and of the problems incident to the return of airfields to the cities by the army, navy, or coast guard. A representative of the CAA will be present to take part in the discussions. Other section meetings are planned for attorneys, municipal utility managers, mayors and councilmen, and engineers and street superintendents.

The League and the finance officer will hold joint meetings on Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday. At the Tuesday meeting, Jerry S. Saylor, executive secretary of the Oregon State-wide Retirement System, will speak, and a representative from the Interim Tax Study Commission will report on the work of the commission.
