Stiff Amendments for Price Control Law Appears Likely; Russians Like Tougher Talk

By the World Staff of the Associated Press

WASHINGTON—Look for some stiff amendments to the price control law if congress remains in its present frame of mind. An apparent majority agrees that the law must be extended in some form beyond the June 30 expiration date. But determined efforts can be expected to be made to limit the measure to cost-of-living items.

BERLIN—Future American-Soviet relations in the German occupation zone may seem outwardly to be harsher and more uncompromising but in reality they will be all the more cordial.

The reason for this, say American officers in the area, is that our officials are beginning to talk tough to the Russians—and the Russians like it.

* * *

WASHINGTON — Some GOP congressmen will tell you their party has a ready-made issue for the congressional elections — demobilization.

Their reasoning: The president is commander-in-chief. The commander-in-chief has the power to demand action in getting the boys out of the service and home. Any delay or confusion, therefore, is the fault of the president—and of the democratic party, which he heads.

* * *

ROME—If you think the housing situation is tough in your home town, take solace from this:

In Rome, single rooms carry rentals as high as $350 a month. Approximately three million rooms were destroyed during the war and little has been done toward replacing them.

WASHINGTON—Contracts for new type military planes will provide in some cases that initial test flights be conducted by remote control.

This indicates that the speeds of future planes will make test flying very risky business. It shows, too, how far the art of radio control of aircraft has advanced.

Data on performance would be radioed to the ground so that it would be available to engineers even if the plane crashed.

ATLANTA — Bob Ramspeck, great champion of the civil service employe, left congress to take an aviation job because, he said, quite frankly, a congressman's pay isn't enough.

But in his district (Atlanta) there are at least six persons who apparently think they can live on a congressman's income. They're running to succeed him.

BUDAPEST — Hungarian cultural experts are saying it will take a long time to rid the nation's children of the nazi doctrines to which they were subjected. As a first step in re-educating them in the democratic spirit, the minister of education has opened a course for 200 village teachers. They will get concentrated refresher lectures on Hungarian literature, history, sociology and kindred subjects.

Foot Soldier Wins Cheers Of Gothamites

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—(AP)—Millions of New Yorkers, packed for four miles along Fifth avenue, roared tribute today to the nation's foot soldier as 13,000 men paraded through a blinding paper blizzard celebrating America's World War II victory.

Tall, slender, 38-year-old Major General James M. Gavin, youngest division commander in the army, led the march in which his famed 82nd airborne division had the place of honor.

8000 Police

Many New York policemen—there were 8000 on duty along the avenue—said they could not recall an ovation to equal the one an estimated 4,000,000 persons gave the veterans. The parade was dedicated in Gavin's words "to all the guys who walked through the mud — the slogging GI."

On display in the greatest parade since 1919, when General John J. Pershing led the First division up the same avenue, were the tanks, the artillery, the vehicles and most of the combat equipment with which the axis nations were crushed. And in the air were fighter planes and transport-towed gliders with which the allies spearheaded their invasion of Hitler's European fortress.

Eyes Front

Behind Gavin, who said he had "walked all over the damned earth," were the colors of the United States, Great Britain, Soviet Russia, and France. Gavin strode briskly up the avenue with eyes front except when he saluted Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and other officials in the main reviewing stand and Cardinal-Designate Francis J. Spellman on the steps of St. Patrick's cathedral.

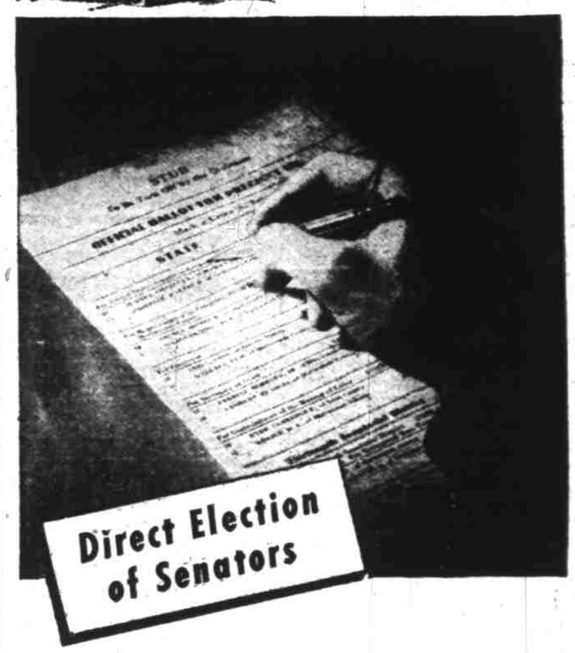
Grangers Grow Social Crops that benefit all Oregonians



DIRECT ELECTION of U. S. Senators—and the legislative right of Initiative—Referendum—Recall—are tools of a democracy held by all Oregonians.

It was not always so.

Oregon's representatives to the U. S. Senate at one time were selected by the State legislature. The Grange aided in changing this to direct vote of the people . . . Initiative, Referendum and Recall are legislative rights belonging to all Oregonians largely through concerted efforts of the Oregon State Grange.

Projects of this nature are as vital a part of Grange activities as better agriculture itself. That is why 28,000 progressive farmers belong to the Oregon State Grange—why membership continues to grow—why the Grange is a dominant force for social progress.

Information about the purpose and accomplishments of the Oregon State Grange is contained in a booklet "Let's Look at the Record". Contact your local Grange for copy, or write direct.

Boom in Home Repair Work Expected Soon

More than $3,064,000 is expected to be spent during the next five years by Marion county home owners on remodeling and repair work.

The year 1946 promises to inaugurate one of the greatest eras in American history for home repairs and modernization, according to estimates released by the Tile Council of America. "Few developments will contribute more to employment and general prosperity in any community," according to R. E. Jordan, chairman of the council's residential construction committee.

Because of lack of materials and manpower during the war, majority of the county's 23,969 dwelling units are in need of some kind of repair or remodeling work. Kitchen improvements and modernization of bathrooms, installation of tiled showers and in some homes addition of a second bath top the nation's list of most wanted major improvements, Jordan said.

Outside paint jobs are needed, he pointed out.
