

Dancers to Appear on Monday

Plenty of life and color is promised members of the Salem Community Concert association on Monday night when the Rosario and Antonio company of Spanish dancers make its appearance on the stage of the Salem high school auditorium.

This, the third in the winter series, will feature the two young flamenco dancers and their company which includes three other dancers, a pianist and guitarist.

The company is quite a family group. Rosario and Antonio are first cousins, the musical director-pianist, Silvio Masciarelli is the husband to the former and Pastora Ruiz is a cousin of the latter.

Other members of the company are Sinda Iberia and Carmen Luz, dancers and Geromino Villanar, guitarist. The group comes by bus and is a complete unit during its coast-to-coast tour.

Emancipation of Turkish Women Told By Speaker at Saturday Meeting

The Salem Woman's club, at the regular meeting on Saturday afternoon heard L. B. Prillaman, instructor of social science in Portland high schools, speak of "The Rise of Modern Turkey."

Mr. Prillaman outlined the methods of Kemal Pasha Ataturk, president of Turkey, in revolutionizing government and customs of a land which for thirteen centuries had followed the rigid teachings of the Koran. In a brief 20 years women of Turkey have acquired a standing in political, educational and financial circles, he said.

Comparison was made with the wheat found in King Tut's tomb, hidden away for centuries, when planted quickly germinated. The Moslem women when exposed to life, sunlight and opportunity have proven abilities, he said. Head of the bank of Ankara is a woman, also health and education departments are directed by women, the speaker said.

Music was provided by Jewell Gueffroy, pianist, who played two waltzes by Chopin, and Donna Jane Macklin played violin numbers, "Spanish Dance" by Raphael and "Rondino" by Kreisler.
