Gleemen in Concert

A musical organization well known in Oregon comes to Salem February 1, for a concert, the Eugene Gleemen to sing here that night under the auspices of the Salem Rotary and Lions club. The concert will be presented in the Salem senior high school

In past years, the 80-voice chorus has sung frequently in Salem. but this will be the first appearance here since before the war. The local Rotary club will use its share of the concert profits for its Willamette scholarship fund, and the Lions will use their portion for the benefit of their varied ciric projects.

To date the Gleemen have sung 100 formal concerts and have made more than 200 informal appearances for conventions and other public programs. They have appeared in many Oregon cities, as well as having sung in Seattle and in Victoria, B. C. In 1939 the Gleemen were designated by the state legislature to be official representatives during Oregon week at the San Francisco International Exposition.

Gleemen concerts in a series of 10 annual performances in Portland brought in more than $25,000 for the Shrine hospital for crippled children. The Gleemen always sing for the benefit of some civic or philanthropic project, no profits going to the singers themselves. The chorus was organized in 1926 as a group promoting an interest in music within its home community, as well as being a group organized by men singing for the joy and interest in singing. The chorus also has served as a community organization to represent and promote Eugene in a musical

Donald Allton, University of Oregon school of music faculty, is acting director this year and Stacy Green, also of the university, is acting accompanist.

Tickets for the February 1 concert in Salem may be obtained from any member of either Rotary or Lions, or at Miller's department store where they will be on sale

The program and soloists will be announced later.

Mrs. Russell Pratt entertained members of her study club at her home on North 24th street Monday afternoon, Mrs. B. E. Owens reviewed "The Black Rose" and Mrs. Elmer O. Berg gave a talk on "Education in China."

Dr. and Mrs. Estill L. Brunk have invited a group of their friends to dinner Saturday night at their North 21st street home. Covers will be placed for twelve and bridge will be in play. This is the first in a series of parties the Brunks are planning.

Mrs. Herbert Rahe will be a luncheon hostess this afternoon at her North Winter street home for the pleasure of members of the Modern Drama class.

Women's Council of the First Christian church will meet Thursday at the church for a welfare salad luncheon at noon. The business meeting will follow at 1:45 o'clock and the program will be at 2 with the Rev. Seth Huntington, pastor of the First Congregational church,

Mrs. John O. Burcham and Mrs. Deana Davis will entertain the AAUW Evening Literature group Wednesday night at the former's home, 455 Grove st., at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Arthur Bone will review "South Riding," by Winifred Holtby.

The Keizer Ladies sewing club will hold an all day meeting with Mrs. Ben Claggett on Thursday. A no-host luncheon will be served and there will be Red Cross sewing and quilting.
