Pro Fight Comeback Success; Hoag Kayo Winner in Fifth

Question 'n answers dept: Will Salem be one of the 16 hoop tourney teams in quest of the state championship in March? Maybe. If she is, she will have to earn her way in via conquest of district 11 (Salem, Silverton, Woodburn, Mt. Angel, Stayton and possibly Sacred Heart Academy). The automatic "free" ticket so chastised before the war is definitely out. And so have been the SHS'ers the last two years since they had to win their way to the playoffs . . Who will give Harold Hauk's club the most trouble in the district? It's a long time until March 1, opening day of the district playoffs-long enough that we hesitate to point out the better quints in the area. Basketball teams can improve greatly during a month's span. But were we to finger out the club which would give the Viks a time of it right now, it would have to be Ray Boe's Silvertons. They can be very tough, most thanks due wee Dale Bennett, a score-happy driver who is culminating three fine seasons for the Foxes, and Glenn Nado, a sixfoot four-incher who can do a smart job of pivoting. We saw the Foxes run up a 20-8 first quarter count against Dallas the other night and they looked unbeatable that period . . . As for Mt. Angel? Paul Reiling's Preps are hustlers but woefully short on natural talenf. Given another month to absorb Reiling's teachings the Preps may blossom. If they don't won't be because they didn't try . . . Woodburn? It was bound to happen to Jiggs Burnett and his pennant-laden Bulldogs, and it's happened. Not unlike Reiling, Burnett feels he can walk step for step with anyone plagued with poor material. The Bulldogs are simply at the bottom of the manpower cycle which eventually greets every coach. They may improve-Burnett himself tells he's never had a team as anxious to learn as this one-but it's doubtful they the Mexican out with a solid right will climb to district championship caliber . . . The same goes for M. VanDriesche's Staytons and Joe Herberger's Academians. Practically every boy in either school is out for basketball, but can't make a bus load when they take take a road trip. Neither school deserves being indexed with other class. "A" emporioums . . . Yes, Salem might make it in March. But if she does it will be only after she's had some anxious moments with the neighbor kids starting March

Bevens Is a Holdout; Mebbe First of Year

Bill Bevens is a holdout. Perhaps not the first of the seasonand then again mebbe he is-but Yankee Bill figures he and Loquasious Larry MacPhail don't see eye to eye on what a guy should get in his 1946 pay envelope after being no less than the same guy who, in 1945, won more ball games than any other, Yankee pitcher.

Big Bill, in case it has escaped you, copped the duke 13 times last summer and in one game, a snappy 1-hitter against the Boston Red Sox, came within a whisker of hitting the no-no jackpot.

Bevens may or may not be stubborn as a holdout. MacPhail may or may not be incongruous as a Paces League
