

Truman Calls For Support of 'Dime' Drive

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—President Truman appealed tonight for unwavering support of the national foundation for infantile paralysis which he called a symbol of Franklin D. Roosevelt's "sacrifice and courage."

Asserting the fight to conquer the disease is "an unfinished task" of the late president, he declared "it must and shall be carried to complete victory."

Mr. Truman joined in nationwide ceremonies in behalf of the March of Dimes campaign on what would have been Mr. Roosevelt's 64th birthday.

Speaking from the White House over major networks as Mrs. Truman and his daughter Margaret made a tour of birthday balls in behalf of the drive, Mr. Truman said of his predecessor:

"In a life dedicated to his fellow-man, the fight against infantile paralysis was only one which he waged for the welfare of humanity."

The first sheet of new five-cent commemorative stamps bearing the late president's likeness and reminders of the freedom of religion and expression, the freedom from want and fear, was presented to President Truman by Postmaster General Hannegan.

Mr. Truman said, in an informal ceremony, that the world may one day "achieve the ideal" of the four freedoms by striving toward them.

The first family lunched with movie stars who came here to promote the March of Dimes drive or infantile paralysis victims.

Scientists Make Post Mortem Study of Atom Bombed Japs

By Frank Carey
Associated Press Science Writer
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Postmortem studies of Japanese killed by atomic bombs have been undertaken by military scientists in an effort to learn more about the effects of atomic energy on the human body.

One objective of the research will be to determine whether specific antidotes can be provided for injuries sustained by victims of A-bomb explosions.

This was learned today from members of army and navy technical commissions who returned recently from Japan.

They brought specimens from the bodies of more than 200 Japanese "of all age groups" who were killed or fatally injured at Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The commissions also brought back "hundreds of blood specimens" and other clinical records of persons who incurred non-fatal injuries during the bombings.

Colonel J. E. Ash, director of the army institute of pathology, told a reporter:

"We want to find out what effect the radiant energy from an atomic bomb has on body tissue, and the opportunity that American scientists have had to make such investigations on the tissues of persons killed by the bombs."

"Based on what we already know of the effects of the radiant energy of x-ray on human tissue, we will probably find that the radiant energy from the atomic bombs had its most marked effect on the blood forming tissues—especially the bone marrow."

Police Believe Prankster Sent Ear to Mother

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP)—The box containing the human ear mailed to the mother of kidnapped and slain Suzanne Degnan bore the scribbled threat, "will cut your ear next." Chief of Detectives Walter Storms disclosed tonight.

Storms said he still believes the ear, which police believe to be that of an adult male, was the work of a prankster, but added the box and writing would be examined carefully at the crime detection laboratory and then would be turned over to postal inspectors.

He said the small cardboard box containing the ear was mailed to "Mrs. Degnan" at the north side home address of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Degnan, and that the threat was penned on the box.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cavender, who Wednesday completed the purchase of the delicatessen store owned and operated here the past 25 years by Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dickerson, will take over the store's operation. At the same time the Dickersons take active management of Lukens' Variety store, which they purchased last week.

Cavender, for 25 years a member of the city volunteer fire department, last week resigned the position as Shell Oil manager here which he has held for 20 years. Dickerson is a member of the city council.

Bank Building Lift Operator Quits Position

Mrs. Hugh Wilkerson, who has been an elevator operator in Salem's 11-story First National bank building since it was built in the late 1920s, leaves her position today to follow her husband to Roseburg where he has accepted a position.

But before her departure tenants in the tall office building bade her farewell Wednesday with a gift and many good wishes. She carries with her more than a shoe, she declares. "I ought to write a book," she commented laughingly as she discussed memories of her work there. She was Esther Graettinger when she went to work on the elevator and has, as she expresses it, "grown up in the place."

Doctors, attorneys and other office occupants have recollections, too — of her service as a "second secretary," knowing the comings and goings of all the tenants in Salem's only skyscraper.
