NUERNBERG, Feb. 11 (AP)—German Field Marshal Friedrich von Paulus dealt the Nazi leaders on trial here one of their sharpest blows today in a surprise court appearance during which he called Germany's invasion of Russia a "criminal attack" inspired by the "boundless" ambition of Hitler and national socialist regiment.

The thin, neatly-clad soldier spoke with apparent bitterness toward the Nazi supreme command which compelled him to sacrifice his army in a Volga trap at Stalingrad three years ago.

The former ranking officer who turned against the Nazis in a Russian prison camp gave these answers to a question by the Russian prosecutor, Lt. Gen. R. A. Rudenko, as to which of the 22 Nazis on trial were "active participants in the initiation of the war against the Soviet Union."

Marshal Wilhelm Keitel was the "most important military advisor to Hitler."

Hermann Goering "as reichs-marshal was commander of the air force and was plenipotentiary for armament measures."

Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl was chief of the Wehrmacht operations staff.

'Winds' Note In 1941 Held of No Importance

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Admiral Royal E. Ingersoll said today the navy intercepted a Japanese "winds" message signifying a diplomatic crisis with the United States in December, 1941.

But it was of "no importance," he told the senate-house investigating committee, because it was already known that Tokyo had ordered Japanese diplomats in this country to destroy their codes. That code-destroying order, of which word was sent to the Pacific fleet on Dec. 4, 1941, was an unmistakable sign that hostilities impended, Ingersoll said, declaring:

"That did not mean a rupture of diplomatic relations—it meant war."

Ingersoll, now 62, was assistant chief of naval operations in 1941. When war came, he was made commander of the Atlantic fleet.

Both Santiam Roads Open; Highways Icy

Both the north and south Santiam highways were open today but chains were required on all Cascade passes, the state highway commission reported Monday. The South Santiam has been closed for nearly a week because of a slide and heavy snow.

Minimum temperatures throughout the state today were below the freezing mark, causing roads to be frosty and slippery.

Colder and clear weather gave the commission hope of stopping the slide on the Columbia River highway near Noonah falls, where a rain-soaked mountain has been sliding across the road into the river. The commission refused to even make a guess as to when the road would be reopened.

The daily road report included: Santiam junction—10 degrees, overcast, 8 inches new snow.

Odell lake—Clear, 9 degrees. Three short sections of one-way traffic above Oakridge because of washouts.

Astoria—Roads icy but well sandaled. Lower Columbia highway closed at east city limits of Astoria. Short detour available. Now two-way traffic near Clatskanie. Oregon Coast highway still closed at slide near Manzanita, detouring via Sunset and N. Necanicum highways. Still one-way traffic around washout on Coast highway 7 miles south of Seaside. Loggers not allowed over section. Still one-way traffic at washout on Mist-Clatskanie highway.

Snell Favors Plan to Save State Forests

That Oregon must be kept green not only to conserve its timber resources but also to attract tourist trade, was emphasized at a meeting of the "Keep Oregon Green" association county chairman Monday.

The meeting, was called by Nels Rogers, state forester, in the state forestry building.

Gov. Earl Snell called particular attention to the devastation resulting from fires during the past year and urged that every thing possible be done to improve the fire situation. He said Oregon's timber resources should be conserved at any cost and that a well defined protective program should be adopted.

The governor predicted that the postwar era would find Oregon well in front in timber operations and that many thousands of men, including a large number of servicemen, would be employed in these operations.

The value of the tourist crop was emphasized by Harold Sey, in charge of the state highway commission travel bureau. Sey declared that the year 1946 probably would be the outstanding tourist season in Oregon and that more than $100,000,000 would be spent by travelers from every part of the United States.

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 11 (AP)—Republican Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon tonight declared his party has not tried to prevent "the exploitation of the common men and women from those who control the economic forces of the country."

In a Lincoln day address here Morse also criticized the action of Sen. White (R-Maine), minority leader, "who defended the filibuster technique and argued against the exercise of cloture protection" during the recent controversies over the fair employment practices bill.

Morse said representative government "has the primary obligation of doing those things for all of its people which they best cannot do for themselves," and added: "Unfortunately, that has not been the position of the republican party since 1912."

Neuner Rules On State Land, Vote Counting

A county clerk is not required to comply with charter provisions of a city in regard to the canvassing and counting of votes in a municipal election, Attorney General George Neuner ruled Monday.

Neuner said the duties of the county clerks in the canvassing of election returns are clearly defined by the general laws of the state and cannot be added to by a municipality or any other authority other than the legislative assembly. This opinion was requested by the Coos county district attorney.

In another opinion Neuner held that property purchased by the state from federal farm labor funds is subject to protection under the state reversion law. The state board of higher education sought this opinion.

Counties are liable for payment of one-half of indemnity for cattle slaughtered because of bangs disease with the state obligated to pay the remaining half. Neuner held in a third opinion. This opinion was addressed to the state agricultural department.
