

Harold Jory New Registrar At Willamette

Harold B. Jory, for 15 years an administrator in the school system of Everett, Wash., has been named to succeed Walter E. Erickson, Willamette's newly appointed athletic director, as registrar and director of admissions at Willamette university, it was revealed Wednesday by President G. Herbert Smith.

The former Everett high school principal, who has been engaged in private business in Los Gatos, Calif., since leaving the field of public school education in 1938, will arrive in Salem early in March to relieve Erickson of his duties in the registrar's office.

Two daughters of Jory are currently attending Willamette, Mrs. Elizabeth Jory Nicholson, senior in public school music, and Evelyn Jory, sophomore in sociology.

After graduating from Willamette university in 1915, Jory took his master's degree in education administration at Stanford university. Before entering the school system of Everett, where he became junior high school principal and later principal of the senior high school, he taught in several Oregon high schools.

Portland OPA Avoids Salem Rent Problem

The office of price administration, at least its Portland district office, isn't anxious to take on the problem of handling rent control in Salem. However, if enough residents of the area ask it to move in, the Portland office will, in turn, invite the San Francisco office of OPA to have the federal bureau of labor statistics survey the situation, Walter A. Durham, rent director for the Oregon district office, said Wednesday.

A request from the mayor and city council, which is to be directed to Durham, more than likely will be sufficient to bring such action, the director indicated. Mary Johns of OPA's group and community service, in Salem on business Wednesday, notified Durham that the council had moved to seek such a survey.

Hospitalized Veterans Hear Eisenhower

TACOMA, Feb. 20. — (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff, speaking to 2,000 veterans in Madigan General hospital at Fort Lewis today, pledged all the nation's resources to the restoration of its returned soldiers to health and to their reinstatement in national life. He also urged upon them an awareness of the importance of their utterances as the country's "leaders."

He urged them to carry forward into the future the spirit of service to their country they showed in war.

No matter what the government or anyone else did for the returned soldier, he emphasized, the soldier himself "by working for the nation in times of peace as you did so nobly in time of war will be doing the best for our country."

"All the world listens to the voice of sacrifice. There is a dignity in sacrifice that is never forgotten. When you open your mouths people will listen. What you say is important to them."

Court Handed Liquor Rulings

PORTLAND, Feb. 20. — (AP) — Appeals for rehearing of state liquor control commission violation rulings were returned to circuit court jurisdiction today.

Control Administrator Ray Conway said the decision to funnel such appeal actions through the courts resulted from such cases becoming too numerous for the commission to handle.

The rehearing of appeals by the courts is provided under Oregon law, but for the past four years the work has been assumed by the commission. Conway said the law provides appeals to be filed by violators in his own home court within 10 days after the violators has been penalized in the original commission hearing.
