

FOOD SPECIALS FOR THE WEEK-END IN EUGENE MARKETS

FREIGHT DELIVERY WELL UNDER WAY

The new store door freight delivery service recently inaugurated by the Northwest Freight Transport company in conjunction with the Oregon Electric railway is well under way and is proving to be quite popular, according to F. R. Forbes, manager of the company who was here Friday from Portland, conferring with F. S. Appelman, local agent of the Oregon Electric, and visiting different merchants served by the company. The Oregon Electric railway delivers the freight to the transport company at the depot here and the trucks of the latter take it to the doors of the merchants. A similar service has been inaugurated at all important points on the Oregon Electric line. The service began in Eugene two weeks ago.

Different Garnish
Halves of apricots, placed face downward, alternating with maraschino cherries make a good garnish for chicken or pork.

Oregon Press Meet Will Be Planned

Plans for the annual Oregon Press conference to be held January 22, 23 and 24 at the University of Oregon will be made Saturday afternoon at a meeting of the program committee. Dean Eric W. Allen, of the school of Journalism, is chairman of the committee and hopes to get the plans under way Saturday.

The conference is held each year at the university, with editors and press representatives from all over the state attending.
