Among Our Neighbors

A Daily Feature to Make Lane County People Better Acquainted

By MARIAN LOWRY

J. C. Ackerson was among that group of producers on hand for the opening day of Eugene's first public market back in 1915, was there for the last day in the old market, and was among those moving into the city's new half-million dollar Producers' Public market. He is at the market every day.

Mr. Ackerson came west to the Eugene vicinity in 1907 because of the educational advantages for his three children. The family came from North Dakota.

He was born in Carver county, Minnesota, September 24, 1861. He has three brothers living. He farmed in Minnesota for a time, then moved into Dakota to homestead in Velva township near Minot.

When Mr. and Mrs. Ackerson came here they bought a farm about a mile north of Coburg.

They moved into Eugene when their daughters were ready for high school. The family home is at 2176 Lincoln street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ackerson have one son, Luton Ackerson, graduate of the University of Oregon who is now connected with the child welfare institute at Chicago, and two daughters, twins, Misses Joanne and Justine Ackerson, who also graduated from the university here with high scholastic honors. Miss Justine Ackerson is teaching at Hartline, Wash., this year and Miss Joanne Ackerson is at home for the present.

Mr. Ackerson plays the fiddle and has been in a number of the old-time fiddling contests held here. "We old folks like the old tunes, you know. The songs they put out today are gone in a few weeks and new ones come to take their place, but the old time music stays," he said.

J. C. Ackerson
