EXPERTS TO TEACH EVENING CLASSES

Experts in the widely different lines of anthropology and international trade will be here to offer courses in the evening classes of the extension division at the University of Oregon, which are open to townspeople and those nearby who are not regularly enrolled in the university. Four of the courses given last term will also carry on, but are arranged in such a manner that new students may enter at this time and take up the work without difficulty, stated Miss Mabelle Hair, in charge of arrangements.

Dr. Alexander Goldenweiser, one of the foremost anthropologists of the country, who has an international reputation, will be on the campus each Monday evening to give a course in the origin and development of civilization. He will take up both primitive and modern peoples, showing their similarities and contrasts in technique, thought, faith, morals and social life. As a well-known educator, editor and public lecturer, Dr. Goldenweiser will bring to his class a wealth of experience and material, believes Miss Hair, which will be a real opportunity for Eugeneans. At present he is teaching in the Portland center of the university.

International trade policies of the Pacific area will be the subject of the classes to be taught each Tuesday evening by Dr. John B. Max, who is returning the first of January from a trip around the world. While on his travels he has been studying conditions in India, Java, China and Japan, and plans to use this material in his course. Those interested in practical public speaking may take this course on Monday evening from Dr. Ralph C. Hoehner, debate coach. Special emphasis will be placed on the style of the spoken word and technique of delivery. Nowland Zane will continue his course in civilization and art epochs, Wednesday evening and Dr. Ernest G. Moll will continue his Shakespeare class on Thursday evening, taking up the plays, Julius Caesar, Hamlet, Othello, and Macbeth.

LANE MEN ATTEND W. O. W. HEAD CAMP

Virgil Rowland of Eugene will attend a meeting of the head camp of the Woodmen of the World at Denver January 12, called on account of the recent decision of the United States supreme court, declaring the new rate of insurance in the order invalid.

Mr. Rowland will be accompanied by other representatives of this district which consists of all of western Oregon south of the Lane-Linn county line. The others are H. C. Wheeler of Pleasant Hill, George H. Stover of Grants Pass and P. M. Kershaw of Medford.

Government Appeals From Dry Decision

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(AP)—The government late today filed in the supreme court its appeal from the decision of Judge Clark in New Jersey holding the 18th amendment invalid. Attorney General Mitchell hopes to obtain from opposing counsel a waiver of the rules of the supreme court so the appeal may be presented to the court when it reconvenes on Jan. 3. It is expected on that day the government of justice will ask the court to advance the case for an early hearing. It is thought the court may set the case down for hearing during the week beginning Jan. 10. Should it not be set for hearing during that week it cannot be taken up by the court before Feb. 24.

Norblad Committee Is Sued For $3460

PORTLAND, Dec. 20.—(AP)—A suit to recover $3,460 from the Norblad-for-Governor committee was filed in circuit court here today by Ray Kennell, secretary of the local chapter of the Ben Franklin club. The complaint lists seventeen alleged causes of action, charging the committee is liable for advertising, printing and engraving furnished by 17 firms at the request of the committee. Defendants in the case as Gus Moser, Kenneth Hauser, W. W. Banks, T. A. Sweeney, T. B. Handley, and Samuel Powell, listed as members of the committee which is said to have organized to promote the candidacy of Norblad for governor prior to the May 16 primary.

Holiday Greens Many in County

George Warner, well known pioneer resident of the Fall Creek section, was in Eugene Saturday. Mr. Warner brought in 18 varieties of shrubs and greens to be found in the Oregon woods for the Christmas season. He picked them in the woods near his place. They included Oregon grape, wild holly, Douglas fir, hemlock, two kinds of cedar, pine, yew, and many others, of the smaller trees, manzanita, chinkee pin, madrone, and others.

BUY HOME HERE

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Morgan have bought a modern five-room residence at 330 Adams street. Mr. Morgan has a position in the fine arts building at the university. Their son is one of the football players on the campus. The deal for the home was handled by Parsons company.
