The coming week promises a good deal in the way of entertainment for Eugene theatergoers. Several exceptionally fine pictures have been scheduled, and the entire program is made up of highly diverting productions. The Heilig will feature "Bright Lights," with Dorothy Mackaill, Frank Fay and Noah Beery, which

WILL ROGERS STARS IN STATE FEATURE

When Fox Films selected George M. Cohan's stage success, "So This is London," for their second starring vehicle for Will Rogers, the best known personality in America, they selected a story which not only was cut and tailored to fit the Oklahoma cowpuncher, but a story that Rogers has long wanted to do for the screen but waited the audible screen for its proper presentation. It opens Sunday at the State theater.

BENNETT STARS IN MCDONALD PICTURE

Constance Bennett, the never-forgotten heroine of "Common Clay," appears at the Fox McDonald today in another strong role that will leave audiences with a decidedly favorable impression. Her vehicle this time is "Sin Takes a Holiday," an original story for the screen by Robert Milton and Dorothy Cairns.

"Santa Fe Trail" To Play Colonial

Richard Arlen has found no grove; nor is he looking for one. He has no longing to be placed in one type of part and left there for numerous pictures one after another, as has been the lot of a number of screen leading men.

WILL ROGERS STARS IN STATE FEATURE

The story deals with a Wall Street messenger boy whose passion for crag shooting and cards involve him in considerable trouble. In the most dramatic moments in the picture, he jests and laughs and carries his audience with him to the finish which, happily, finds him in the arms of his charming bride. While in no sense a preachment, "Big Money" teaches a valuable lesson on the folly of gambling. Quillan is excellent in his portrayal and Miss Segar, his vis-a-vis, is delightful.

A FEW SCENES FROM WEEK'S THEATRE OFFERINGS!

Upper left, Dorothy Mackaill and Frank Fay in "Bright Lights," which opens Sunday for three days at the Heilig theatre. Upper right, Jeannette MacDonald and Reginald Denny in "Oh, For a Man," which will play Sunday to Tuesday at the Rex theatre. Lower left, Wallace Beery, Marjorie White and Marie Dressler in "Min and Bill," which will play Wednesday to Saturday at the Fox McDonald. Lower center, Richard Arlen in "Santa Fe Trail," which the Colonial will show Tuesday to Thursday. Lower right, Will Rogers in a scene from "So This is London," which the State will feature Sunday and Monday only.

"BRIGHT LIGHTS" TO OPEN AT HEILIG

Music and Technicolor are wedded to exotic and tremendous melodrama in "Bright Lights." Murder, passionate love in the African Kolonoor, and the power of the press are seen and heard in this First National picture, which opens at the Heilig Theatre Sunday.

Dorothy Mackaill, known in the past mostly for her comedienne roles, sings and dances for the first time. The blonde Dorothy surprises with a clear and forceful voice. She sings three numbers in such a way that one forgets she was ever a silent screen actress and imagines her fresh from a Ziegfeld musical head. Her dancing also is a revelation, especially her fiery hula hula.

As Lorraine, the hula girl, she ranges from highly dramatic scenes to her likeable comedienne scenes.

Frank Fay, leading man in "Under a Texas Moon" and "The Show of Shows," appears as Miss Mackaill's ally, as Vally Dean, her protector, master of ceremonies, and lover-in-secret. Fay is a welcome recruit from the stage.

Heilig To Show "Rogue Of Rio"

A vivid romance of bold adventure in the bad lands is told in "Rogue of the Rio Grande," the exciting tale featuring Myrna Loy, Raymond Hatton and Jose Bohr which opens Friday at the Heilig. It is a warm-

"Little Accident" To Play At Rex

Heralded as the laugh hit of the season "Little Accident" comes to the screen at the Rex Theatre Christmas day for a two-day showing.

"Little Accident" deals with the plight of a young man who on the eve of his wedding, receives word that he has become a father. Complications naturally follow thick and fast, and the hero finds himself with a baby on his hands and three prospective wives to be dealt with.

"Oh For a Man" TO PLAY AT REX

"Oh For a Man" starring Reginald Denny of "Madam Satan," Jeannette MacDonald of "The Love Parade," and Warren Hymer of "Up the River," is having its premier showing in Eugene Sunday and Monday at the Rex Theatre. If these four comedy stars do not mean good entertainment we don't know what a good comedy is.

"Oh For a Man" is the unique story of a prima donna who is courted by all men and cares for none until a burglar breaks into her apartment to rob her of her jewels, and remains to win her heart and hand; and it reveals not only the gorgeous voice of Miss MacDonald in two numbers, but also Denny with a surprise singing voice, and Marjorie White in a tuneful song and dance number.

"Oh For a Man" with its unusual theme, is about the smartest, most sophisticated and genuinely sparkling comedy that has come this way in many a day.

Claudette Colbert To Star At Heilig

Typically American, thoroughly modern, is "Young Man of Manhattan," the Paramount filmization of Katherine Brush's big-selling novel, which comes to the Heilig Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

Here is a zing-bang romance-drama of newspaper life that runs along at a high tempo, with never a moment's
