Springfield P.-T. A. To Honor Teachers

SPRINGFIELD, May 9—(Special)—The May meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association, which is scheduled for next Friday, May 15, has been postponed indefinitely, Mrs. O. C. Ogilvie, president, announced Saturday.

The P.-T. A. is planning to give a tea for all teachers in city schools, but the date has not been decided upon. Since eighth-grade examinations are being given in Lincoln junior high this next week it would be impossible for teachers in the upper grades to attend the tea if it were given at the time of the regular meeting. Mrs. Ogilvie said that the tea would probably be Thursday of the following week if there were no conflicting activities at that time.

It has been customary for the P.-T. A. to give a reception for the teachers who did not plan to return the following year. This year there are only four or five who will not be back, which is less than the usual number, so it was decided to have a tea instead.

John Stark Evans Will Form Mammoth Chorus

John Stark Evans, associate dean of the University of Oregon school of music, will organize and train the mammoth choir of Eugene voices for the Freiburg Passion Play next month. This was announced following a conference this week between Evans and James C. Koepke, general chairman of the American Legion committee sponsoring the event. Evans will probably be assisted by Loren Davidson, choir director of the First Christian church.

At least 150 singers will make up the choir, which will be assisted by soloists of the Passion Play company. In addition to the huge choir, another hundred or so Eugene and Lane county people will be used in the big mob scenes of the religious spectacle, which it is hoped will be one of the greatest pageants ever brought to this city. The Passion Play will be presented four nights, June 26, 27, 28 and 29 in Hayward Field on an especially constructed platform.

The work of organizing and drilling the mammoth choir will be started soon, according to Evans, and every singer in the city is being invited to join the group.

"The American Legion believes that with Evans directing the choir, it will give Eugene singers a rare opportunity to study under him during the next few weeks—an opportunity which they cannot afford to miss," said Capt. Koepke Saturday. "Mr. Evans is recognized as one of the country's most outstanding symphonic choir directors and the Legion is gratified to know that he will assist us in the work of making the Passion Play showing here an artistic and beautiful affair. If Mr. Davidson assists him, as we believe he will, Mr. Evans will be assured of splendid help in organizing and assembling the big body of singers.'

The Passion Play, which the Legion is sponsoring here, is to be presented by the Freiburg players of Freiburg, Baden, Germany. The play, which tells the story of the crucifixion of Christ, is backed by a tradition which dates back to its first showing in 1264. It is 300 years older than the Passion Play of Oberammergau, and will be given by a company of more than 40 artists with the Christ played by Adolf Fassnacht, world renowned Christus portrayer.

Fassnacht is steeped in the traditions of the Passion Play, for his fathers for five generations before him played the same part in the great Freiburg production.

SUMMER SCHOOL CRUISE VESSELS PASS INSPECTION

Enthusiastic over the prospects of one of the most enjoyable school cruises ever sponsored by an educational institution, Alfred Powers, director of summer sessions of the University of Oregon, and Dr. James H. Gilbert, dean of college of liberal arts on the Eugene campus and director of the cruise, have just returned to Portland from Vancouver, B. C., where they thoroughly inspected the Empress of Japan, the Canadian Pacific vessel which will take the Oregon students to Hawaii.

The huge ship, the largest passenger carrier in the Pacific, is ideally adapted in every way for summer school purposes. Dean Gilbert declares. He and Dean Powers carefully went over the accommodations for the students and declared them not only satisfactory in every way, but such as should highly please the most discriminating traveler.

Ample classroom and library space has been provided. The dining hall will be utilized by larger classes, and two deck classrooms are being specially fitted for this purpose. The library will be a converted store room, fully equipped so that books may be taken out and returned without interrupting classes.

The steamship officials are taking particular care to see that every facility is provided for enjoyment of those on the cruise. A special swimming pool will be placed on one of the decks, ideal space for dancing and parties has been set aside, and officers will see that nothing is lacking for recreation.

Staterooms on the vessel are unusually attractive. Each room is spacious, has large portholes, easily regulated ventilation devises, electric fan, running water, reading lights over berths and everything to make the place comfortable and luxurious.

A sample menu card given out by the chef assures the students of a wide variety of tasty food which will be one of the features of the jaunt. Everything from "Hors d'oeuvres, varies" to mixed nuts and Canton ginger is included on the "sample," which officials declare is selected at random from one of the days to be enjoyed.

To date California, Illinois, Louisiana, Minnesota, Utah, Washington, Oregon and other states are represented in the enrollment. Two students, Miss Alma Hukee and Miss Hannah E. Mellum of Anchorage, Alaska, are also enrolled. Approximately 50 have already definitely signed up, and it is expected that the total will reach 75 by the date of sailing.

Sailing with the students from Vancouver will be Dr. T. M. Livesay, director of the summer session of the University of Hawaii, who is returning after study at the University of Washington. He will give several lectures on Hawaii during the voyage over, and will make "kamaainas" (old-timers) out of the "malahinis" (newcomers) long before they dock in Honolulu.

Students on the trip will take courses from their own professors from the University of Oregon, and will also enroll in classes at the University of Hawaii. Last year this combination was successful in every way, and the educational project now has the praise and approval of educators all over the country. The university, the first to establish these traveling sessions, is also sending a cruise to Alaska in August.
