CAPONE GANG RULE IN CITY HELD BROKEN

Leader and 68 Followers Charged with 5000 Offenses

INDICTMENTS QUOTED

Federal Authorities Say Al Earned Over Twenty Million Yearly

By SAM KNOTT (United Press Staff Correspondent) CHICAGO, June 13.—(AP)—Government attorneys and investigators declared today that by indicting Scarface Al Capone and 68 followers on liquor charges they had loaded the proverbial "last straw" upon the head of broken of the Capone gang and had forever broken its reign of lawlessness.

His confidence that Capone's gang was "wrecked" was evidenced by U. S. Attorney George E. Q. Johnson when he ruled that the underworld leader need not post a new bond on the liquor indictment.

Capone last week posted $50,000 bail on charges of evading income tax. Johnson held this was sufficient to cover the new charge also. The Capone gang already is "practically insolvent," declared Johnson, because of raids and high bonds, and he believes one bond sufficiently protects the government.

An idea of the power which Capone once held was given in the indictments charging that his beer industry earned up to $20,000,000 annually for 10 years, dating back to the time when Scarface Al was a "minor hoodlum" who took orders from leaders whom he later "muscled" out of the way in his spectacular and dizzy rise to fame and power.

5000 Offenses Listed

The new charges specify 5000 separate offenses by the gang. The indictment traces briefly the rise of Capone from the days when previous "rulers" sent him out on such ignominious errands as buying tickets to the circus, to the day when he sat in high backed, upholstered "throne," or lolled on his Florida estate with evidence of his millions about him.

With the revelations of the inner workings of the Capone gang came the first of information that caused the investigators to smile.

Capone, they learned, was not known to the members of his "inner circle" as the "big shot." His most trusted lieutenants did not call him "Mr. Capone" or "The Boss." They called him "Snorky."

Called Him "Snorky"

That was the name other gangsters used when they called Capone at his Lexington hotel, the government men said. The operatives learned of it by tapping telephone wires. In the same way, they learned the location of many Capone stills which they later raided. They learned too of specific amounts of money which Capone handled. These amounts, it was disclosed, were the basis for charges filed last week that Scarface Al owed the government more than $200,000 income tax, never having paid any.

Prosecution of Capone on the liquor charges will be handled by Fred A. Bantz, assistant U. S. Attorney in Charge at La Rue. He recently tried 43 persons on similar charges at Rockford and convicted 36 of them.

Asked if he thought they had a good case, Johnson and La Rue replied in unison:

"We never file indictments until we have good cases."

Noted Game Lake Will Be Operated For Private Gain

New Lease Transfers Control of Region To Private Hands; Protests Are Anticipated from Sportsmen

BEND, June 12.—(AP)—Summer Lake which, measured within the meander line, covers approximately one hundred square miles, making it one of Oregon's largest inland bodies of water, is to become a private game preserve, privately exploited for private gain.

Long regarded as chiefly valuable for commercial purposes by reason of the large quantity of mineral salts which its waters hold in solution, and held under lease from the state for the recovery of salts, Summer lake has been sub-leased. The new lease will administer the state lake on a strictly business basis, it is indicated.

Plans for the change in the lake's status were made known here today with preparation of the sub-lease in which assignment is made to Robert N. McKee, resident near the lake, by the Pacific States Chemical Co., licensee to the state. The lake, considered by sportsmen as one of the best areas for wild ducks and geese in the state, will be closed against general hunting this fall.

Thereafter, under the terms of the sub-lease, McKee will have "sole and exclusive right and privilege to sub-let all the hunting and trapping privileges, including the taking and killing of game, birds and fur-bearing animals on said lands and water."

The sub-lease to McKee is signed by Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Underwood, of Eugene, representing the chemical company.

The original lease, entered into between the state and the chemical company in 1929, has a life of 25 years, with option of renewal for a like period. The original meander line is the boundary for the area involved, thus taking in a large amount of marsh land as well as the actual lake surface, which is roughly sixteen miles long by eight miles wide.

At first included in public domain, Summer lake was later turned over to the state, and it was the state which granted to Jason C. Moore a lease permitting the extraction of nitrates and other chemicals from the water. Moore actually started a construction of a pumping and evaporation plant shortly after the World war, but falling prices of nitrates, it is supposed, caused the venture to be abandoned.

Later the lease was given to the Pacific Coast Chemical Co. by the state, this lease including that former lease to Moore. However, according to Jay H. Underwood, who has drawn the agreement between the Underwoods and McKee, this second lease was so phrased that no definite terms were specified. An annual fee of $1200 has been paid to the state by the Underwoods, it is said, with the understanding that a royalty should be paid to the state whenever extraction of chemicals started. This never happened.

McKee's sub-lease has incorporated in it all previous leases from the state.

Under the new lease, not only will hunting be prohibited, but grazing will be prohibited, but grazing of stock within the meander line will also be forbidden. It was indicated by Underwood that proceedings are being instituted by the Underwoods against the rights in Portland against a squatter's right claimant.

The new status under which the lake is held will inevitably bring a roughly $100,000 sportsmen and, it is anticipated, may prompt action from the state game commission as well. McKee, as the prime mover in effecting the change, is prepared to alter his position with the claim for the lake will be better advised, it is stated under private management, so far as hunting is concerned. He is confident that no legal flaws will be found in the agreement which is the basis of his enterprise.

OREGON TEXTBOOK COMMISSION NAMED

Dr. Nelson Bossing Eugene, Included in List Announced

SALEM, Ore., June 12.—(AP)—The personnel of the new state textbook commission was announced today by the state board of education as follows:

E. H. Hedrick, Medford, superintendent of schools; Dr. Nelson L. Bossing, Eugene, Oregon, Eugene; Mrs. Mary L. Fulkerson, county school superintendent, Salem; Austin Landreth, city school superintendent, Pendleton; and R. R. Turner, city school superintendent, Dallas. Landreth and Turner were members of the old commission.

Adoption of a new policy by the board of education under which the textbook commission will serve in an advisory relationship with the state superintendent of public instruction as a commission on curriculum construction, was announced today also.

While there will be no new adoptions until November, 1932, the committee will in the meantime work with the committees named to prepare courses of study in the subjects for which adoptions are to be made at that time.

"By this plan it is proposed to tie up the work of preparing courses of study with the adoption of textbooks," C. A. Howard, state superintendent of public instruction explained.

"The chairman of the committees will meet from time to time with the textbook commission and representatives of the state department of education and possible revision, objectives and criteria on the basis of which textbooks should be selected in their respective subjects. Such criteria will be subjected to discussion, criticism and possible revision. The commission will select for adoption those textbooks that most completely fit into the plans evolved through conferences of this kind."

STATE FAIR BOARD OUT OF EXISTENCE

SALEM, June 12.—(AP)—Although it does not officially go out of existence under the new state agricultural department act until July 1, the Oregon state fair board actually went out of existence yesterday when it completed all its work, turned state fair matters over to Max Gehlbach, state director of agriculture, and disbanded. The fair board was one of the new departments absorbed by the new department.

Before adjourning the board completed its premium list for the 1931 fair and finished other details for the state's annual exposition.

Ella Schaefer Wilson, secretary of the board for a number of years, will continue in office, it was said. Just who will have charge of the various activities of fair week, such as horticultural exhibits, etc., which heretofore have been apportioned among members of the board, had not been announced. This will be taken care of by Gehlbach.

Twenty Grand Wins Stakes at Belmont

BELMONT PARK, N. Y., June 12.—(AP)—Twenty grand wins of the Kentucky derby, today clinched the three-year-old American turf championship, winning the Belmont stakes by ten lengths.

Katherine E. Hill's Sun Meadow was second, a nose in front of James-town.

Taking the lead coming into the stretch Twenty Grand outran his rival stretch with Sun Meadow and Jamestown battling for second.

Twenty Grand's time of 2:29 3/5 for the mile and a half was a new record for the stake beating Gallant Fox's mark by two seconds.

The prize was a $75,000 purse.

Accident Is Laid To Drunken Driver

Larry Weldon was arrested Friday night by state traffic officers on a charge of driving a car on the public highway while intoxicated.

Weldon was the driver of a car which figured in a three-car smashup about 6:30 o'clock Friday evening near the overhead crossing on the Pacific highway about five miles south of Eugene. Weldon is held in the county jail.

John Stringer and Mrs. Fowler Trial Dates Are Named

BAKER, Ore., June 12.—(AP)—The case against John Stringer, charged with driving his automobile over ex-Senator Robert N. Stanfield, has been set for June 20 in circuit court here.

Senator Stanfield was critically injured when Stringer's car, Stringer denied the act, was intentionally followed an altercation over fence cutting.

The Emma Fowler case has been set for June 23. A former city treasurer in La Rue was accused of a large shortage in her accounts.

Ruth Nichols Spends Sunday With Folks; Postpones Flight

NEW YORK, June 12.—(AP)—A modern girl's adherence to the old-fashioned custom of spending Sunday "with the folks" has caused a one-day postponement of a flight to France.

Ruth Nichols completed the last formalities of her projected flight across the ocean today but dispelled the belief she might start tomorrow.

She always tried, she said, to spend her Sundays with her parents and twin brother and sister at the Nichols home in Erie, and she saw no reason to alter this custom merely to expedite the first stage of her adventurous journey.

So the takeoff was put off until Monday, when she will fly off to the Southern Pacific depot at Portland, Maine. The next day she plans to proceed to Harbor Grace, N. F., refueling on the way at St. John, N. B., and Sydney, N. S. At Harbor Grace she will await favorable weather for the hop across the ocean to Paris.

Miss Nichols' plane has now been cleared for Europe by the customs (leaves any other ship). It has been approved by the department of commerce, and permission to fly over foreign countries has been secured for it by the state department. The engine has been given its final check and all that remained for technicians to do today was to make a slight adjustment of one of the three compasses.

These compasses are being carried because flight conditions sometimes cause variation from true direction.

False Alarm May Be Part of Plot To Steal Machine

Whether a false fire alarm at the Southern Pacific depot was a pre-arranged part of a car-stealing plot was the subject of speculation by police Saturday.

While the fire equipment was at the depot, John Darrow, who was sitting in his car there waiting for a train, left the machine to see what it was all about. When he returned, the car had disappeared.

Word of the theft was flashed to county and state traffic officers, and later in the afternoon State Traffic Officer W. H. Howard and Deputy Sheriff Leo Brown arrested Ray Olson, 16, said to be from Canada, with the machine at Cottage Grove.

Olson would not say whether he turned the tales alarm to get the car out of his car. He says he turned over to Justice Dan Johnston.

DEDICATION OF NEW BRIDGE IS FETE FEATURE

Beautiful St. Johns Span Is Opened to Traffic At Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., June 12.—(AP)—With the dedication of the new $1,000,000 bridge across the Willamette river at St. Johns the chief feature of the 1931 rose festival swung into its final day today.

The bridge dedication was set for 2 p. m., as also was the regatta which was to be held in the upper harbor. Light mists fell during the morning following a change of weather which had been ideal during the first two days of the festival.

In the grand floral parade Friday afternoon the sweepstakes prize was won by the float entered by Montgomery Ward & Co.

In the section representing cities outside of Oregon, Pasadena won first prize, Vancouver, B. C., second, and Chehalis third.

Eugene Gets Mention

In the section represented by cities in Oregon, Tillamook won first prize, Lebanon second, Beaverton third, and Eugene honorable mention.

The dedication of the St. Johns bridge was preceded by a parade over the six-mile route from the east side business district. The bridge was opened for general traffic after a ribbon was cut by Queen Rachel of the Rose festival.

The water sports program opened with a cruiser race from the bridge to the foot of Davis street in the upper harbor and was climaxed by an eight-nared crew race between the Portland Rowing club and the Oregon State college varsity crew.

WATER SPORTS HELD

New Willamette Crossing Erected at Cost of $4,500,000

PORTLAND, Ore., June 12.—(AP)—With the dedication of the new $1,000,000 bridge across the Willamette river at St. Johns the chief feature of the 1931 rose festival swung into its final day today.

BRIDGE OPENED

PORTLAND, Ore., June 12.—(AP)—The St. Johns bridge across the Willamette river, dedicated and opened to traffic today, is the eighth roadway across the Willamette.

It is the third "fixed" bridge, with a draw span or bascule lifts and is built high enough for the tallest vessels to pass underneath.

The first suspension bridge to be built across the Willamette, the St. Johns bridge cost $4,500,000 and has been under construction since September, 1929.

It embodies the results of the scientific study of such bridges as the famous Brooklyn bridge, the bridge which connects Philadelphia and Camden, the Bear mountain bridge across the Hudson and the new Hudson river bridge at New York.

Its design is beautiful.

Its highest clearance over the water is 105 feet, which is high enough to allow the tallest vessel to pass beneath. Portland's other two "fixed" bridges, the Ross Island and Sellwood spans, are in the upper harbor above the last turning basin for ocean going to pass underneath.

The St. Johns span is 2823.3 feet long overall, with its main span 1207 feet long. The roadway is 40 feet wide and the two main cables are 16 3/4 inches in diameter.

With its high graceful towers, topped by copper spires, and its long sweeping cable lines, the new structure is one of the most beautiful bridges in the world.

Unsettled Weather Slated For Oregon

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—(AP)—The weather outlook for Oregon here today by the United States weather bureau was as follows:

Far western states: Unsettled weather and showers at the beginning of the week with temperatures below normal. Fair with temperatures near or above normal thereafter.

John Berg Guilty On Swindle Charge

John Berg, swindler de luxe, was found guilty of an attempt to commit larceny when a circuit court jury returned a verdict after an hour's deliberation Saturday afternoon. Sentence will be imposed Tuesday morning.

Berg was tried separately from his alleged accomplice, F. J. McVeeney, whose case will come up next.

Recognized as the highest and one of the finest long-span bridges in the world, the St. Johns bridge across the Willamette between Portland and St. Johns, Oregon, was dedicated as a part of the Rose Festival proceedings Saturday.

O. N. G. CAMP IS GIVEN INSPECTION

Eugene Guardsman Stricken With Appendicitis On Friday

ASTORIA, Ore., June 12.—(AP)—Major General George A. White, commander of the 41st National Guard division, made a formal inspection of the Oregon National Guard this morning at Camp Clatsop. Members of the 162nd and 184th infantry regiments stood in inspection with pitched shelter tents and full field equipment as a drizzling rain beat down on them.

The second case of appendicitis since Camp started was reported Friday when Private Glenn Joseph of Company C, 184th infantry, of Eugene, was stricken. He was operated on in Astoria by army surgeons and his condition today was reported good.

The inspection completed the day's work at Camp Clatsop, with weekend leave going into effect at noon. Coast artillerymen and field artillerymen continued with routine work this morning at Fort Stevens, featuring gun drill and preparation for next week's firing practice. Weekend leave also was permitted there this afternoon.

Tomorrow's schedules for all the guard units include polling of quarters as the only work. Sports will be provided for guardsmen who may elect to stay in camp during the week-end, but most of the soldiers planned a week-end at the seashore.

On Monday Governor Julius Meier, accompanied by Secretary of State His Honor George W. Joseph, Rufus Holman and members of their families will arrive at Gearhart to visit the encampment and to prepare for dedication of a memorial to the late George W. Joseph on the first anniversary of his death. The memorial will be dedicated Tuesday at the spot where the late cadaver of Hubbard was mailed to detoxifiers today by A. A. Schramm, state superintendent of banks.

Checkers representing the first dividends in the liquidation of the Aurora State bank and the State Bank of Hubbard were mailed to detoxifiers today by A. A. Schramm, state superintendent of banks.

In the close of the Aurora bank which was closed Feb. 5, total disbursements total $70,722 to 1041 depositors and represents a dividend of 25 per cent on commercial claims and 50 per cent on saving deposits.

The State Bank of Hubbard, the default Hubbard bank totals $32,651.17 and represents 25 per cent of both the commercial and savings claims.

Errol Sloan Is Winner Of Oratory Prize

Declaring that the Monroe doctrine, with all its faults, had been directly responsible for preserving for western nations their peculiar and successful civilization, that it had preserved peace between the United States and other countries on this part of the globe, and that it had saved the smaller nations from political and other exploitation on the part of other governments, Errol B. Sloan, senior at Eugene, won the first prize in the Felling-Bleckman oratorical contest held here last night as part of commencement week.

Sloan won a cash award of $150 for his oration entitled "In Defense of the Monroe Doctrine," while Herbert J. Doran, also of Eugene, won second and the prize of $100 for his talk on "Eyes That See Not." Other entrants were: A. Walter Nordblad, Astoria; Fred W. Calf, Monmouth; and Joe Erck, Portland. Judges were Abe Eugene Roseberg and Randall S. Jones, Portland; Claborn M. Hill, Bend; Mrs. G. A. McNeill, Rochester, N. Y.; and Judge G. F. Skipp, Eugene.

Sloan was also presented with a plaque for three years of intercollegiate forensic participation, and Miss Dorothy Eberhardt, La Grande, was given the Albert cup annually awarded to the outstanding senior.

SILVERTON CHOSEN FOR GRANGE MEET

Establishment of State Bank Is Advocated By Grangers

MEDFORD, Ore., June 12.—(AP)—The Oregon state grange closed its 25th annual session at 1:30 p. m. here today with the selection of Silverton as the 1932 convention city, and the adoption of resolutions upon banking, irrigation development and taxes.

A resolution was adopted favoring lowered interest rates to farmers, and establishment of a state bank, operated and controlled by the state of Oregon. A general investigation of federal banking laws was urged.

Another resolution favored investigation of methods used by the state tax commission in fixing tax ratios.

General approval was given the resolution "deploring" the salaries of state officials. It carried the proposal that the salary of the governor be cut to $5,000 a year, and that the salary of supreme court justices, the attorney general, state treasurer and secretary of state be set at $4500. No clerk would be paid more than $2400.

It was proposed and approved by the grange convention that higher educational institutions be operated on income taxes "inasmuch as those who receive higher education benefits are those who get the highest incomes."

Senator McNary's proposal to build a new state capitol from Oregon-California grant funds was looked on with disfavor and the grange urged that the money be used to reduce agricultural taxes instead.

PRELIMINARY BANK STATEMENT ISSUED

SALEM, Ore., June 12.—(AP)—Preliminary statement of the Commercial State bank of Springfield showed liabilities of $107,821 and assets of $130,445.

The bank was closed a week ago by Superintendent of Banks A. A. Schramm, after Cashier C. F. Keaton told him that some of his accounts were irregular. Keaton committed suicide Sunday.

Approximately $57,200 of the assets will be liquidated readily, Schramm said.

Denies Charges

Olson stoutly denied the story of Donaldson, the young man and the girl, the four were there for over an hour, Olson is said to have had a gun, and the young man with the girl was struck over the head, besides being accused of being one of the men who had been with Olson, and Kaufman went to sleep in the car.

Man With Gun

According to agreeing statements of Donaldson, the young man and the girl, the four were there for over an hour, Olson is said to have had a gun, and the young man with the girl was struck over the head, besides being accused of being one of the men who had been with Olson, and Kaufman went to sleep in the car.

Car Wrecked

Olson, according to the story, started driving his car down the hill and it was wrecked near the division of the Victoria heights road on the east side of the hill.

The young man who had been with the girl drove his car down the hill and appealed at a residence on Fairmont boulevard for help in hunting for the girl.

The police car which responded was hailed down by Olson as it started up Victoria heights. He claimed a man with a gun had stepped out in front of the car, and he had wrecked his car in attempting to get away. The youth who had been with the girl came up at that time with the girl, and Olson, who had been driving down the hill, then drove away, and was nearly held up in coming down the hill.

WARM DAY GIVES WAY TO SHOWERS

Rain, paying its customary visit at commencement and cherry time, began falling Friday evening. The rain gauge showed .06 of an inch Saturday morning here. Sultry atmosphere and cloudy skies continued the order for the day. Other garden and fruit events will be greatly benefited.

The maximum for Friday was 82.

Cherry growers were apprehensive over their crop. Harvesting of the main crop of cherries had commenced this section is due next week. Little damage was reported Saturday from the rain. The sunbath on the west fruit causes them to rot and split more quickly, growers say. Unless it continued to rain here, J. O. Holt, manager of the Eugene Fruit Growers' association, said damage to cherries was slight, so far.

Hog men are hard hit right now by the rain as considerable hay is down throughout the county. The rain is doing damage to Lane county lettuce crop. Other garden and fruit events will be greatly benefited.

University of Oregon's fifth commencement seemed doomed to take place between showers.

Custody of Boy Is Denied Mother

PORTLAND, Ore., June 12.—(AP)—Gretl Ekelson Marsh, 14, son of Mrs. Agnes Hammer Marsh, Tacoma, Wash., was made a ward of the court of domestic relations here today and placed in custody of his uncle, Jesse L. Hammer, Portland.

The action, ordered by Circuit Judge Gilbert, grew out of a petition in dependency filed by Mrs. Marsh who sought to compel return of her son to her. She charged Mrs. and Mrs. Hammer and Miss Laura Hammer, teacher at Franklin high school where Gretl is a student, were withholding her son from her.

Ray Olson, said to be from Canada, was lodged in the Lane county jail Friday night on a charge of stealing an automobile.

Olson is said to have taken a car belonging to John Darrow from near the Southern Pacific station Friday afternoon. He was caught at Cottage Grove from where he was brought to Eugene by State Traffic Officer H. W. Howard and Deputy Sheriff Leo Bowe.

TWO ARRESTED FOR ALLEGED DRUNKEN ORGY

James P. Olson and W. H. Donaldson Are Held By Police

CHARGES UNCERTAIN

Two Men Taken Late Friday Night; Assault May Be Filed

BULLETIN

James P. Olson and William Donaldson were taken to justice court late Saturday for arraignment on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon. District Attorney Alta King took charge of the case.

Arrested in connection with what officers describe as one of the most atrocious drunken orgies in Eugene police annals, James P. Olson and William H. Donaldson were held in custody here Saturday pending filing by the district attorney's office of charges of assault with a dangerous weapon or more serious charges.

Olson and Donaldson are accused of having held captive a young man and woman at a lonely spot on Victoria heights and forcing them to go through wild antics late Friday night. Olson was taken into custody on Victoria heights, and Donaldson was arrested later.

A third man, Vic Kaufman, was arrested in connection with the affair and later released with the possibility that he will be held only as a witness in the case.
