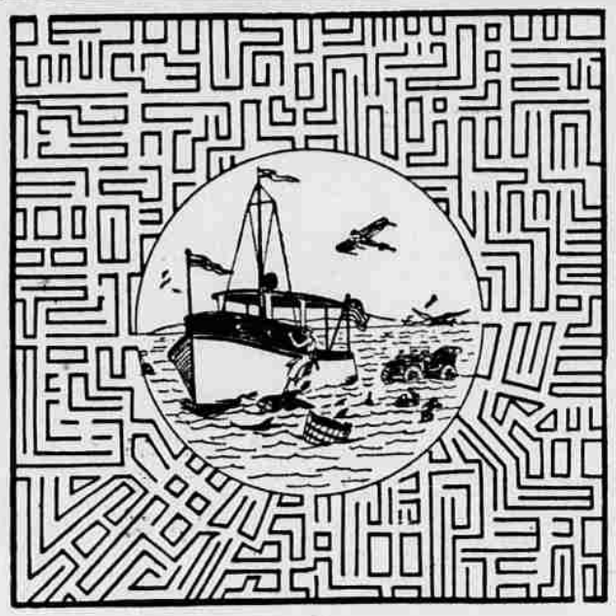
TRY 'N GET OUT OF THIS!



Above is a picture of a young lady afloat in the middle of the sea without any practical means in sight to get home. However there are several avenues of escape open to her if she can but find the right one.

Study this drawing carefully, then take your colored pencil or ink and carefully trace as many ways of escape from this maze as possible without crossing any lines of the original drawing.

The first 25 correct answers brought to the State theatre before Monday night at 7:30, will be awarded a ticket to see "Ladies of Leisure," one of the biggest pictures of the year and in which one of the main scenes depicts the efforts of a young girl to escape from a yacht where she has been kidnapped.

"Ladies of Leisure" has a cast including Barbara Stanwyck, Lowell Sherman, Ralph Graves, Marie Prevost and George Fawcett. It plays the State theatre next Thursday and Friday only, so get out your pencil and have a try at one of those free tickets. It's easy if you give it a little thought.

Answers will also be judged of neatness, and originality. Winners will be announced in Tuesday's Register-Guard.

Veneta Fair May Be Held in August

VENETA, June 20.—(Special)—Rumors are being circulated about the second annual Veneta community fair. The fair last year was held in December but that was deemed too late in the year to really put it over in the style that this little village is used to putting its affairs over. Last year the fair was a tremendous success in every way.

The present talk is to have it this year on or about the the 24th of August and then take the entire exhibit as a unit to the Lane county fair. It is felt that the quilt exhibit from this district would take the grand prize.

Plans at present will include a ball game, log cutting and horse shoe pitching contests and many races. A big fried chicken dinner and a mammoth vaudeville show in the evening with a speaker of note.
