LARGE ATTENDANCE IS ANTICIPATED AT LUMBERMEN'S MEET

Reports received by Secretary H. J. Cox of the Willamette Valley Lumbermen's association indicate that attendance of lumbermen at the general industry meeting here June 26 will be large, mill men coming from other districts as well as a nearly 100 per cent attendance from this area.

The meeting, sponsored by the West Coast Lumbermen's association, is the fourth of a series of general sessions, the others having been held at Gray's Harbor, Everett and Portland. The session is open to all lumber manufacturers, regardless of affiliation with an organization.

The sessions will be held at the Osburn hotel.

It is planned to have grading, inspection, trade promotion and railroad freight rates the leading topics for discussion. The Grading Rules committee, with the assistance of L. A. Nelson, head of the Department of Grades, will have charge of the grades subjects. The tentative program is as follows:

1. Revision of and consolidation of structural grades and timber and dimension grades.
2. Factors contributing to the cost of association inspection.
3. Necessity of better grading at the mills; trend of grading.
4. The opportunities for lumber freight rate reductions into the central states area; an explanation by J. D. Tennant, president, with charts as used at the meeting of the presidents of transcontinental railroads and representatives of the Western lumber industries, at Chicago, February 16 and 17.
5. Collective selling of railway car material; by W. B. Greely, secretary-manager.
6. Trade promotion of West Coast woods; by C. J. Hogue, in charge Trade Extension and Field Service Department.

A get-together buffet luncheon will be furnished by the association.

CHERRY CROP HERE SAID TO BE LARGE

Lane county has a far greater crop of cherries than anyone estimated before the rain, according to C. E. Stewart, county fruit inspector, who was in Eugene Saturday. In nearly all parts of the county reports indicate that the crop is large and while the rain ruined a certain percentage of it, many growers will have more than in a number of seasons in recent years, he said.

The damage caused by the rains varies, according to the inspector. Eighteen to 25 per cent of the Royal Anne were ruined and the Bings suffered more heavily. The Lamberts are not damaged as badly as the Bings as they were not as far advanced and not ripe enough to crack open as badly as the other varieties.

Most growers are sorting over their cherries as they are picked and are able to sell a good quality. The discouraging thing about the crop is the low price, Mr. Stewart pointed out.

LILA LEE AND BEN LYON AT HEILIG

"Misbehaving Ladies," latest First National production, auspiciously opens its engagement at the Heilig theater Sunday.

Lila Lee, Ben Lyon, Louise Fazenda and Lucien Littlefield are featured.

"Misbehaving Ladies" is from a story by Juliet Wilbor Tompkins—and a grand and glorious story it is. The scenes are laid in an American small town and in the medieval vastness of an Italian castle.

Fair Ellen, niece of Aunt Kate and Uncle Jo Boyd and sweetheart of Phil, a dreamy, impractical youth who is the butt of village jokes—goes abroad and after several years knocks the village cold by marrying a real Italian prince with a castle 'n' everything.

In due time Ellen's prince dies and she sends word that she is coming back to the old home town. Excitement runs high. Aunt Kate is in her glory. Preparations are made on a grand scale for the reception of the great lady.

When Ellen, simply dressed and subdued, does arrive—she is taken for a seamstress, and put to work sewing for the royal guest. Ellen meets her old flame, who keeps her secret and the natives are duly impressed when she dons her regal regalia and appears at Aunt Kate's reception, to be eulogized by the mayor and to meet all the big bugs of the little town.

How things finally get adjusted, how the ladies' aid convenes and gossiping tongues wag and how the impractical Phil at last succeeds with his invention and becomes Prince Charming to Ellen—make an evening's entertainment worth going more than a mile to enjoy.

CHILDREN APPEAR IN BIBLE PAGEANT

Several hundred children took part in the entertainment at the First Baptist church Friday night, marking the close of the two weeks 'vacation Bible school, conducted under the auspices of the Council of Religious Education of the city churches.

The program was participated in by children of all the divisions, from kingarten to high school, and was in the form of a pageant. The youngest children depicted the story of Baby Moses, the children of the primary department gave scripture readings in unison and hymns, the juniors dramatized the story of the prodigal son, the junior high department gave Bible stories and the senior high pupils staged the parable of the sower in modern life.

The parts were all well taken and notwithstanding the fact that only a few days' time was had to rehearse for the pageant the young folks in all departments performed with a great deal of credit to themselves and their instructors.

From 7 to 7:30 several hundred parents and friends of the children inspected the hand work of the pupils of the school. Many of the articles will be sent to the Doernbecher hospital for children in Portland and the children's farm home at Corvallis.

'FAST AND LOOSE' SUMMER COMEDY

A "special" in every way, and especially in genuine summer comedy, is "Fast and Loose" which is coming to the Colonial Friday and Saturday. It is based on one of the most entertaining stage plays ever produced on Broadway, and it has even more fun in it than the original vehicle.

A star cast, headed by Carole Lombard, and including such names as Starratt, Morgan and Hopkins, makes the cinema one of the best played of the season, critics declare. The supporting cast is equally capable.

"Fast and Loose," a Paramount picture, was produced with just one idea in mind, to entertain. This it does, from beginning to end, and its sophisticated, humorous story is one that will be remembered.
