

BUSINESS WOMEN'S LUNCHEON AND W. R. C. RECEPTION ON CALENDAR FOR THURSDAY

Other News Of Mid-Week Is Varied

By MARIAN LOWRY

TWO interesting events are on the calendar for Thursday, the luncheon for the Eugene Business and Professional Women's club and the reception to be given by the Women's Relief corps for all auxiliaries of Relief corps in the city and surrounding groups in the city and Springfield.

The Business and Professional Women's club is to meet at noon at the Osburn hotel. The new officers will take charge, headed by Dr. A. M. Smith, new president.

The W. R. C. reception will be from two until five o'clock at the armory, especially honoring department officers in the G. A. R. and the women's auxiliaries of patriotic orders. C. M. Eichler, new state commander of the G. A. R., will be a special honor guest for the reception. A program is planned, followed by refreshments.

CLUB PARTY Among club events for Thursday will be the luncheon of Nip and Tuck club at the home of Mrs. H. S. Bartow.

HOME FROM GRESHAM Mrs. V. L. Broome and children have returned from Portland, where Mrs. Broome was at Gresham where Mrs. Brooks was in charge for her mother who was in a fall. Miss June Forbes returned to Eugene with them for a visit with Miss Margaret Brooks.

FROM OLYMPIA Mrs. Donald J. Martin (Elma Inman) and son, Donald James Martin, Jr., were to arrive Wednesday from Seattle to visit Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Inman.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Hunt, who have been here from Portland, have left their home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Inman. Mrs. Hunt is a daughter of the Inmans. Junior Hunt remained for a further visit with his grandparents.

GOES TO PORTLAND Miss Margaret Neborg left Wednesday for Portland for a few days.

COME FROM SOUTH Dr. and Mrs. George H. Houck (Flora Campbell) and two children are to arrive Thursday from San Francisco for a visit with Mrs. Houck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dugald Campbell.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

DOES a baby have feelings? Is he born with the mental impressions that we call emotions? Or do they develop later as he begins to experience life?

This question never has been definitely settled, but Dr. J. B. Watson assures us that two fears are born in a baby, or show themselves very soon after birth. These are aversion to sudden loud noise and the dread of falling. By association of ideas the baby soon learns other more complex things based on two facts. Raze probably is an elemental emotion present at birth, and this is open to dispute—love also.

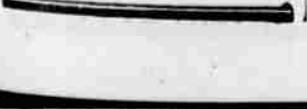

However, let us go to the chart and observe in a general way how the average baby's feelings do develop. From a very small beginning, his emotional growth spreads out like a fan, or a pedicure, or a problem in arithmetic progression, or compound interest. It would be impossible to present all the baby's rapidly accumulating impressions and his reaction to them, but a few will show the regularity with which they appear.

FEAR: 1 to 6 weeks—a convulsive reaction to loud sounds. 12 to 16 weeks—signs of fear on seeing strangers.

RAGE: 1 to 6 weeks—the child struggles and cries if compelled to lie down when he wishes to sit up. LOVE, or what we know as love: 1 to 6 weeks—the smiles and shows signs of contentment when touched on the lips.

At 7 weeks he smiles in response to the voice and nodding.

By the 8th week, and from then on, he shows signs of interest and pleasure in looking at new objects.

At 12 to 16 weeks—he laughs aloud when played with or gently rumpled.

At 21 weeks, he laughs aloud at explosive sounds if they go with a quick motion (provided his fear of this sound has not already been established).

When he is 7 or 8 months old, he clearly shows signs of joy at the sight of his carriage or cap and coat.

Please mark this: "At 8 months he probably will show signs of shame if his funny sounds are imitated or he is made fun of. He will stop and not go on. At this age he is likely to cry or fuss if strangers pick him up—fear again."

At this age, too, he expects his mother's undivided attention—a very important time to do a little gentle but definite training.

By the time he is 9 months old he cries when laughed at—a decided beginning of inferiority and unhappiness. Watch out for it.

THE PLAYROOM FLOOR The smartest new treatment imaginable for the floor in the playroom or nursery is to use linoleum or rubber tiling marked off with the children's favorite game. Checker, crokinole, and backgammon boards, hopscotch fields and any number of other games may be outlined in paint on the plain colored floor covering. Children always enjoy playing on the floor, and if the entire surface is occasionally waxed it can easily be kept free from germs and ingrained dust.

C. P. Group

Fourteen members and one guest attended the meeting of the North division of the Ladies' Aid society of the Central Presbyterian church Tuesday afternoon at the home of Misses Emma and Nettie Chase. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. C. A. McClain, Mrs. Robert Lamb and Mrs. W. O. Heckart. The ladies worked on a quilt for their work program and a social hour with refreshments followed. The next meeting will be held August 4 at the home of Mrs. M. M. Hollis with Mrs. Anne C. Taylor as assistant hostess.

NOVEL FLOWER CONTAINERS

An original way to bring an interesting suggestion of the out-of-doors into the sunroom is to use a small sized wheelbarrow to hold several pots of growing plants. Some of the better interior decorators are adopting this plan with charming results. Of course, the wheelbarrow should not have a shiny varnished finish, and the paint may be removed and the wood waxed to a soft smooth sheen.

EASY IRONING

If you roll up freshly laundered lingerie in turkish towels and iron, the minute they get dry enough, the process is simple.

SPEEDY WHITENING

When in a hurry and your white shoes look dingy, dust them over with talcum powder and give them a good stamping.

The average amount of pasture per farm in North Dakota was 136 acres in 1920, compared to 118 acres in 1921 and 129 in 1920.

Delegates Named By Legion Auxiliary

Delegates were named for the state convention to be held in Corvallis, August 6, 7, and 8, by the Eugene American Legion auxiliary at its meeting Tuesday evening.

The delegates are Mrs. C. M. Urey, president of the local unit, Mrs. Sam Wilderman, and Mrs. J. G. Simon, with the alternates Mrs. Glen Lewis, Mrs. W. H. Ellensberg, and Mrs. R. L. Robertson.

Reports from the various committees were given and accepted. The next regular meeting of the auxiliary comes on the first Tuesday evening of August at the armory.

TODAY'S RECIPES

FROM early spring on through the summer months berries of some variety can be found in the market. Even strawberries whose season used to be so short appear almost until frost now that the everbearing varieties are so generally cultivated. With the northern markets shipping south and the southern markets shipping north and the western markets shipping east, there's never a lack of small fruits.

These small fruits are a boon to the busy housewife who has little time to spend making fussy desserts. Fresh, uncooked berries served with or without sugar and cream always are popular and healthful, and require a minimum of time in preparation. It is well to keep in mind that small children should not be allowed to eat blackberries or raspberries until the fruit has been rubbed through a strainer to remove the seeds. The seeds are indigestible and may do a child much harm. However, a small amount of sifted pulp may be given to children as young as three years of age.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Rippe plums, cereal, cream, poached eggs, toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Fish hash, new beets in orange sauce, blackberry bread and butter pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner: Brown fricassee of chicken, mashed potatoes, stewed okra and tomatoes, pineapple and cheese salad, raspberry whip, milk, coffee.

Light and Nourishing There are numerous berry desserts that may appeal to you when you want a heavy dessert to finish out a light meal. Those which are not too rich are suitable, when served with cream, for children over six years of age.

Berry whips made of egg whites and sifted pulp are excellent for children and invalids. The dessert is light and nourishing and when served thoroughly chilled is refreshing.

Steamed puddings and baked puddings of cake-like texture are good served warm and are ideal when the rest of the meal is wanted cold.

Berry pies always are greeted with pleasure and are particularly popular with men.

Blueberries, which have few seeds and less acidity than most other varieties, lend themselves most pleasantly to puddings and pies.

Berries of all sorts are good added to a bread pudding. The pudding can be baked fruit and bread custard, or the fruit can be stewed with sugar and poured over thin slices of bread and butter. This is molded and chilled and served with sugar and cream. Such desserts are deliciously simple and suitable for children.

Blueberry molasses puffs are a typical New England dish, economical and good.

Blueberry Puffs

One cup blueberries, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1 cup molasses, 4 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons melted shortening, 2 1/4 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Lock over berries, wash and drain. Sprinkle with 1 1/2 tablespoons flour and mix lightly but thoroughly. Mix boiling water and molasses. Mix and sift flour, salt, soda and spices. Add to liquid ingredients and mix well. Add melted shortening and beat hard. Stir in prepared berries. Bake in individual pans for 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve warm with sugar and cream.

Ten Plan Camping Trip On River

Miss Kathryn Liston is entertaining a group of friends on a camping trip at the home of her mother, Mrs. Harvey Woods, on the Willamette.

In the party, to return Sunday, are Misses Peggy Duran, Peggy Reynolds, Sue Hurley, Maxine Edwards, Dorothy Parks, Ernestine Gilstrap, Virginia Wheeler, Lois Schaefer, Kathryn Liston, on Friday, Miss Inez Jenner will join the group to stay until Sunday.

Sewing Circle

Members of the Lone Pine Sewing circle are to have an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Rice on Crow stage route. A covered dish luncheon is to be served at noon.

M. E. Groups Hold Elections On Tuesday

Election of officers was held at the joint meeting of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the Methodist Episcopal church Tuesday afternoon at the church parlors. For the Home society, Mrs. W. W. Calkins was named president; Mrs. N. E. Winnard, secretary and Mrs. A. E. Edblom, treasurer. The officers of the Foreign society are Mrs. H. R. Gould, president; Mrs. J. H. Stofel, vice-president; Mrs. Adolph Walder, secretary; Mrs. Charles E. Hunt, treasurer and Mrs. William Johnson, corresponding secretary.

A covered dish luncheon followed the business session after which there was a program. Miss Alice Baker led the book review for the Home society on Porto Rico and Miss Dorothy Nyland had charge of devotionals. Mrs. H. R. Gould was in charge of the program for the Foreign society. Special music was given by Miss Mollie Small, accompanied by her mother and Miss Jeanette Smith played a violin solo. The next meeting of the two groups will be held August 4.

Iowa has about 7500 licensed egg dealers, or one dealer for every 28 farms in the state, and about 3300 licensed poultry dealers, or one to every 63 farms.

Lodge Events

MEMBERS of the Royal Purple club of the Royal Neighbors of America and their families are to have a covered dish dinner Thursday evening at six-thirty o'clock at the park behind the butte.

Neighbors of Woodcraft will hold the regular semi-monthly meeting Thursday evening at eight o'clock at the W. O. W. hall.

Aid Division

Twelve attended the meeting of the West division of the Ladies' Aid society of the Central Presbyterian church Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ruth Addison. Miss Mary McMoran was assistant hostess. A covered dish luncheon was served at one o'clock and a business meeting followed. Plans were made for a rummage sale in the fall. The group will also have a covered dish luncheon in August at the home of Mrs. U. B. Kietzing on the River Road.

Pi Lambda Theta

Members of Pi Lambda Theta, women's national education honorary society, are to meet at the Green Lantern tearoom Thursday at noon for a luncheon. All visiting members are invited, and all active members are invited.

LUKEWARM WATER WILL SAVE COLD CASH

WHITE KING GRANULATED SOAP

FOR EVERY HOUSEHOLD USE

FINE FABRICS can't stand scalding water! You might as well throw dollar bills in the fire. . . . Probably you know that. But perhaps you've been unable to get things completely clean without hot water.

Then you'll be glad to know of White King Granulated Soap. It's made from the purest vegetable and nut oils—oils good enough to eat. The result is that White King produces quick, rich suds, and rinses thoroughly and swiftly, in the lukewarm water that filmy silks and fluffy wools demand. Lukewarm water spares the skin of tender hands from irritation too.

Try White King Granulated. The same purity that makes it effective in cool water overcomes the problem of hard-water washing. White King washes everything—fabrics, dishes, silver, glass, floors, woodwork. And it's economical. You need only a teaspoonful for the wash basin, a cupful for the washing machine—even less in soft water. It's condensed. Put it on your list for today. Sold by your dealer.
