PATENTED ROASTING PROCESS CAPTURES FLAVOR OF COFFEE

Accurate Control of Heat Roasts Every Berry to a Perfect Degree

Coffee has the most delicate flavor of any food-product. Yet it is completely developed by Hills Bros' exclusive Controlled Roasting process.

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow—a little at a time—so the matches, uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously—a little at a time. The rare blends flow through the roasters in automatically measured lots. The speed of operation and the temperature remain the same. Naturally, Hills Bros. Coffee never varies in flavor.

The usual, bulk-roasting methods can't maintain a uniform roast. That's why ordinary coffees don't have the same wonderful flavor as Hills Bros. Coffee. Controlled Roasting is patented.

Vacuum cans keep Hills Bros. Coffee fresh always. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken out and kept out of these cans. Even ordinary, "air-tight" cans do not keep coffee fresh. Order Hills Bros. Coffee today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark in the can.

Courtesy of the Shoe and Fashion Review, N. Y. The epitome of smartness for early Fall is the steept frock, with correct footwear to emphasize its style points.

Black satin and canton crepe is blended in a sleek black and white street costume from Doris Reid, on left, which has something new in long white cuffs that slip up under wide black ones and a vestee that disappears at the neckline where black meets black. Classic pumps in black suede and patent leather reproduce the feeling of the two materials of the frock. A lapis blue walking dress in one of the new wools from Schiaparelli, has raglan sleeves, a new twist to its yoke neckline and a petal belt line that is stunning. Absolutely in character with this wearable and attractive dress is a new oxford in the autumn shade, Grisette, developed in contrasting leathers.

Miss Shinn Bride At Sunday Ceremony

Miss Helen Shinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Shinn, and Alfred Jensen of Seattle were married Sunday morning at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was at eleven o'clock, performed by Judge G. F. Skipworth. Mrs. Reuben Young attended the bride and Robert Mies, a member of Seattle was best man. About a dozen attended the ceremony.

The bride wore a dress of printed chiffon and for her flowers carried a shower of roses and sweet peas. A dinner was given at the Eugene hotel following the ceremony.

Mrs. Jensen is a graduate of the University of Oregon where she is a member of Pi Lambda Theta, Phi Beta Kappa, and Sigma Xi societies. She later took graduate work at the University of Washington and is a member of Tau Beta Pi. He is an instructor in engineering at the university there. He was a lieutenant in infantry during the World war.

Mr. and Mrs. Jensen will live in Eugene and at Sitcooke lake for the summer, going to Seattle in the fall to make their home.

TODAY'S RECIPES By SISTER MARY

"VEGETABLE dinners" and "vegetable plates" offer one of the most satisfactory means of adding variety to summer menus. Served once or twice a week they make an agreeable change from the usual meat and potato meal.

Although vegetables are available in great abundance, ingenuity and imagination are needed to make a vegetable dinner really interesting. Try to include at least three, or better four, vegetables in the combination. The wider the variety the easier the plate to prepare.

Given this variety of vegetables, the selection becomes an important factor. Keep in mind the desirability of contrast. Contrast in color as well as flavor and texture determines the choice of vegetables. Careful planning in this respect makes for most attractive and appetizing meals.

Contrast also enters into the method of cooking and serving vegetables. If one vegetable is served plain with butter, let another be creamed, a third grilled or broiled and a fourth served in a croquette, timbale or fritter.

While all vegetables contain at least a trace of protein, it is not enough to include in the balance in the body between the giving out and the intake of energy, and is of poorer quality and less value than that found in other sources. For this reason it is well to include a protein food known to be of high quality. Nuts, eggs, cheese and milk can be added to vegetable plates in such a way that the proper balance is maintained.

Stuffed vegetables are an example of an easy way to add protein. The crispness of the toast provides a pleasing contrast of texture with the softness of vegetables.

Milk is another effective means of increasing the protein content of a vegetable meal. As a beverage, in the dessert or in a sauce over the vegetables, you will find milk convenient to use in numerous ways.

Calories in Desserts Eggs can be hard cooked and used as a garnish, or they can be poached and served with a creamed vegetable on toast. Desserts made with milk and eggs also take care of the protein calories.

Stuffed vegetables such as tomatoes and peppers can be the nucleus of furnishing protein if the stuffing is chosen with care. Peanuts are cheap and a rich source of protein. They combine well with nearly all vegetables.

Very often the garnishings add food value as well as beauty to the plate. Sliced eggs, grated cheese, toast points and croutons furnish calories. Parsley, watercress, radishes and celery add minerals and in the case of

Santa Clara Club To Give Tea Thursday

The Santa Clara Women's club is giving a silver tea on Thursday of this week at the home of Mrs. Clair Bissell. The affair will be from three until four-thirty o'clock.

Mrs. Elmo Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Nat Hart, Mrs. Bissell, and Miss Irma Strone are in charge. A program is to be given.

On Sunday, members of the club sponsored a picnic at Riverside park, twenty families attending. Mrs. E. R. Johnson and Mrs. Kirkpatrick were in charge of the affair.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

AFTER 2 years of age a child makes progress in his own development.

Before this time he will depend largely upon other people for his amusement, preferably his mother, but now he is capable of interesting himself in things about him. This is the reason that we sympathize with his mother and express ourselves some way like this: "He's into everything. Don't let us. We know he's at his very hardest age."

He is too little to have any judgment, and yet his spirit of independence, and investigation knows no limits. This is the time that vases go bang, the cat yells, he falls off chairs and his parents feel like caging him up with the canary most of his waking hours.

He must be kept safe; so must the cat, and the vases. It is just a case of making everything as far out of reach as possible until this period is past. It is not wise to smack into him the fear of his own shadow, and shout him down until he is one vast inhibition of every natural impulse, but to provide him with enough room and safe places to play so that everybody is happy.

I am afraid the vases and low tables will have to go into retreat if he is to have the run of the house. Table covers may not hang over edges, and stairs will have to have gates. As to cat, he will take intense interest in learning to be kind to it. Free Rein Better To give the 2-year-old free rein in a small world of playroom, porch, and garden (a shut-in one) is far better than to constantly prohibit the things that he is doing. Many people are ruined as to initiative and confidence at this early period.

Moreover, concentration is in the bud now and continual interference on the part of others is known to be the death of this important thing. People wonder in later life why they cannot concentrate. Too often it is because they never had a chance to cultivate it when they were tiny children.

Probably this idea of freedom gave rise to the now unpopular "self-expression" method. Parents went to the other extreme at first and allowed their 2 and 3-year-olds to do precisely as they pleased. This could not and cannot be. Along with development must go discipline always. The child must be taught to obey.

But the two things can be reconciled by fixing a child's daily surroundings so that he need not be bossed and punished every second. That is ruining. One of the chief pastimes of an otherwise intelligent woman whom I know is to include a grim determination to "break" her little son of his destructive habits. "I won't put a thing away," she declares, "He's got to learn not to touch things, if I have to kill him."

He will learn—but in that learning something that he will need enormously later on in life will be lacking. People will say, "George is such a nice boy, but he can't succeed at anything he does."

So let me emphasize again—give the 2-year-old at least half a chance to work out his intense interest in life.

Wisconsin Club Holds Picnic Sunday

Seventy-five attended the picnic given by the Wisconsin club Sunday in the park back of Skinner's butte. Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hockstvedler, Mr. and Mrs. York Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Yeger, H. P. Garberg, and Mrs. Fred Cooper were committee workers for the event.

Another picnic will be sponsored by the club on Sunday, August 2, also in the park back of the butte. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Art Hayes, and H. C. Garberg are named the coffee committee and Mrs. Bur Fisher and York Moore are on the entertainment committee. All former residents of Wisconsin are invited to attend.

Picnic Event

A picnic supper with a meeting following is planned for the Young People of the First Christian church Monday evening at six-thirty o'clock at the park behind the butte. Dr. W. G. Moseley, regional secretary of the department of religious education of the Christian church, and Mrs. Moseley will be present and address the young people. Mrs. Moseley is professor of religious education in Spokane university. The affair is in charge of members of the Hi-Tri club, the I-Tri group and Cecil Harding circle. All young people of the church are invited to attend.

From Boston

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Iseninger (Harriet Hudson) arrived Sunday evening from Boston, Mass., to spend the summer months in Eugene with Mr. Iseninger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Iseninger, and Mrs. Iseninger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hudson. Both Mr. and Mrs. Iseninger are graduates of the University of Oregon. Mr. Iseninger later took law work at Harvard university and has been practicing in Boston. Mrs. Iseninger has been office secretary in the Y. W. C. A. at Boston.

Missionary Group

The regular meeting of the Missionary society of the First Christian church will be held Tuesday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock in the church parlors. Delegates to the Turner convention will give reports and Mrs. Thomas Bailey will speak on missionary work planned for the coming year. All ladies of the church are invited.

Westway Club

The Westway club of the Women's Benefit association will meet for one o'clock luncheon Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Josephine Hilliard. The affair is not yet announced, but it is to be served by Mrs. Hilliard and Mrs. Isabel Erickson and proceeds will be used to help defray the club's expenses.
