

EQUIPMENT FOR PLAYGROUND GIVEN TO CITY BY CLUB

The playground equipment purchased by the Eugene Kiwanis club for the general city playground in the park back of the city Wednesday evening at a picnic supper and program sponsored in the park by the club for members and their families and guests and for members of other service groups. Sixty attended the affair.

The club has spent nearly $200 this year on equipment for this unit of the playground work equipped for children under six years of age who are too small to play with the older children in the general playground. The club plans to increase the equipment each year.

Fred E. Smith, president of the club, presided at the event and introduced the various speakers on the program that was arranged by Dr. W. B. Lee, chairman of the club's program committee.

J. S. Maglady, a past district governor of Kiwanis, made the presentation to the city and told of the work being done by the Kiwanis club here in aiding the Girl Scouts, the Boy Scouts, and the Salvation Army, supplying milk for undernourished children, and now, sponsoring the playground work for the smaller children.

S. M. Calkins, city attorney, responded, making the address in place of Mayor H. E. Wilder who was unable to attend. Mr. Calkins reviewed the history of getting the playground established in Eugene and then expressed appreciation to the Kiwanis club for its services and interest in the work.

Arthur Hendershott, city councilman and chairman of the playground committee, then gave a few remarks. A boys' instrumental trio from the playground played. Several dance numbers were then given by children doing dance work in the playground this summer.

Another feature of the picnic was the display of baskets and other handicraft done by the children in the playground work this summer. Some 1000 pieces have been made this season.

Following the picnic supper the Kiwanis members and Active club members staged a baseball game. Both sides proclaimed a good game and neither spoke of defeat. The rumor was that the Active led by a large margin in reality.

"MEN ON CALL" IS FEATURED AT STATE

It is not generally known that the coast guard, or revenue cutter service, as it was then called, really was the forerunner of the United States navy, and that after the colonies had won their independence, this service was the only armed force affiant to guard the maritime interests of the infant republic. Yet this is so.

Its personnel has written deeply into our most colorful pages of history with deeds and exploits of heroism, sacrifice and bravery in the face of the most trying dangers.

There is a story that has seldom been told in print. It reaches the audience screen for the first time in "Men on Call," starring Edmund Lowe, which opened Thursday for two days at the State theater.

Scenes for the story were made along northern California's beautiful shoreline. The rescue from a burning ship of its crew and passengers forms the dramatic climax to this tense drama.

Car Thieves Are Returned For Trial

Jack Albert McKean, 24, and Melvin George Carlton, 19, charged with the theft of an automobile belonging to Leona Miller of Eugene, were returned late Wednesday night from Spokane in the custody of Deputy Sheriff John Carlisle.

The pair had driven the car about 85 miles beyond Spokane on their way to Canada when Carlton, who was driving, went to sleep at the wheel and the car ran into a telephone pole. Carlton received a bad cut on his arm in the crash. McKean, asleep in the back seat at the time, was uninjured. The car was said to have been badly damaged.

Four copies of the famous Magna Carta, sealed by King John at Runnymede 710 years ago, still exist, two of them being in the Manuscript Room of the British Museum, and the others in the cathedral of Salisbury and Lincoln.

In the manufacture of a telephone receiver there are employed aluminum, silk, copper, rubber, flax, nickel, mica, shellac, lead, cotton, silver, iron, platinum, zinc and gold.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonard's prescription—HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. Tiffany-Davis says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.

Millionaires Spurn Comfortable Beds To Hit The Hay In Musty Old Barns

(By NEA Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Listen, all you farm kids who have no place to sleep but in the hay mow. Quit feeling sorry for yourselves.

Millionaires, the very ones you have envied because they have mansions and beds and cool linen sheets, are so envious of you that they have banded together for the luxury of relaxing in fragrant hay mows.

Eight of them, in New York and Chicago, have formed the Society of Hay Mow Sleepers, the only purpose of which is to enable its members to satisfy their yearning to hit the hay.

The unique organization is limited to business men who were brought up on a farm, those who have slept in hay mows, and those who who never have but always longed to.

"Big Names" Belong
The following prominent business executives make up the roster of charter members: R. W. Jameson, executive vice-president of the United Cigar Stores company; J. D. Burger, president of the Heileman Brewing company, New York; Charles K. Walgreen, head of the drug store chain; J. Clark Colt, president of the United States Radio and Television corporation of Marion, Ind. and Chicago; R. K. Morrow, vice-president of the Gold Dust corporation, New York City; Craig B. Hazelwood, vice-president of the First National bank of Chicago; Arthur Walsh, vice-president of Thomas Edison, Inc., New York City; Wheeler Simons, president of the Utah Radio Products company of Chicago.

It all started recently when Mr. Colt was attending a party at the summer home of Mr. Walgreen near Dixon, Ill. There were more guests than beds, so Mr. Colt decided he wanted to sleep in the hay. A bed was prepared for him in the hay mow. He awoke the next morning, tremendously enthusiastic. The night in the hay had recalled most delightful memories of his boyhood days and he had slept like a child.

Hay More Restful
"Sleeping in a hay mow is more restful than in bed," he declared.

To test his sincerity, his friends arranged with the porter to have his berth bedded with hay when he made a trip to New York later. Mr. Colt passed the test, sleeping soundly.

This incident awakened the desire in others to rest in the fresh-smelling beds, and the society was born, with Mr. Colt elected its first president by straw vote.

"This organization may be somewhat unique," said Mr. Colt, "but there are a lot of unusual organizations in this country and after all, many of our greatest pleasures are found far from the beaten path."

Meets in Barns
Meeting places of the society will be located in barns in various parts of the country, with plenty of hay for sleeping purposes. Two have already been established—one at the Walgreen summer home and the other at Mr. Jameson's farm in Antrim, N. H. Mr. Colt plans to equip a club barn at his birthplace in Missouri Valley, Ia. Each member is pledged to provide a similar barn, so that eventually every state will have its own.

There are no initiation or membership fees. The three classes of members are those who have slept in hay mows from necessity, those who sleep in hay mows from choice, and those who never slept in them but always wanted to.

WINNIE LIGHTNER OPENS AT HEILIG

Wild Winnie Lightner is back in town. The star of "Gold Diggers of Broadway," opened Thursday at the Heilig theater in "Gold Dust Girl," and her latest bid for the comedy crown wins it hands down. Winnie is an army in herself but in the current attraction she is abetted in absurdity by Olsen and Johnson.

The picture was previewed late Wednesday evening and panicked the little group of onlookers. The plot has to do with two salesmen who are in the pleasant throes of a honeymoon with twin sisters. Gerie walks into the office of the bathing suit firm for which the newlyweds work—with the welcome news that she has at one time or another been married to and divorced from, the two grooms, and that they are behind in their alimony.

Winnie discovers that the boys want to put over an ultra-modern bathing suit contest. This is presented by an ultra-conservative boss. So Winnie sets out to win the boss. Then the riot starts. Winnie is supported by Dorothy Christie, Claud Gillingwater, Virginia Sale and a host of other stars. The picture should be seen.—R. C.

In another twilight game, Shell Oil beat Simmons, 11 to 9. Shell

McDonald to Have Preview Thursday

The McDonald theater is reviving its "preview nights" and Thursday evening will present "Hush Money" in addition to its regular feature offering, "Five and Ten." The preview picture, "Hush Money," stars Joan Bennett and Hardie Albright, and is said to be one of the most entertaining of the new pictures.

"Hush Money" is not a gangster picture and there is no machine gun in the entire film, but it is a story of a polished crook who holds the secret to a girl's past and keeps it to himself—at a figure.

The camel was one of the first animals to be domesticated.
