

CHRISTMAS SUNDAY OBSERVED BY MOST OF LOCAL CHURCHES

Christmas Sunday was observed in most of Eugene churches Sunday with special sermons, programs, pageants, and cantatas at various times during the day. Many of the churches will be having services and programs from now until Christmas.

At Central Presbyterian church, Rev. Milton S. Weber, pastor, talked on "Jesus Christ the Lord Should be Our Lord" for his sermon Sunday. His text was Romans 6:11, "Dead to sin but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord."

His sermon in part is as follows: "For two thousand years the founder of the Christian religion has been known as Jesus Christ the Lord. Sensible men know that he established the Christian church. He was the fulfillment of Jewish hopes forecast within the title of Messiah, a Hebrew word meaning 'anointed.' These titles therefore sang to the glory of the Messiah including the Hallelujah Chorus, are in praise of him. Christ is the Greek word which means anointed one, and may be interchanged with the word Messiah. Sincere worshippers will praise him the year round, day in and day out, with band, orchestra, psalter and harp, and will not neglect the state and opportunities of worship and praise.

"His mother was instructed to call his name Jesus, meaning Joshua (Heb) which is also Jehovah my salvation. His name Jesus shall have Jesus and applied to him, all suggest thoughts entirely worthy of his character, but he also called himself king, allowed himself to be called king, spoke of his kingdom, was known as Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews; before Pilate acknowledged his kingship. He is Lord of Lords and King of Kings, and just because unworthy men have borne the title of king, and because political fortunes have discarded such unworthy rulers, is no reason that we should find it impossible to name Christ as king. This man who should have brought the kingdom of Christ into the world, we must acknowledge the nobility of the Prince of Peace the ruling spirit in the hearts of the earthly nobles. Best of all titles for us to consider at Christmas time is his title of Jesus Christ OUR Lord.

"When he becomes Our Lord he will bring to us words of heart, kindness of disposition, a desire to make his reign of peace a fact in the world, and a determination that depression or no depression, the children of the world, the poor, the afflicted, the neglected, may all have a share in our Christmas joy.

"Lord of all being throned afar, The glory flames from sun and star, Centre and soul of every sphere, Yet to each loving heart here near."

you or any other agency outside of this state by executive action."

The letter assured Father Flanagan the state of Washington could guarantee Herbert the fullest opportunities in life.

The manner in which Father Flanagan entered the Nicolosi case was detailed by the governor. The letter referred to the Nebraska educator's appeals for custody of Herbert "through the press, from the pulpit, and from 44 radio stations as attempts to focus national attention on his boy's home."

"After Herbert's trial was concluded and the boy delivered to the penitentiary," the governor wrote, "you entered the case, seizing the opportunity to direct national-wide attention to your boys' home, facilitated by the sensational publicity that attended the trial. The people whose sympathies had been stirred by the accounts of the trial viewed your appeal as an act of mercy that no state nor governor should deny."

"Certain sensational newspapers had almost despaired of keeping the Nicolosi case on the front page when you came to the rescue."

"What a happy situation—Father Flanagan needed these newspapers as a vehicle to supplement his appeals; these newspapers needed Father Flanagan in the role of humanitarian."

"In my judgment nothing in recent years has taken place so detrimental to the youth of our land as the melodramatic publicity and exploitation which attended your trip to the state of Washington and the request to have this boy turned over to your institution."

The governor's office during the past month has been deluged with thousands of letters and petitions, for and against releasing Herbert, from all sections of the country.

"Not a word of consolation or sympathy has been uttered by the bereaved family of the sheriff who was killed in the performance of his duty—seven brothers and sisters, a widow and four children—entirely forgotten."

"Sensational newspapers, particularly those far removed from the scene of the crime, were stirred by these subtle misrepresentations and persuaded that this boy was being dealt with inhumanly and that a grave injustice had been done," the letter said.

The governor said he was deeply impressed by the sincere sympathy prompting many persons in their concern for the well-being of Herbert.

"Let me assure these a well ordered routine fills his days, embracing all activities necessary to fully develop him, even excelling the opportunities of many boys on the outside."

WHEELER LAW STORY

compel them to accept students from the non-high school districts although it does set the amount of money to be allowed each district. Some of the special law is per student enrolled.

Distribution Unequal

The law, he argued, specifies that an equal tax levy be made for the fund but it does not guarantee an equal distribution of the inequality of distribution being the chief objection of the plaintiffs. Mr. Slattery cited a decision by the supreme court of Maine which held that unequal distribution did not render the law unconstitutional as long as it worked for the common good.

Judge Harris centered his attack on the Wheeler law on its inflexibility, charging that it was so completely totally disregard the expense of providing education in the various districts.

Only two of the 23 high school and non-high school districts are allowed not less than $60 each for the first 20 students, the flat sum of $50 each for the second 20 students, and not more than $35 each for all other students in a district. The law formerly granted but $20 for the first 20 students and was amended by the 1931 legislature. It is an alternate tax to the county high school tuition fund but has been used only in Lane county, its use being optional

RELIEF MONEY USED In Tree Trimming

Three or four men are being employed by the city under the direction of the park board in trimming the shade trees on the streets where the city lights are in a way obstructed when the trees are in leaf.

The funds to pay these men come from the money subscribed by the employees of the water board in each week for five weeks to the unemployment relief fund.

The work is being supervised by William McDougall, an expert tree trimmer.

Cannery to Close In Few Days Here

The cannery at the Eugene Fruit Growers' association expects to finish up all work for the season this week. The cannery usually closes about January 1. Work on vegetable salads will be continued for a few days yet.

The final shipments of squash are also being packed now, two cars to go south this week. This will make about 10 cars or better on squash for the season. The squash is the small Table Queen variety.

J. O. Holt, manager of the plant, is planning to go on his annual business trip east about January 12. The annual meeting of the association comes in March.

OBSIDIAN CLUB IS PLANNING ANOTHER NEW YEAR'S PARTY

Plans are being completed for the fifth annual New Year's party of the Obsidian Club at the club cabins above Lost Creek ranch Dec. 31 and Jan. 1. As there is more snow than in previous years it is expected to be that much better in proportion. The party will be held in the "bowl," an ideal place close to the cabins. The Obsidian Club department has promised to co-operate by keeping the road open to the cabins and it is expected that there will be no difficulty in reaching the scene of festivities.

Skiing, tobogganing, sliding, and snow games will be features of the outside activities but these are only appetizers, members of the local walking committee, which is sponsoring the event, announced. Beginning at 9:30 Thursday evening, Dec. 31, a varied program is being planned. The big feature will be the annual larks' contest, then there will be stunts, dancing, a midnight lunch and more dancing. After a few hours of sleep, a good old-fashioned breakfast will be served and on New Year's morning there will be more snow sports to be followed by a big turkey dinner.

R. T. Burghart, who was winner of last year's larks' contest, says he is out to win again but some of the women members declare that they are going to contest his right to hold the trophy and something good is looked for. Henry Korn, whose title is "Chief Horsefeatherer," says that the stories ought to be restricted to events occurring in the Three Sisters region.

Snow sports can be more thoroughly enjoyed if the participants are dressed properly in warm clothes. It is advised that those in charge of sports to wear hob-nailed boots—they may improve your dancing—the committee members declare. The members of the party are advised to take a sleeping bag or warm blanket. The larks' contest is very odd but that high in the midst of the snow.

The entertainment committee this year consists of R. Burghart, Dr. R. Gullion, Dorothy Buschling, Margaret Thompson and Hugh P. Curran. Clifford Stalsberg is chairman of the local walks committee and the other members are Elizabeth McManis, Ethel Glaze, T. S. Easton and Bailey Castelleo.

Members who plan to take part in the outings are asked to register at the shoe department at the McMorrans and at the office of O. S. Fletcher, county agent, Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Twenty-five had registered up to Monday.

Baptists to Give Pageant Tuesday

SPRINGFIELD, Dec. 21.—(Special)—Final rehearsals are being held for the pageant to be presented at the Baptist church Tuesday evening. The pageant, "White Gifts for the King," is under the direction of Mrs. W. G. Taylor.

About 30 are in the cast of the affair. Gifts for needy people in the city will be presented at this time, to be distributed before Christmas.

PERSONAL ITEMS

SPRINGFIELD, Dec. 21.—(Special)—Mrs. W. H. Riddell of Detroit is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Wilson, for the holidays. Mrs. Wilson's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson of Salem, are expected here for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lipps spent the week-end visiting friends in Oakridge.

Enrollment Said 1250

The Eugene school district, stated Judge Harris, for the school year 1930-31 had a high school enrollment of 1250, including 225 from non-high school districts. The per capita cost of instruction was $89, resulting in a loss of $10,000 through operation of the Wheeler law. Springfield, with 45 from non-high school districts among its 200 students, had a per capita cost of $89, resulting in a loss of $10,000. Cottage Grove lost $3500 with 90 non-resident students in an enrollment of 250 and a per capita cost of over $100. Junction City, with 41 non-resident students in a student body of 100 and a per capita cost of over $100, lost $2000.

Inequality Shown

The inequality of the distribution of funds under the Wheeler law is apparent, said Judge Harris, as shown in the fact that the Eugene high school levy is eight times the levy for the Wheeler law fund, while the levies for the Springfield, Cottage Grove and Junction City districts is several times that providing the common fund.

Both attorneys cited numerous decisions from other states supporting their contentions. Judge Harris pointed out that laws setting arbitrary amounts for tuition had been held unconstitutional while Mr. Slattery stressed the point that districts had been held to have a choice in accepting non-resident students but were required to accept the set amount if they accepted the students.

The case was argued by Mrs. Warren D. Smith of Eugene, Elmer Hentze of Junction City, C. A. Beard of Cottage Grove and Tom Swartz of Springfield, all being school directors in the respective districts.

of the republican ticket and $7,152, 314 for the democrat.

The report of the Nye committee on the new legislation bore the signature of the four committee members, Nye and Senators Dale, Republican, Vermont; and Wagner, Democrat, New York, and Dill, Washington.

It singled out no individual senatorial campaign in the 1930 election, but described the $5,005,712 expenditure as "excessive, when measured by any reasonable standard."

The legislation is the first attempt to extend congressional jurisdiction over presidential campaigns and over nominating primaries.

Campaign contributions by corporations would remain barred. Expenditures would be restricted to necessary traveling expenses; payment of fees or charges fixed by law; line of clerks and messengers and cost of addressing and distributing literature; salary of agent and assistants; telegraph, telephone and radio tolls; postage, freight and express charges; printing and stationery; producing and circulating lists of voters; rent, heat and light of headquarters; newspaper and other advertising; rental of halls; loud speaking apparatus and traveling vans.

The school is putting on the program Tuesday so as not to conflict with other school events Wednesday. Parents are especially invited to the program at Roosevelt.

YULE MAIL TO BE DELIVERED ON TIME

The extra force of clerks and carriers at the Eugene postoffice is large enough to insure delivery of all properly addressed Christmas mail that arrives in time by the day before Christmas, according to D. E. Yoran, postmaster.

Every year packages arrive at the office without the street addresses and these cannot be delivered unless the carriers happen to know the addresses of the persons to whom they are sent or until the addressees call for them, but it is hoped to clean up the Christmas rush so there will be very few leftovers this year, the postmaster said.

Long lines of men, women and children laden with Christmas packages for mailing appeared in the lobby at the postoffice nearly all day long Monday. Some are just now mailing gifts to friends and relatives in the middle west, which should have been done two or three days earlier to insure prompt delivery, but most of those in line Monday had gifts to mail to points on the Pacific coast.

An extra room has been rented by the postmaster to handle the overflow of Christmas mail.

Trade War With Oregon Flaring

SOUTH BEND, Wash., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Demand for a trade war with Oregon was growing here today as resentment against an Oregon tax on fish flared.

Flares of one cent each on deep-sea crabs, and of 25c a sack on oyster will affect fishermen of Olympia, Raymond, Long Beach, Ilwaco, Aberdeen, and South Bend.

South Bend merchants agreed to cease patronizing Portland wholesalers. They asked merchants of the other cities to take the same stand. The Washington state fish commission was asked to take retaliatory measures against Oregon products.

economic program would not be developed.

Congressional committees are at work on the reconstruction corporation.

Harry E. Ward of the Irving Trust company of New York, told senate committee today the agency would "tend to revive confidence in the railroads and cause their bonds to increase in price, which in turn would increase the value of bonds held by insurance companies and other financial institutions."

This would remove one of the principal obstacles in the way of economic recovery.

RIVER PROJECT STORY

might elapse after the completion of the construction before the entire power could be disposed of.

The cost of irrigation by this project is high and it would be impossible to finance the project on the basis of returns from the sale of irrigation water even if no interest charges were considered.

"The financing of the entire combined project by the combined receipts from the sale of water and the sale of power might be possible under certain conditions. Such financing would require the use of the profits of the power development to provide irrigation."

"Whether or not such profits would be sufficient would be dependent upon the growth of the demand for electric power over a period in the comparatively distant future. The total investment required would be in the neighborhood of $400,000,000.

"Agriculture in the United States has been suffering from over-production for a considerable period of years. It does not appear that large expenditures by the federal government for the purpose of bringing new land under cultivation are justified at the present time."

In conclusion, an offer was made for all parties interested in the proposed development to submit, within a period of 40 days, statements and arguments.

The report will be given to the secretary of war and eventually be reported to congress.

Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon commented today that the setback suffered by the mammoth Columbia river development is expected to react favorably for the long-suffered Umatilla rapids development plan.

The Oregon delegation was not available for a caucus Sunday but a meeting was expected today at which a program of work will be outlined.
