LIBBY HOLMAN STORY
 way car to an automobile across the rural station platform, and then a quick succession of relatives—mother, brother, sister—scurrying from the train to car.
 Libby and her family left Winston-Salem last night, deserting the Reynolds estate, scene of the fatal shooting of her husband of three months. They left behind a coroner's verdict "death at the hands of a person or persons unknown."
 As they neared home the virtual frankness that they had displayed in North Carolina gave way to secrecy. None had anything to say.
 Pullman attendants said the Holman family had spent a quiet night.
MAY HAVE CHILD
 WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 13.—(AP)—Glamorous Libby Holman Reynolds believed but was not certain that she was to bear an heir to the slain Smith Reynolds and his tobacco millions, she testified in secret sessions of the inquest into Smith's mysterious death.
 Her testimony was revealed in copies of the secret testimony obtained by the United Press. The testimony covered the first two days of the coroner's jury investigation into the youthful Reynolds' death one week ago after a week-end party at Reynolds, the Reynolds estate.
 Any child Libby bears Smith Reynolds within 10 months after his death under North Carolina law, will have a claim upon many millions of dollars, according to legal authorities here.
 Libby has no claim herself on the $60,000,000 trust fund established by R. J. Reynolds, Smith's father.
 The transcript of the secret evidence given by Libby concludes with this passage:
 Q. Otherwise than shock, is your health good now, so far as you know?
 A. I don't know.
 Q. I regret to ask you this question, but it may be material. Are you pregnant at this time? A. I don't know yet. If I am it is recent.
 She then confided to the jury that since June 25 she had thought she might be approaching motherhood. The evidence was given on July 5.

JURY WON'T ACT
 WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 13.—(AP)—The Twin City Sentinel today says it has learned authoritatively that the grand jury will be discharged this afternoon without making any presentment in the case of Smith Reynolds, tobacco heir shot to death a week ago.
 The paper also says the grand jury has completed its work for this term and that the report which it will return will make no reference to Reynolds' death.

Socialists List Broadcast Address
 Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, is to speak over a national Columbia Broadcasting company's program Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, Pacific coast time. It is announced by local socialists. His subject is "Why Should We Starve in the Midst of Our Over-Abundance of Plenty."
 At the meeting of the local Socialist group on Monday evening, a study chapter was started, the event being worked out especially for the new members. The class meets every Monday night at the Labor hall.
