Artists At Los Angeles To Express Greetings Of Hoover

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—(AP)—The Normi suspension, the ban against Jules Ladoumègue of France, and the status of Stella Walsh of Poland were ignored today when the International Amateur Athletic federation congress started its long-awaited meeting on the eve of the 1932 Olympic games.

J. Sigfrid Edstrom, of Sweden, president of the federation, and the man who steered the organization through its last night's ban against Normi, the great Finnish runner, told the congress only eight items of business would come up today.

Meet Again Aug. 8

The remaining "business of great importance," he said, will be considered in the second meeting on Aug. 8. The Normi, Ladoumègue and Walsh matters were not included in the list coming up today.

L. J. Mettenen, a Finnish delegate, was recognized by Edstrom. Mettenen asked that today's agenda be altered to permit discussion of the Walsh case. Edstrom refused.

Records Recognized

The congress then turned to discussion of new world's track and field records. First approved was the mark of 4:04 established for the 100-yard dash by Frank Wykoff, trail U. S. C. sprinter.

Other records made by Americans and approved were:

Time of 40.8 for the 440-yard relay made by Delby, Maurer, Guyer and Wykoff of U. S. C.

Time of 40.8 for the 400-meter relay made by the same team.

Time of 3:12.6 for the one mile relay made by Shore, A. A. Hables, L. Hables and Eastman, of Stanford.

Time of 3:12.6 for the 1000-meter relay by the same team.

Washington Mag O. K.

Time of 14.3 for the 120-yard high hurdles made by Steve Anderson of University of Washington.

Time of 14.2 for the 120-yard high hurdles made by Percy Beard of Alabama, (supplanting, of course, Anderson's mark).

Distance of 167 feet 5 3/8 inches.

New Amusement Taxes To Add $42,000,000 To Cost Of Fun

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of 20 daily articles explaining the new federal taxes.

By ROBERT TALLEY (NEA Service Writer)

(Copyright, 1932, NEA Service, Inc.)

EVERY time you buy a ticket to a movie, a theater, a baseball game, a swimming pool or any other place of amusement where the admission price is over 10 cents, you are helping Uncle Sam raise an estimated $42,000,000 from this source toward his national budget for the 1932 tax year.

Tickets costing 40 cents or less are still tax free, but all tickets costing over 40 cents are now taxable at 1 cent on each 10 cents, or fraction thereof. The whole price of the ticket, the law says the tax must be paid by the purchaser. Under the old law the tax applied only to tickets costing more than $1.

Thus, if a man now takes his wife and two children to a movie where the seats cost 50 cents each, he pays an additional 20 cents for tax on the four admissions. If he does this once a week, or 52 times a year, he pays Uncle Sam $10.40.

There is no difference to Uncle Sam, since passes are taxable the same as paid admissions. Even dramatic critics, baseball writers, newspaper photographers must pay the tax, though admitted free. The tax law exempts only bona fide employees and municipal officers who attend in the course of their duty. There is, however, a special exemption for children under 12 years of age, when they are admitted free or at reduced rates.

If you want a particularly good seat and you buy your ticket from a ticket broker who charges a commission in excess of the regular price, there is a tax of 10 per cent on this excess. Thus, if you pay a ticket broker $4.50 for a $3.55 musical comedy seat (admission tax paid), there is an additional 10 cents as tax on the broker's 95-cent commission.

The admission tax likewise applies to box leasards and holders of season tickets, regardless of whether they attend the games or performances. Reserved seats and other special accommodations bear the same rate of tax as admissions, being included in the total price.

The admission tax applies to all schools and club games (except high school athletic contests) unless all the proceeds, not even excepting expenses, go to charity. Not even this exemption is extended to wrestling matches or prize fights, which are taxable under any and all conditions.

Eyewitness Tells Of Bonus Battle

Brickbat Skirmish With Police Is Followed By Gunplay And Army Takes Over Job

EDITOR'S NOTE: For weeks William A. Bell, United Press staff correspondent, has virtually lived with the bonus army. Yesterday he was with it through the exciting hours of its dispersal. In the following story he tells the things he saw.

By WILLIAM A. BELL, Jr. (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE BONUS ARMY, WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—The bonus army that 24 hours ago was an organized swarm of 7,000 shabby men today was in bewildered, angry retreat.

Broken into hundreds of little groups by gas, flame and sabers, its members sought havens free from a nightmare of clattering tanks, charging cavalry horses, and steel helmeted infantrymen.

Early yesterday these men had been sojourning in Washington, determinedly demanding payment of the bonus. Then came a treasury order commanding 200 of them to evacuate a half-demolished building on Pennsylvania avenue so that razing work might continue.

Their commander, blonde, serious Walter W. Waters, told them to leave peacefully; told them he had found other shelter for them. The men refused to go.

About 80 men obeyed. A little man mounted to the roof and started waving a big American flag.

Then the police entered the building to protect treasury agents in clearing it. A big negro lay on the floor.

"Get up," snapped a policeman. The negro did not budge. Four husky patrolmen carried him down the steep stairs. Their burden writhed and cursed.

"Don't you all get rough with me," he screamed, hitting at a policeman's hand.

Quickly he was carried to a patrol wagon and sped to jail.

Another negro punched at a white-haired policeman. Seven police carted away the offender.

I went around to the back of the camp. Three hundred men, led by a huge man brandishing a club, were coming across the park. A crowd of 2000 that had been cleared from the condemned area cheered.

"Let's go, men," said the big leader.

The police guard was not heavy in the rear of the camp. The seething mob plunged among the shanties and

WET SEASON AIDS IN FOREST SAVING

State Expenses are Reduced One Third Under 1931, Report Shows

SALEM, July 29.—(AP)—Expenditure for forest protection in Oregon on lands coming under the jurisdiction of the state forestry department the past six months were a third less than for the first six months of 1931.

Lynn F. Cronmiller, state forester, announced.

The expenditures include all those made by various associations of the state as well as those made directly out of the forester's office. Total for the first six months this year were $87,722 as against $127,475 a year ago, showing a decrease of $41,753.

A contributing factor in the reduced expenditure has been the favorable fire season. Cronmiller said. However, a reduction in salaries and the cost of supplies and equipment has also contributed its share.

The first half of the 1931 year was extremely hazardous. Fires started at the time of the serious windstorm of April 22 and continued throughout the season. This made it necessary to immediately place the full personnel in the field.

"So far the 1932 season has been the most favorable the patrol organizations have experienced in a number of years," Cronmiller said. "Continued rains and cloudy weather during the first six months contributed to a material lessening of the hazard, making it unnecessary to place the full organization in the field."

"At the present time conditions in the state are generally fair although the hazard is not entirely gone," he said. "This is especially true of the eastern and southern Oregon sections. Exposed south slopes have dried out and grass has become a distinct menace. Numerous fires have already been reported by the patrolmen. It is a very small acreage and little damage has resulted."

Blue Shirt Starts It

A big fellow in a blue shirt climbed to the second story of the building. "Come on up, veterans," he belted.

"Get up," snapped a policeman. The negro did not budge. Four husky patrolmen carried him down the steep stairs. Their burden writhed and cursed.

"Don't you all get rough with me," he screamed, hitting at a policeman's hand.

Quickly he was carried to a patrol wagon and sped to jail.

Oh Laydeez! Take A Look

PARIS, July 29.—(AP)—Madame Vera Borea—the countess Regoli in private life—introduced a new material which makes frocks form fitting when she exhibited today for the first time at a party given by the Borea stamp of smartness for the next six months.

The new material is called "Borelax" and is manufactured by the United States Rubber Co. Most important was the princess silhouette, dresses which make fat women thin and thin women fat. The material is in all colors, is washable and does not wrinkle.

Huge silver safety pins were used for buttons and buckles. Novelties included a clasp in the form of a miniature saddle girth and huge wooden buttons. Animal tails were used lavishly for trimming. Colors included steel blue, gray, green, brown, black and white.

Skirts were medium to short for day wear and from ankle to floor length for evening.

Grove Man Kills Bobcat With Rock

COTTAGE GROVE, July 29.—(Special)—Killing a bobcat by slapping it in the face with a rock was reported by A. W. Helliwell and E. C. Lockwood when they returned this morning from a trip into the Bohemian mining district. The cat appeared on the road ahead of the car and was disinclined to move. The men got out to "shoot" it out of the way, then decided to play with it. Mr. Helliwell, a 12-year-old boy, picked up a rock and struck the cat between the eyes and mortally wounded it.

This method of dispatching wild ponies is not recommended for those with weak hearts.

Jim Walker's Case Submitted

ALBANY, N. Y., July 29.—(AP)—The fate of the dapper, playboy mayor of America's largest city and the political destiny, possibly, of the democratic presidential candidate were entangled today in a 27,000-word document studied by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The answer was more than a denial. It was a counter charge that the whole investigation was inspired by the republican party "to divert public attention from those responsible for the direful condition of affairs throughout the country."

Roosevelt must decide whether to remove Walker from office as asked and thus face the prospect of losing the vote of Walker's friends in the election in a pivotal state, or dismiss the charges and risk allegations by republicans in the south and west that he is a Tammany tool.

Roseburg Suburbs Agin' Annexation

ROSEBURG, Ore., July 29.—(AP)—Voters of Riverside, Edenbower and West Roseburg yesterday at a special election rejected a proposal to consolidate those residential districts with the city of Roseburg.

The proposed extension of the city limits of Roseburg, to include these shanties and the site of the northwest national soldiers' home was defeated by a vote of 92 to 216.

The Edenbower and Riverside districts rejected the proposition by only three votes, 65 to 68, but in West Roseburg the count was 27 for inclusion to 148 against. The city of Roseburg voted 517 to 14 to admit the shanties territory in the event of inclusion being desired.

HOOVER CALLS FOR ROUNDING UP OF RIOTERS

Declares Sending Of Army Due To Appeal Of Civil Officers

GRAND JURY CALLED

Glassford Denies Request For Help Came From His Police

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—Justice Oscar Lohr, in the supreme court of the District of Columbia, today instructed a federal grand jury to investigate bonus army disorders.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—President Hoover, in a letter to the District of Columbia commissioners concerning the riot here yesterday, charged them "to at once find the instigators of this attack on the police and bring them to justice."

The text of the president's letter follows:

"In response to your information that the police of the district were overwhelmed by an organized attack by several thousand men, and were unable to maintain law and order, I complied with your request for aid from the army to the police.

"It is a matter of satisfaction that, after the arrival of this assistance, the mobs which were defying the municipal government were dispersed without the firing of a shot or the loss of a life.

"I wish to call attention of the district commissioners to the fact that martial law has not been declared; that responsibility for order still rests upon your commission and the police.

"The civil government of Washington must function uninterrupted. The commissioners through their own powers, should now deal with this question decisively.

"Calls For Action

"It is the duty of the authorities of the district to at once find the instigators of this attack on the police and bring them to justice.

"It is obvious that, after the departure of the majority of the veterans, subversive influences obtained control of the men remaining in the district, a large part of whom were not veterans, secured repudiation of their elected leaders and inaugurated a reign of lawlessness.

"They were undoubtedly led to believe that the civil authorities could be intimidated with impunity because of attempts to conciliate by lax enforcement of city ordinances and laws in many directions.

"I shall expect the police to strictly enforce every ordinance of the district in every part of the city. I wish every violator of the law to be imprisoned.

COAST ROAD WORK REPORT PROGRESS

Good progress in road construction work in the coast section of the county was reported Friday by Clinton Hurd, county commissioner, who returned from a trip of inspection in that section.

Work on the Canby cutoff has been finished and this road is now in excellent shape for traffic, he announced. The last of the gravel for this job was shipped from Eugene last week and the surface was completed the latter part of the week.

Five carloads of gravel will be shipped down for the Maple creek road, in order to put that road in good shape for the coming winter.

The county rock crusher is being set up on the Deadwood road and will get out 500 yards of rock for graveling the Deadwood road. The fill across one of the arms of Mercer lake, to take the place of a bridge that was taken out, has been completed, Hurd reported.

State crews have completed rocking of the Oregon Coast highway south of Glenada and will start putting on oil on the first of next week.

On the Cheshire link of the Siuslaw highway, the piling for one of the main bridges over the Long Tom river has been driven. Grading is progressing and crews expect to finish the clearing work this week, Hurd was informed.

Medford Youths In Auto Crackup

MEDFORD, July 29.—(AP)—Two boys were seriously injured, and a third, the driver, escaped with less severe hurts when their automobile crashed from the highway near Eagle Point late yesterday, and was demolished when it overturned.

The youths, all 19 years old, were Jesse Walker who received a skull fracture; Delbert Tingley, who had both legs broken and suffered serious body contusions; and Ralph Dismore, badly bruised and cut.

DEMPSEY'S "GIRL" ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Lina Basquette, Of Movies, Figures In Dramatic Poison Episode

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—(AP)—Lina Basquette, dancer, was removed to her home early today from Georgia street receiving hospital after receiving treatment for a self-administered poison.

Although her condition was at first believed to be critical, physicians said that prompt emergency measures had been effective, and believed she would recover.

Police found a note in her apartment which they believed was intended for Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, with whom her name had been linked recently in a reported romance. The note read:

"Dear Jack: I love you—only you. I couldn't help it. I couldn't go on without you."

Only a few hours before the suicide attempt she had announced her engagement to marry Teddy Hayes, Dempsey's former trainer, with whom the fighter was said to have quarreled over Miss Basquette's affections.

Orders Still Orders But

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—One of the most dramatic sidelights of the army's drive on the B. E. F., last night centered around Major George O. Patton of the cavalry, who was compelled by duty to run from Camp Marks a man who once saved his life on a battle field in France some 14 years ago.

During the war, Major Patton held the rank of colonel in charge of light tanks. His aide was a youth from Camden, New Jersey, named Joe Angelo.

One night seven men, including Major Patton and Angelo, were out on a patrol when a shell struck nearby. The officer was badly wounded. The aide dragged him into a shell hole and stayed with him all night. Angelo was one of those who fled from Camp Marks last night before the advance of Major Patton's cavalry.

POCKET VETO ENDS FARM LOAN HOPES

Hoover Believes Existing Provisions For Aid Are Adequate

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—President Hoover has given a pocket veto to a senate bill intended to broaden the base of reconstruction finance corporation loans to farmers.

This was made known today at the White House after the time limit for signing the measure had expired at midnight. In the absence of the chief executive's signature, the bill automatically died.

It was said in an official White House quarter that Mr. Hoover felt the measure had been passed in the confusion of the last moments of the recent session, and that everything the bill provided already was available under the reconstruction finance corporation act.

The bill was intended to extend to livestock owners, dairy farmers, poultry producers and farmers raising crops not maturing until 1933 loans under the $200,000,000 given the department of agriculture by the reconstruction corporation.

GOLD FLOWS BACK TO UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, July 29.—(AP)—The sudden reversal in flow of international capital, which is now veering back to this country, is attributed largely by Wall Street bankers to revival of the belief that when business recovery definitely appears the United States will lead the way.

Around the middle of June the heavy outflow of capital began to slacken. In July, when it became clear that European central banks had drawn down virtually all of their gold balances which had been placed in this country, there was a change in trend.

In the present week, the change of the tide has reached its sharpest proportions, fairly sizeable shifting of foreign balances to New York having developed.

Waters appealed to citizens throughout the country to enlist in the "Khaki Shirts" to "throw out the vested interests and return the government to the hands of the people where it belongs."

TROOPS MOP UP REMNANT OF RIOTERS

Tear Gas Used To Scatter Stubborn Defenders Of Late Camps

SHACKS ARE FIRED

President Is Emphatic In Defending Policy In Situation

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—Brig. Gen. Perry L. Miles, who commanded the military army which cleaned bonus army camps and occupied them yesterday and today, announced shortly after 5 p. m. that his mission had been fulfilled and his troops would immediately evacuate the capital.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—Troops hurled tear gas bombs and shot shells of the bonus army fire in the vicinity of the capital again this afternoon, at a time when President Hoover at the White House was serving emphatic notice that the federal government "cannot be coerced by mob rule."

As 4:30 passed, cavalry men swept across a park near where the veterans were burned out last night. They halted at Maine avenue.

The bonus remnants fled.

The few bonus marchers, principally from Virginia, Ohio, and Texas who had remained in the encampment south of the mall, evacuated on the approach of the cavalry which on arrival found the shacks all empty.

Nevertheless, a tear gas barrage was laid down, quickly clearing the streets and parks nearby of all but the gas-masked soldiers. One after another of them applied the torch to a succession of flimsy lean-to's in which the veterans had been unmolested in the first attack in that section yesterday.

At "Camp Texas," as it was called, more bombs were tossed to move some of the more obstinate veterans.

Tear Gas Is Used

There was no resistance, except that some refused to move until the tear gas tanks were emptied. The troops outnumbered the scattered veterans by many times.

In his aggressive statement read to newspaper correspondents at the White House, the president said: "A challenge to the authority of the United States government has been met swiftly and firmly.

"Patience is outworn.

"After months of patient indulgence, the government must assert its lawlessness as it always must be met if the processes of self government are to be preserved. We cannot tolerate the abuse of constitutional rights by those who would destroy all government, no matter who they may be. Government cannot be coerced by mob rule.

"The department of justice is pressing its investigation into the violence.

VETS AT PORTLAND MARCH IN PROTEST

PORTLAND, Ore., July 29.—(AP)—A thousand veterans of the World war, most of them shabby and unemployed, marched in orderly style through downtown Portland last night, bearing signs in protest against the use of armed forces in evacuating the bonus army from its Washington "billet."

Police watched closely for disturbances which failed to materialize during the parade and the meeting which preceded it.

Editorial Comment Praises Hoover Policy Of Firmness

Newspaper editorial comment on the Washington bonus army evacuation follows:

NATIONAL COMMENT

New York Times—"Now that the latent spirit of insolent lawlessness has manifested itself in overt acts, the country should demand that the whole affair be thoroughly cleaned up, the veterans dispersed as speedily as may be and Americans be no longer called upon to witness an insubordinate body of men asserting at the national capital that they are above the people as a whole and more powerful than the government itself."

New York Herald-Tribune—"Whether these men are really communists or not is immaterial; they are agitators, and their object is to foment trouble and make headlines. Their assault upon the police—who bore the attack with courage and restraint—was utterly unjustified."

Cleveland Plain Dealer—"The obvious duty of the authorities at Washington is to maintain order at whatever cost. The riotous cannot surrender to the B. E. F. or to any other group insisting on rights that do not exist."

The New York Daily News—"The government cannot surrender to these men. But neither can it afford to go one inch beyond the absolute minimum of violence that may be necessary to keep them on their side of the line."

San Francisco Chronicle—"Riot is riot; whoever does it and in whatever the cause.

"And order must be order, if civil life is to continue."

Washington Post—"President Hoover was fully justified in calling out the troops to put down this uprising against the United States."

No government can tolerate defiance and disorder on the part of its citizens.

"Individuals who violate the law and resist enforcement officers put themselves in the class of outlaws and must be treated as such."

Baltimore Evening Sun—"Panics, especially panic in high places, are the worst enemies of a nation."
