Fine Hay Comes To City Stocks Swing Up Again

ALFALFA, VETCH OATS OF QUALITY RAISED THIS YEAR

Arrivals of hay in Eugene have about ceased, the harvest being practically completed. Alfalfa, oats and vetch hay of the finest quality has been coming in from Lane county farms, the season having been propitious for a bumper crop this year. Local buyers were still quoting prices of $8 to $9 per ton for alfalfa, $7 for clover and $5 for oats and vetch.

Blackberries are more plentiful now than at any time since they began to ripen and they have been reduced from 85 to 75 cents a crate.

No change is reported in eggs, poultry, or butter, and livestock is the same as it has been for some time past everywhere.

Trading in the egg market continued to reflect strength at the weekend with the movement to market still showing more or less decrease. Curtailment of the supply is not followed by decreased demand.

At the weekend there was no change noticeable in the general market for live chickens. Colored stock continued to drag in the broiler market but all other sorts and hens showed steadiness at least.

While the country appears very eager to secure some ready money by the sale of new crop turkeys, demand is much restricted as yet owing to the very hot weather which makes the shipping of dressed stock almost impossible.

Market for tomatoes reflects a much increased demand since prices dropped to the extreme low a few days ago. Since then some recoveries have been shown but the call continues.

There continues a surplus of fresh salmon offerings from the Oregon-Washington coast with a liberal stock still coming from the Columbia. Receipts are so heavy that truck loads are being sent to interior points and sold within a fraction of the low prices shown here.

Recent shading of prices in the market for potatoes appears out of line with the increasing home demand. Local stock is holding up fairly well and especially the larger tubers.

PORTLAND BUTTER DEMAND HOLDS UP

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 6.—(U.P.)—Trend of the butter trade continues its recent strength and almost general price betterment. Everyone there appears a more hopeful tone in the butter trade, a very seasonable condition.

Decreasing make is reported at practically all leading churning centers of the country. There is a fully steady demand, in fact in spots it exceeds the supply as the retail consumption had recently increased.

While as yet there is only a very small withdrawal reported out of coolers, the storage movement is expected to be greatly stimulated during the next 10 days. There is today a small profit in storage goods and without doubt held stock is expected to go out.

Market for butterfat is strong

ALL SPACE TAKEN AT PUBLIC MART

Another busy day was seen at the Producers' Public market Saturday, with every stall filled and the usual overflow in the extra space.

Green corn is coming in more plentiful and a lower price for the poorer grade was quoted, 10 cents a dozen ears being the lowest figure. The best was selling at 20 cents and medium grades at 15.

Cucumbers for pickling, crisp head lettuce, tender carrots and beets, string beans, many of them from irrigated land, big new potatoes and other early vegetables were shown in great profusion. Many a farm wife had on display dressed chickens and there were a few dressed rabbits. Prices are low now and the Sunday dinner is not costing the city housewife a great deal.

2,600,000 SHARES CHANGE HANDS FOR HALF-DAY TRADING

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—(AP)—A stampede of buying threw bears into a panic in today's stock market and brought one of the most spectacular upsurges of prices in months.

Prices of many prominent issues surged up 2 to 12 points to the best levels since March. There were numerous recessions of about 1 to 4 in the final dealings, however. Sales reached the impressive total for a two-hour session of about 2,600,000 shares, about duplicating the turnover of Feb. 13, when the list had a sweeping upswing based on the Glass-Steall measure, which strengthened the federal reserve system.

Chicago Grains Go Up On Buying Wave

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—(U.P.)—Carried upward on the crest of a tremendous wave of buying, December wheat touched 57 7-8c on the Board of Trade today. The highest figure since June 7 and 2 7-8c over yesterday's close. Heavy profit taking developed and wiped out a full cent of the upturn but the market reacted strongly and closed at the top. Buying in small lots through commission houses was on the largest scale in weeks while the spectacular strength in stocks aided in the upturn.

Corn, oats and rye were advanced by the strength in wheat but did not get far nor hold the best levels.

At the close wheat was 2½ to 2 3-4c higher, corn was 1 1-8 to 1 5-8c higher, oats were ½ to 5-8c higher and rye was 1 to 1 1-8c higher. Provisions were strong with grains and stocks.

Cash prices were: Wheat, 2 to 2½c higher; corn, ½ to 3-4c higher, oats unchanged to ½c higher.

Receipts were: Wheat 48, corn 63 and oats 108 cars.

WOOL SALES INCREASE

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The movement of heavyweight domestic wools featured the latter half of the past week. Demand was largely for 58s, 60's and finer western grown wools, but the lower grades of territory wools and most grades of fleeces, shared to some extent. The large increase of sales during the past three days has stimulated a great deal of optimism in the trade and prices showed a strengthening tendency in ranges quoted last week.

STUNTS GIVEN BY SCOUTS IN CAMP

CAMP LUCKY BOY, Blue River, Aug. 6.—(Special)—Thursday night was stunt night at Camp Lucky Boy, and the council fire was the scene for many varied and interesting skits.

Each cabin presented a skit prepared by itself, some of which were entirely original and others "old stand-bys" worked over and put on in a new style. The Deer Horn lodge put on a skit called "St. George and the Dragon" which kept the spectators on the edges of their seats the entire time. The Lost cabin presented the marvelous trick horse Bosco. A court room scene was put on by the Salamander lodge. The Ninety Eight Cent lodge put on "The Gathering of the Nuts." Of course the camp leaders were made the laugh of the evening and a mock opera was given by the Dusty Fly lodge.

There were two distinguished visitors in camp Wednesday evening, Dr. H. W. Titus, president of the Willamet council, and A. A. Rogers, treasurer of the council. These gentlemen had dinner with the boys and were also here to enjoy the council fire.

Cabin leaders and names were selected the first of the week and are as follows: Lost lodge, Junior Ruzek; Dusty Fly lodge, Roald Hanson; Salamanders, Randall Brown; Ninety Eight Centers, James Edwards; and Deer Horn lodge, Frederick Heidel. Each of the names selected by the groups for their cabin has a meaning all its own. A good example of this is the Ninety Eight Cent patrol which shows the loyalty to the patrol leader, Jimmy Edwards, the leader, arrived at camp with a new pair of 98 cent tennis shoes which was the inspiration for the name.

Camp was deserted Tuesday night while all scouts went on their first night's sleep in the woods. The boys may not have slept very well on the ground, but they enjoyed it just the same and it was just some more good hard work and amusement today. Merit badges completed were: Robert Lawrence, first aid; Randall Brown, photography; Junior Ruzek, reptile study; Carl Heidel, woodturning; and Jack Rogers, metal work.
