WHETHER you are playing bridge on the country club veranda, watching a tennis match, or just waiting for someone, you will be shouldering all the style you can handle if you wear this colored crocheted crepe frock.

The sleeves have proved that it is foolish to take only one trick when there is a whole row of intriguing methods of attracting attention, right at their elbow. These sleeves, which are unusually large, start with a shirred raglan effect, loom tremendously at the elbow where they are gathered again, and button tightly below the elbow, finishing at a three-quarter length.

Nickle Adorns Belt
Since large belts, used on light frocks, succeed in removing an inch or two from the waistline—at least as far as appearances are concerned—this dress chooses a belt of bigger crepe. It is fashioned from the same rough crinkled crepe. The buckle is adorned with nickel and the buttons are made from it.

The skirt hugs the hips and flares as it nears the hemline. The costume also comes in pastel shades or white that uses contrasting colors for its decorative effect.

Three Division Meet Tuesday

Three divisions of the Methodist Episcopal ladies Aid society met Tuesday afternoon for the regular monthly session. Division two held a potluck supper for members and families at six-thirty o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. E. Edholm and fifteen were present. The next meeting is September 13 and will be at the home of Mrs. E. C. Latham.

Eighteen members and four visitors attended the picnic of division four at the home of Mrs. B. F. Goodpasture at Villa. The guests were Mrs. C. E. Hunt, Mrs. Virgil Clover, Mrs. Harold Hurd, Coburg and Mrs. Rickabaugh, Eugene. Luncheon was served at noon and plans were made for the fall work at the business session. The next meeting is the second Tuesday in September.

Thirteen members and three visitors were present for the picnic of division ten at the church parlors. The ladies worked on their quilt during the afternoon. Mrs. J. E. Hewitt will be hostess for the next meeting.

Sewing Room To Be Open Thursday

The Welfare League service sewing room will be conducted Thursday at the Warren building, 774 Willamette street. Hours are from nine o'clock in the morning to five o'clock in the afternoon.

Mothers, who would otherwise be unable to provide equipment for their children's school needs are urged to come and sew with the assistance of members of the League. Material for girls' underwear and shoes and stockings are needed for the welfare work. Mrs. John Stark Evans is chairman of the sewing room project.

TODAY'S RECIPES

By SISTER MARY

WHETHER it be on the porch, in the garden, at the bridge table or with a "dish of gossip" and an intimate friend, a cool drink served as if by magic is an achievement for the summer hostess.

When preparing drinks for expected guests the fruit juices and syrups can be mixed hours before wanted and kept on ice. The tray and glasses and coolies or sandwiches can be arranged so that the last-minute effort creates little stir to disturb the visitors.

But when the chance guest drops in and a quick and apparently effortless bit of refreshment is wanted, the hostess who is totally without preparation is "out of luck."

To this end the foresighted housekeeper keeps a few simple expedients in her refrigerator. A jar of sugar syrup, a bottle of chocolate syrup and one or two varieties of fruit juices make it possible to concoct delicious beverages with regular soda-fountain speed.

Another secret in making quick iced drinks is in using finely chopped ice. Less water is used when making the beverage because the fine ice melts and dilutes the drink as it chills it.

Sugar Syrup
To make sugar syrup put one cup of sugar and one-half cup water into a smooth sauce pan. Put over medium heat and bring to the boiling point. Cover and let boil five minutes. One to two tablespoons of this syrup to a glass will make the average drink sweet enough. Two tablespoons grated lemon rind can be cooked with the syrup. Strain syrup before bottling. This lemon syrup is especially good with iced tea or a fruit punch.

Lemon Syrup
A concentrated lemon syrup which can be diluted and used with iced tea for tea punch or charged water for lemon fizz is made as follows:

Three cups sugar, 3 cups water, 3 cups lemon juice, grated rind of lemons used for juice. Combine sugar, water and grated lemon rinds. Bring to the boiling point. Cover and boil fifteen minutes. Add lemon juice, cover and bring to the boiling point. Simmer five minutes. Strain into sterilized jars and seal.

Any fruit juice can be used. The juice may be obtained from small fruits by crushing and straining through cheesecloth.

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Slice peaches with cereal and cream, shirred eggs, omelet, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Jelly vegetable salad, brown bread sandwiches, cantaloupe filled with peaches and raspberries, iced chocolate.

DINNER: Sauerkraut and tomato juice cocktail, stuffed filet of veal, lima beans and corn in cream, apples pom-pom, milk, coffee.

Christian Group Holds Annual Breakfast

One hundred and eight attended the annual breakfast of the Missionary society of the First Christian church Tuesday morning in the church parlors. Members of the Hi Tri club with Mrs. R. M. Day, adviser, were hosts for the affair.

An interesting program was given including a play "The Book Shelf." In the cast were Mrs. F. L. Wilmut, Miss Theona Newton, Dale Kennedy, Mrs. George Hofessa, Miss Zada Tinker, Miss Marjorie Jackson, Miss Eileen Kinney, Miss May Jensen, Miss Betty Jean Kennedy, Miss Betty Walker and Mrs. C. F. Hyde. Mrs. Dallas Rice, of the Indian White Swan mission at Yakima, Washington, gave a splendid address and Miss Hattie Mitchell, missionary from Africa, sang in the native tongue.

Thomas H. Bailey was in charge of devotionals.

The two tables were decorated to represent Japan and the American Indian, the two peoples studied by the missionary society the past year. On the Japanese table were native flags, idols and many other articles symbolic of the cherry blossom land while wigs decorated the Indian table. Huge baskets of gladioli and other summer flowers also were used for decorations.

Special guests at the affair were Mrs. Nettie Fishburn, state secretary of missionary work for the Christian church, and her daughter, Miss Mildred Fishburn. The next meeting of the group will be September 13.

Mrs. L. F. Newton was general chairman for the breakfast and program, assisted by Mrs. C. F. Hyde, Mrs. Raymond Wells and Mrs. Lila Yoder. Mrs. R. M. Day was in charge of refreshments.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A MOTHER I know has talked for years about the time when her children can do things for themselves. Now her children range from 23 down to 15 and she works harder than ever.

I always have known it would be so. They were the most "demanding" little children I ever have seen. Nothing was good enough for them then, nor now.

They had but to express a wish or suggest something they wanted. Right away their mother set about putting it through. Sometimes it was a party, sometimes new clothes when it was not needed. The more they got the more they wanted and I have seen her drag herself out of a sick bed or cancel an order for something she herself needed to carry on for them.

This situation is common enough, too common, but it was more sharply accentuated in this family than any other that has ever come to my notice.

Moreover the mother in every other way is a sensible woman, and the father a sensible man. He, by the way, is as foolish about humoring the children as their mother.

N. of W. Drill Team Entertains Monday

Honoring Mrs. Alice Taylor, who will go to Corvallis to reside this fall, members of the Neighbors of Woodcraft drill team entertained at a party Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Maud Goggin.

Members of the team present were Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Lena Coburn, Mrs. Nettie Lyon, Mrs. W. A. Buchholz, Mrs. Lean, Mrs. Ross Carson, Mrs. Mary C. Wilson, Mrs. Iva Lamb, Mrs. Nell Gates, Mrs. Ketz, Mrs. Margaret Adelman, Mrs. Frieda Tuelsman, Miss Grace Shoults, Mrs. Theo. Harris and Mrs. H. S. Bartow.

Special guests included Mrs. Maud Register, Miss Leah Register, Miss Monica Goggin, Mr. and Mrs. David Goggin of San Pedro, California, B. P. Groggin.

W. R. C. To Have Picnic Thursday

The Women's Relief corps will hold their annual picnic Thursday at Riverview park, behind the bottle. Those without means of transportation are to meet at the Southern Pacific depot between ten and eleven o'clock.

Those attending are to bring their own picnic dinner and dishes and the corps will furnish coffee.

CALIFORNIANS VISIT
Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Hyne of San Jose, Cal., are visiting Mrs. Hyne's mother, Mrs. W. T. Shoults. They and Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Roach have just returned from an outing spent on the McKenzie where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Coburn.
