

GRANGE TO HAVE DAY AT 4-H FAIR

The grange will have its day at the Four-H club fair, Friday, Sept. 13, the second day of the fair, has been designated Grange day, according to R. C. Kuehner, county club agent, and a program is being planned.

The Lane county Pomona grange is co-operating with the Four-Hers on the program, and the lecturer, Mrs. G. S. Caley, has conferred with Mr. Kuehner to make arrangements.

A program will be held from 11 a. m. to 12, at which some prominent speaker versed in agricultural methods will appear.

A feature of the day will be a contest in stock judging. The champion Four-H judging team will issue a challenge to judges from any subordinate grange in the county. It will be a contest between the young stars and the older folks.

sure it was his plane sighted at Halifax today.

"She always did say I would make it easily," he said.

Fog Is Handicap

He lost a lot of time between Halifax, where he was sighted at 5:30 a. m., and here, because of the fog. "The mist was heavy over the Bay of Fundy, and I just groined along," he said. "I wanted to get to New York and I could have made it with the gas I had, but weaving through those low clouds and that heavy mist must have tired me out. I just couldn't go on. The weather was especially bad for the last eighteen hours."

When he checked up his fuel supply he discovered he had only about ten gallons left, but he figured that would have carried him to New York.

Sugar and Brandy

Raymond Hawkins, a farmer, took the flier home with him.

Captain Mollison sat down to a cup of tea but he declined anything else. All the way from Portmarnock, he said, all he ate was barley sugar, washing it down with a nip of brandy now and then.

"I'll leave the bus here tonight if I may," he said, "and go on to New York tomorrow."

"I'm going through with the original plan for a return flight home, but probably I'll have to rest a few days in New York."

WIFE IS PLEASED

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(P)—A my Johnson, aviation record holder and wife of Captain J. A. Mollison was seated at luncheon with some friends in a restaurant today when word was brought to her that a plane like that in which her husband started on his transatlantic flight had been sighted over Halifax.

"Oh," she cried, "I'm sure it's Jim." But she was nervous and it was apparent she was not certain.

"Isn't it wonderful?" she said, "I know Jim would do it. I feel much easier now. I know the return journey is not easy, but in comparison with the outward trip it isn't so bad. I don't know exactly what Jim's plans are. If he has enough fuel he may make for New York non-stop."

ed, rejected fruit and vegetables which will not meet grading rules, windfalls, surplus products bought for practically nothing in glutted markets in the large cities and the truckers who bring it into Eugene has little in it above transportation costs.

"On the face of such facts, it is unreasonable to expect local growers to compete with such products. The proposed city ordinance will allow bonafide farmers or growers to bring their products into this market and compete on a fair basis with our own people. There will be no unreasonable discrimination or attempts to boycott other producing sections, with whom we want to maintain friendly relations."

President Chambers has urged all growers in this section to attend the Saturday meeting. The proposed ordinance will be read section by section and any changes or additions will be made. After the meeting the ordinance will be put into final form by attorney Collins and a committee will present it to the city council at their Monday meeting. It is hoped that the ordinance may be enacted as soon as possible to still provide some protection to local growers in the present season.

Max Gehlbart, director of the state department of agriculture, has been cooperating with the local committee and visited Eugene recently to confer on the proposed ordinance. He plans to secure copies and distribute them among all the principal cities of the state which have been following the situation in Eugene and which desire copies of the complete ordinance.

Amalgam Is Stolen From Bohemia Mine

COTTAGE GROVE, Aug. 10.—(Special).—A report has reached here of the first robbery in many years in the Bohemia mining district. Amalgam to the value of about $70, was removed recently from plates at the Evening Star mine. A smaller plate, the tin plate, carrying between $200 and $250 in amalgam, was not disturbed.

The thief must have been one familiar with mining operations and he must have known that the mill at the Evening Star has been left open while repairs are in progress. It was said. After the amalgam had been removed, the plates were reconnected with quicksilver, found in the mine building, and this was coated with powder to make it appear as though the plates had been undisturbed. There is no clue to the thief.

Condon Playground Kids Entertained

Twelve children of the Condon playground were entertained Thursday night at the home of their supervisor, Carl Hollingsworth.

After playing games, a Wiener and marshmallow roast was held in Henderson park.

GOES TO FEDERAL POST!

Senator Willard Marks, of Albany, presiding officer of the senate at the last session of the legislature and acting governor during the absence of Julius Meier last fall is soon to accept a federal post as bankruptcy referee and his resignation of his state office is expected. Great interest attaches to the naming of his successor in Linn county and to the effects of the change on the choice of a senate president for the session next winter.

increase anti-university strength in the legislature. They were watching with interest to see who may be nominated.

Clyde Williamson, Albany banker and chairman of the Linn county republican central committee said his party isn't near an appointment yet. Probably several other men will be considered.

Garland Well Liked

But the Linn democrats are hard at work. Mark Weatherford and Sam Garland, they believe, are strong candidates and might cut into the normally republican county vote deeply. Garland is a veteran legislator and has served his county in the senate several times, and his candidacy is viewed with favor by Governor Meier's supporters.

Weatherford may be refused because of his name, J. W. Weatherford Jr., is already in the house. Mark is a nephew of J. W. Weatherford, prominent for many years over Oregon. J. K. Jr., is his grandson. Political leaders are said to feel that it may not be expedient to put two Weatherfords in.

G. T. Hockensmith, chairman of the Linn democrats, is believed to favor Garland, although he said Friday that no names have actually been brought to the committee for appointment.

The United States is the world's largest producer of poultry. China is second.

Bailey Will Head Road Delegation

A committee of the Eugene Lions club headed by Edward F. Bailey will represent the city at the county-wide meeting at Goldsboro Friday night at which plans for celebration of the Cheshire road completion will be made.

The meeting will be held at the Low Pass Community hall, and will start at 8:30 o'clock.

The Junction City Lions club has taken an interest in the celebration and will have many members there, Representatives of Florence, Cushman, Monroe and the granges will attend. The celebration will be held September. The section of the road which connects the Siuslaw highway at Cheshire with the Pringle road, will be completed in about 30 days.
