

Jack Reynolds, World's Welterweight Champion, Coming To Eugene

PETE GETS CHANCE AT N. B. A. CROWN HELD BY REYNOLDS

Jack Reynolds, world's welterweight wrestling champion, whose title is recognized by the National Wrestling association, will wrestle in Eugene Friday night, when George "Wildcat" Pete, who is scaling down out of the junior middleweight class and whose weight will be down to 147-plus pounds, will be his opponent.

Reynolds' title, together with his diamond-studded belt, will be at stake. It will be Pete's first chance at the championship and will be staged with the sanction of the national association.

Vern Harrington, of Portland, will referee. It is regarded as the most important match to be staged in Oregon since Reynolds defended his championship against Robin Reed at Albany in 1925. At that time, the champion was brought to Oregon on a $5,000 guarantee.

Herb Owen, promoter for the Eugene wrestling commission, arranged the Pete-Reynolds match. The size of the guarantee was not announced.

Set for Army

The match will be staged in the Eugene armory and Owen is planning an all-star card to go with it. Pete, who holds the world's junior middleweight belt at 154 pounds, has been in training for five weeks. Owen promised him the match if he showed he could make the welterweight limit. Pete is already down to 150 pounds and is confident he can get below 148, the official welterweight limit.

Reynolds hails from Cincinnati, Ohio, and has been doing most of his wrestling in the east. Pete came close to a match with Reynolds while in the east on his last tour, but the champion would not act at that time. Reynolds is in the national middleweight picture and first as a junior middleweight, and at 147 pounds is regarded as one of Reynolds' most dangerous opponents.

The match will be as important to wrestling fans as the appearance here last fall of Jack Dempsey was to prize fight followers. The Wildcat has been working hard in anticipation of the match and since it is his first and probably his last chance at Reynolds' title he is ready to "shoot the works."

Details of the card are not complete but special arrangements will

BABE IS SINCERE ABOUT GOLF TRY

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Babe Didrikson, the two-time Olympic champion, wasn't kidding when she happened to remark not so long ago that she was going after the national golf championship.

She came to Chicago from Dallas by airplane to participate in the post-Olympic meet in Soldier Field Thursday night, and spent yesterday afternoon at the golf course.

"I wasn't so good," she said when she returned to the Dallas girls basketball team she put up with the part that gets the most attention.

"I'm going to drive and play the national title and put it on my record book. I'm not much yet at putting."

"Were you sincere when you said you thought you could win the women's title?" she was asked.

"Sure I was. In the short while I have played golf I have found out that it's a tough game, the hardest one I ever tried to play, but that's what I like about it. All other sports come too easy for me, and it's fun trying to master one that's so hard."

In her new enthusiasm for golf, the tall Texas girl has forgotten about her Olympic triumph and world record breaking performances in the javelin and 80-meter hurdles.

All she's thinking about now is winning the golf title and helping the Dallas girls basketball team she plays on to win the national championship this winter.

Asked if she planned to turn professional, she said:

"I've some tempting offers, but I don't think I'll accept any of them. I want to win this what-ever-you-call-it golf thing first and then I want to help my basketball team win the national title here in '32, and two years ago, but last year."

Matrimony? No.

There was a ball in the conversation, and Miss Didrikson said:

"I've some tempting offers, but I don't think I'll accept any of them. I want to win this what-ever-you-call-it golf thing first and then I want to help my basketball team win the national title here in '32, and two years ago, but last year."

"Well, how about matrimony?"

"I figured you'd ask that sooner or later. The answer is 'no,' or at least not yet, anyway."

Then there was some more talk about golf, in which she was informed that Bill Hicks, present champion, didn't think she could come a champion without a lot of practice.

"I agree with Miss Hicks," said Miss Didrikson. "I'll take a lot of practice. I'll take a lot of practice of the game to feel that I can be some a champion at it. I have everything it takes to make a champion, including the willingness to practice hard."

HIGH CHAMBER Looks 'em over

By ROY CRAFT
Fritz Kramer, Eugene high school coach, is sounding the call to arms. His 1932 hopefuls will begin turning out next Monday, August 22, and if present plans go through they will get into action September 15 against the Jefferson high school of Portland.

The game had originally been scheduled for September 15, just four days after the start of school, and may be set ahead one day to avoid conflict with another Portland game. If the plans go through, it will meet one of the most important contests of the year just a little more than two weeks after the youngsters start their workouts.

The Purple squad has lost a number of good men through graduation, but a good many letter men are back and Kramer believes he will be able to find enough new material to round out a strong squad. John Hill, who played at center last year, is back, as is his twin brother, Joe, who played quarter. Joe will probably be moved into the line this year. Roy Northam will retain his position at halfback, but Elton Owen, who played at half and fullback last year, may be moved to quarterback. Bill Carsons, last year's tackle, will probably keep his post as Houser Reed, another tackle, will not be shifted. Dean Knight, a center from the 1931 squad, may be moved to guard and Sid Milligan, an end, may keep the same position.

Dick Bishop, big Towle catcher, who played one year of football at Franklin but who was ineligible for football at Eugene last year, will be in the back field. The list includes Leonard Brown, Little brother of Elmer "The Great" Brown of the Oregon squad. Young Elmer played for Roosevelt last year and was an excellent junior high player.

But before we go any farther, here is the complete list of men signed up for football this fall. They'll probably all be out Monday and Kramer will be able to look them over and put them through their paces. They are: Waldo Campbell, Joe Hill, Gordon Deeds, Elton Owen, Sid Milligan, Bud Knight, Houser Reed, Elmer Deeds, Wallace Ruth, Glenn Loyless, Leonard Brown, Eldon Hutchinson, Sred Malkasian, Glenn Harwood, Bob Brownfield, Dan Harvey, Joe Blanks, Ray Sears, Martin Mann, Robert Rickabaugh, Gilbert Watson, Bill Carson, Kenneth Lee, Wyatt Bandy, Delbert Barker, Ray Stewart, Rex Sovard, Owen Perkins, Art Myron, Earl Jones, Forrest Clark, Ivan Kimball, Emmett Benedict, Don Yenne, Don Lewis, Elton Bagshaw, Veril Peters, Earnest Robertson, Albert Kroh, Dick Bishop, Bud Barnes, Junior Williams, Dean Knight, Roy Northam, John Hill, Clarence Potampa, Keith Hough, Bill Herman, Gerald Osborn, Bob Forrester, Albert Kroh, Dick Bishop, Hugh Mercer, Jay Mercer, Ed Turner and Robert Neely.

Hugh and Jay Mercer, brothers, were baseball players this year. They played on the Eugene football squad last year but didn't make his letter, while Jay played regularly on the Roosevelt team. Wayne Wray, a big kid from Roosevelt, Owen Perkins, and Waldo Campbell, a pair of sprinters from this year's track squad, Richard Anderson, second string center, last season, and Sam Marn, a tackle, Gordon Deeds, a guard, and Clarence Potampa, who played on the basketball team, may see a lot of action before the season is over.

Fritz plans to start with the heavy boys right off the bat, giving the boys light practices for two days and then starting two turnouts a day until school starts. Most of the boys on the team were out for spring practice and are ready to go into the difficult movements of their song and dance.

The Eugene team will probably start out with Jefferson Sept. 15 and rest the following Friday. On September 20 they will play Springfield and then have an open date October 7. They will play University high Oct. 14, have the following week open, and on the next four weeks play Cottage Grove, Corvallis, Salem and Roseburg in that order. A game with Medford may be added. The Thanksgiving date is open.
