

BRANCH OFFICE OF BIG LUMBER GROUP WILL HELP MILLS

The establishment of a branch office of the West Coast Lumbermen's association in Eugene October 1 and the extension of all privileges of coast association membership to members of the Willamette Valley Lumbermen's association is regarded here as one of the biggest steps forward the local industry has taken in years.

The announcement of the new plan was made Friday night at the mass meeting of the lumbermen, at which the leaders of the American lumber industry spoke.

The West Coast association will take over the office of the valley association and bear all expenses of maintaining it. H. J. Cox, secretary-manager of the valley association, will have charge of the office, which will be the only branch in the northwest beside that in Portland. Headquarters are in Seattle.

Heretofore the valley lumbermen have paid dues both to their own organization and to the West Coast. Now their West Coast dues will be the only payment made, but the valley association will be maintained to work out local problems such as freight rates that are of no interest to Washington hills.

Inspections and grade markings formerly were made by the West Coast organization to valley mills at extra expense. Now this will all be done under the membership fees. All member mills may use the West Coast Lumbermen's Association stamp which is membership in the West Coast carries with it affiliation with the national organization.

Lumbermen expect the use of the stamps of the West Coast and national associations on their lumber to add to the reputation of valley stock, as the green tree emblem of the national and the West Coast insignia are naturally respected.

The new plan enables closer cooperation in the fight of the lumbermen for reduction of timber taxes, maintenance of the tariff and trade extension.

The present building is filled to capacity by the postoffice, two forest offices and a postal inspector's office. According to the Seattle postmaster's information as contained in an Associated Press dispatch, Oregon will get seven new postoffices and the one at Medford will be improved at a cost of $85,000. On his list were included a $150,000 building for Grants Pass, $55,000 for Ashland, $80,000 for Hillsboro, $90,000 for Hood River, $85,000 for McMinville, and $85,000 for Tillamook.

A new $790,000 building at Spokane, Wash., is expected to be among the first built. Idaho, Montana and Alaska will also get new buildings.

The women of the democratic party are active. Wednesday night they will sponsor a mass meeting at the courthouse at which Joseph K. Carson of Portland will speak on the national platform of their party. Carson was a member of the resolutions committee which drew the platform at Chicago. He is running for mayor of Portland.

The Lane County Tax Conservation League is getting ready for the campaign. W. W. Harcombe, president, has called a meeting for Friday, Sept. 2, at 7:30 p. m. at the chamber of commerce. Candidates will be invited to appear at this meeting and show their platforms to the taxpayers.

Mark's "Marks Time" The Willard Marks senatorial seat question in Lane county is at a standstill awaiting Mr. Marks' decision and the red tape which will be required in case he resigns his senate job to accept the federal bankruptcy commission appointment which has been offered him. The state central committee must notify the Lane committee of a vacancy before the Lane committee can act. C. E. Williamson, of Albany, and Hector Macpherson, rambunctious, have been suggested, and the democrats will probably choose between Mark V. Weatherford of Albany and Samuel Garland of Lebanon, a former senator, for the race. This question is of interest here because of Hector Macpherson's part in the Zorn-Macpherson school moving bill.

HERE'S BIGGEST SHOW FOR WEDNESDAY!

How the eclipse of the sun on Aug. 31 will be caused by the moon's shadow is illustrated in the above diagram, which also shows the narrow belt of total eclipse that will begin in the Arctic ocean at sunrise, cross part of Canada and New England, and end in the Atlantic ocean at sunset.

Annual Father and Son Trip Discovers Wonders

Tracing a life and death battle between a mountain lion and a deer; identifying tracks of wild animals, including the wolf, a mountain lion and cub, a lynx and kitten, mother wildcat and young, and a herd of fifty elk; nature study; a hike to the summit of the Middle Sister; evening camp fires and stories—these were among the highlights of the third and most successful annual Father and Son hike which was held August 20-23 in the Three Sisters region.

The hike was under the direction of C. R. Clark and those who participated were Mr. Clark and son, Keith; Dr. O. R. Gullion and son, Gordon; Howard Hall and son, Howard, Jr.; and George Newberry and his nephew, Joseph Jackson.

The party left town Saturday morning and drove up the McKenzie highway to Frog camp on the summit at the intersection of the highway and the Skyline trail, which follows the crest of the Cascades the full length of Oregon. After lunch at the camp, the hikers strapped on their packs and hit the trail. Each son carried a sizable pack for the first time on a hike.

The trail followed through timber for two hours, then hit the lava beds, and White Branch, a raging torrent in the melting sun, fed entirely by water from the melting ice of the Sisters. No footlog or bridge covers the icy waters, so each dad and boy waded the stream and waded across a bed of rocks so sharp, shoes had to be worn.

Next, a beautiful alpine forest of pure mountain hemlock was entered. Here, the party left the trail followed the previous year, and travelled south, camping about due west of the middle Sister.

Each pair (dad and lad) picked his camp site and laid out equipment, gathered firewood, and cut fresh bows for beds. Father and son worked together and soon the tantalizing odor of food cooking in the outdoors filled the air.

Entries for the home-grown slogan and emblem contest have started coming in to the Register-Guard office. The contest will be announced Saturday and with the prize list announced, it is expected that many more will be coming in during the week.

SUN'S ECLIPSE STORY

halo appearing around the darkened disk of the sun during the total eclipse, said Dr. Caswell. The flame-colored prominences darting out from the sun, thought by scientists to be eruptions of hydrogen and helium, are visible only during an eclipse, the brightness of the sun's light preventing them from being seen at other times.

Of recent years scientists have been interested in observing eclipses in connection with claims of the famous Einstein theory, explained Dr. Caswell. According to this theory, stars send a beam of light toward the earth. As these beams pass the sun, the force of the sun's gravity pulls them toward the great orb, causing them to be bent. Therefore, for the past six months, scientists have been photographing the various stars of the heavens, getting pictures of these beams, which they wish to compare with pictures taken during the eclipse in order to see if the beams are bent and if any of the stars are misaligned.

Wale's Notices

LONDON.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales must have one of the largest and most interesting collections of press clippings in the world. Another volume has been added, bringing the total to over 40, bound in half-morocco, each of which contains nearly 7000 cuttings. Whenever the Prince goes throughout the world, his movements are closely followed by a press clipping bureau, which collects reports from newspapers of every nationality. Each half-year a selection of these is made and they are bound. The collection covers the life of the prince from 16, and every public incident of importance since then is recorded. By the time he was 27 there were more clippings in the prince's collection than in that of his father, King Edward, which covered his lifetime.
