

Achiu And Hill To Meet In Match Friday

SONNENBERGER TO MEET LEG ARTIST ON ARMORY CARD

A Sonnenberger and a leg artist will meet Friday evening when Walter "Sweeney" Achiu, oriental, and Don Hill, of Kansas, engage in the main event on the armory wrestling program.

The two grapplers have never met before and both Owen, promoter, has arranged the match at the request of local fans who want to see them go. Achiu and Hill have lost one thing in common—each has lost a championship match to Wildcat Pete—but it is not probable their bond of understanding will cause them to pull their punches in Friday evening's match.

Want to Meet
Achiu has expressed himself as anxious to meet Hill, and the Kansas boy is more than willing to wrap his legs around the Achiu midsection. It was Hill's punishing body scissors that weakened Pete in their match Friday night and Don will probably bank on his legs to beat Achiu. On the other hand, Hill has never encountered the Chinaman's flying tackles before, and his own stomach may be in for an evening's grief.

Jack Reynolds, world's featherweight champion whose appearance here last week was cut short by the illness of his wife, was to go through Eugene Monday. Mrs. Reynolds was taken to a San Francisco hospital last week and her husband felt a could not leave her at that time.

Mrs. Reynolds is better now and is being taken in a Pullman car to Seattle, where she will convalesce while Reynolds fills wrestling engagements in the north. Jack has promised Wildcat Pete his cut at the welterweight belt and the match may yet be staged. Herb Owen has promised to make sure of Reynolds' appearance this time, though.

YANKS AND CUBS NEARING PENNANTS

By HERBERT W. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
If you're interested in mathematical possibilities, the New York Yankees can clinch the American league flag with 18 more victories while the Chicago Cubs need 22 to assure themselves of the National league pennant.

The Yankees, by winning 18 of their remaining games, can clinch the pennant regardless of what Philadelphia accomplishes. Washington is in an even more dangerous position for the Senators automatically will be eliminated as soon as the Yankees win 13 games.

In the National league Pittsburgh could win all of its remaining games and still finish no better than second if the Cubs can take 22 decisions. Brooklyn will be eliminated as soon as the Cubs win 20 games. It might be remembered too that each time their closest rivals are beaten the Cubs and Yankees will need one fewer victory to clinch.

Cubs Keep On
The Cubs continued their mad dash through the older circuit yesterday, nosing out the New York Giants, 5-4, for their tenth successive triumph.

Kiki Cuyler drove in four runs with a single, home run and long fly, the latter blow knocking home the winning marker in the ninth. Brooklyn's hopes took a sharp drop as the Dodgers lost two decisions to the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-1 and 6-4. Dizzy Dean won his third game in five days in the nightcap although he was relieved by Sylvester Johnson in the ninth.

Cincinnati and Philadelphia split two well-pitched games, the opener going to the Phillies, 2-1, and the second struggle to the Reds, 3-2.

The Yankees maintained their 10½ game lead in the American circuit by splitting two games with the Chicago White Sox. The Sox won the first game, 5-2, as Ted Lyons held the Yankees to five hits, but dropped the second, 11-5, when New York collected 15 hits. Babe Ruth hit a homer in each game to bring his season's total to 30.

Cleveland scored seven runs in the first inning to win the first game in the first series to the Boston Red Sox, 10-1, but dropped the second, 4-3, when Benny Tate clouted a homer in the 11th inning. Detroit pounded Weaver, Brown and Coffman for 21 hits and won a 15-7 victory over Washington.

Parisian Chess
Champ Keeps Title
PASADENA, Cal., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Dr. Alexander Alekhine, Parisian lawyer, remained the world's chess champion today after proving his superiority in international competition, but losing his first game in two years to a Portland, Ore., expert.

Arthur Duke was the only man to beat Dr. Alekhine in a game of the tournament or elsewhere during the last two years. His victory came Saturday night as the tournament neared its close.

The Parisian's match last night ended in a draw, but he had clinched his title in the ninth round. Reuben Fine, New York, held the champion even in 57 moves.

Iring Kashdan, New York, was second in the tournament and won a $150 prize. Dr. Alekhine's victory netted him $250.

BILL CRISP WINS OAKWAY TOURNEY; NEW MEET PLANNED

In the Oakway Mid-Summer Golf tournament, just closed, the old tradition that the low medalist never wins the championship has met with an upset. Bill Crisp, who tied with George Graham for low medal and won on the play-off, emerges from the melee of swinging clubs as the Mid-Summer champion.

In the 36-hole final Sunday Crisp defeated Ford Young, but he had a mighty busy time doing it. During the morning round Young was down three holes at one time but managed to finish at noon only one down. This one down business persisted throughout the afternoon session as he was unable to overcome the lead even by shooting a birdie on the 36th hole, because Bill shot a birdie also.

Shots Steady Golf
Crisp has shot fine, steady golf throughout all his matches, equaling par or better in every match. In Sunday's battle his medal score on the morning round was even par of 72 and he shot a 71 in the afternoon final. Bill hasn't much style but the ball goes where he tells it to.

Sunday's match brought the Mid-Summer tournament to a close, with these results:
Championship, W. L. Crisp.
First flight, Cleo Morelock.
Second flight, Andy Richardson.
Third flight, Earl Sutton.
Fourth flight, Tom Stockstill.
Forty-eight players entered this tournament and enjoyed it to such an extent that they have asked to have it repeated.

Therefore the Oakway Golf course is putting on a fall tournament which will be open to all amateurs in Eugene except low medalist winners and runners up in Oakway's previous tournaments. Players will have until Thursday night, September 8, to turn in their qualifying scores and match play will begin on the Saturday following, one week being allowed to complete each round. Qualifying starts immediately.

WOODBRIDGE, N. J., Aug. 22.—(AP)—A collision in the second five-mile qualifying heat of the season's first racing program at Woodbridge speedway yesterday cost Frankie Farmer, nationally known automobile racer, and Bill Neapolitan, of Philadelphia, their lives yesterday.

The accident occurred as Farmer tried to pass Neapolitan on a bank. Farmer's car turned over and his chest was crushed. Farmer suffered a compound fracture of the skull.

The feature event was won by Bryan Spaulsough of Philadelphia, who covered the 25 miles in 23 minutes, 4 seconds.

"Pepper" Martin May Play Third
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 22.—(AP)—"Pepper" Martin, whose sensational batting in the world series last fall won him fame overnight, may be moved in closer to the spectators.

Gabby Street, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, shifted Martin from center field to third base yesterday in a series of "experiments" designed to strengthen the world champions' defense play. Spary Adams, recently injured, was moved to center, creating the big problem of filling his place at third.

Martin had little chance to show his fitness for third base in the double header against the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday, getting only two chances—one when he caught a line drive and the other when he accepted a throw to retire a runner at third.

MULLIGAN SIGNS
PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Eddie Mulligan, ex-Indian star pitcher, has been signed to the Beaver payroll, Manager Spencer Abbott announced Sunday. Mulligan was released by the Seattle club last week.

CENTER OF LINE WORRIES BEAVER FOOTBALL MENTOR

(This is the first story in a series of seven articles on football prospects at Oregon State college for the coming season. The series will outline the prospects for each position.)

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Aug. 22.—Faced with the difficult problem of filling first string berths from tackle to tackle left vacant by graduation, Oregon State college football coaches are at present lining up prospective candidates on paper in an effort to work out a strong combination for the coming season.

Buck Hammer, veteran center who was graduated last spring, left the biggest hole in the Orange football wall and one which will cause the most concern early in the season. During spring practice, Vic Curtin, ex-Franklin high school of Portland (football and track star, was moved in from end, where he made his initial letter last fall, to the center position.

Aggressive Player
Curtin lacks experience at center but is big, fast and smart. He is aggressive, a hard tackler and blocker, and showed so well at center that the coaching staff decided to leave him there.

Willis Dunforth of Bend, who alternated with Hammer last fall, has more experience than the other center candidates, but lacks the needed drive to make him dangerous. He is a big fellow, weighing 200 pounds and measuring 6 feet 3 inches. He showed considerable improvement during spring practice and is expected to come along just this fall with a bit of expert tutelage.

Reinhold Kandler of Portland, a varsity reserve, showed fine spirit last fall but is smaller than the other center prospects. Clyde Deane of Burlington, Cal., played center for the Ducks last fall and needs only additional experience. He is tall, measuring 6 feet 6 inches and weighs 180 pounds.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—That deep sigh of contentment you hear at regular intervals these balmy summer evenings comes from Forest Hills and has its beginning in the bosoms of the United States lawn tennis officials. If you listen closely you might even hear the stiff-shirted ones rubbing their hands gleefully, and chortling with anticipation.

For glory of glories, the big west side stadium is on the eve of housing a tournament which promises to make money, heavy money, the money that regular intervals these balmy summer evenings comes from Forest Hills and has its beginning in the bosoms of the United States lawn tennis officials. If you listen closely you might even hear the stiff-shirted ones rubbing their hands gleefully, and chortling with anticipation.

The big standouts of the tournament will be our own Ellsworth Vines, in Henri Cochet, the doughty little Frenchman. It's the presence of Cochet that makes the tournament a four-star special instead of just a three-star. Several of our tennis-minded acquaintances have been so cynical as to suggest that "It must have cost the U. S. L. T. A. a tidy sum to get Henri over here." Well, we would not know about that, but if they did pay him a "tidy sum" it was plenty smart business.

We will remember the association at the gate a hundred-fold.

Speaking of Cochet and the money he'll draw through the turnstiles, it would behoove those men of medicine who are making a study of advanced misty, its causes and effects, to be on hand just in case Cochet gets bumped off in one of the early rounds. For if he does, the scene in the officials' room will offer the medical men rare cases in the miseries, the moans, the fits, the tantrums, the weeping willies and the 14-carat stomped-down bodies.

Amst. bolshies it or not, the mighty Frenchman stands a sweet chance of getting the works before he says the quarter-finals. He will be pitted against a field that includes few, if any, soft touches. He'll be playing on strange courts, before strange galleries, and with a high pressure ball.

The latter item, plus the lightning fast playing surfaces of the Forest Hills courts, will work against Cochet. It is no secret that Henri, lacking speed and depending mainly on his accuracy, needs a slow bounce to be at his best. Well, he won't get that in this tournament. Everything will be fast, the players, the court and the ball and maybe the exits.

While a Cochet-Vines duel in the final would offer the swiftest possible drama, the Frenchman's elimination would not be entirely fatal. There are many other foreigners on hand to keep the international angle alive. There's Perry and Austin of England, Jiroh Satoh and Takao Kawabara of Japan and Giorgio De Stefani of Italy.

The good Stefani is principally noted for the fact that he is ambidextrous, if we may use a word learned only yesterday. His right hand shifts his racket from hand to hand in order to play every shot off his forehand. Just why this should make a man famous, he have never understood. For we've been doing it for years and look at us. All it ever got us was the dubious honor of being called a sissy.

Jack Westland of Chicago grived too late to play yesterday. Jack's wrist, star's throat infection has cleared up and he's expected today, and Harrison Johnston, amateur champion in 1920, was on his way here.

The British team took the day off yesterday.

HIGHCLIMBER looks em over

By ROY CRAFT
Stan Kostka, big sophomore football player who will be out for a place on Frink Callison's Webfoot team this fall, is in good condition for play despite an appendicitis operation this summer.

Kostka, who played on the northwest champion freshman team last year, is figured as varsity material this season even though he has been out of the game for several months.

Since his operation, Kostka has been a worry to some of the Oregon followers who fear it may have impaired his chances for early season play. A great many rumors have circulated about this department decided to find out from Kostka himself. We wired him for information and here is his reply: "I am as fit as a fiddle."

ST. PAUL, MINN., Aug. 22

REGISTER GUARD EUGENE
I AM IN WONDERFUL CONDITION WILL BE IN THERE FIGHTING FOR OREGON. PHYSICIANS SAY OPERATION WILL NOT HOLD ME BACK JUST RETURNED FROM TWO WEEKS AT THE LAKE. WEIGH TWO HUNDRED AND TEN POUNDS HAVE BEEN WORKING OUT DAILY.

The boys will be checking into Eugene between now and the tenth of September, when the conference season opens. The players are scattered all over Oregon, with some in outside states, and all are as "hopped up" as Stan Kostka for action to start.

I doubt if there has even been a more enthusiastic outfit than this year's Oregon football squad. When it was first rumored that Dr. Callison was planning to leave Oregon, Webfoot followers were blue. They were quite right in feeling that way, for if Spears quit, some sort of a reaction would set in. It might not be a very encouraging reaction, they figured.

But Spears did quit and Callison was named as his successor. The reaction set in, all right, but it turned out to be a bull market with everybody giving yells under the season to start. The team is made up of men who won football games under Callison when Frink was freshman coach, and it won't be as though a newcomer had taken over the reins.

You know the boys are hopped up when a big guy like Kostka, who ordinarily slays away from the rah rah staff, writes into his telegram, "I'll be in there fighting for Oregon."

Frank Fassett, Eugene high baseball coach who is putting together a team to play Grants Pass a return game, is trying to arrange a very special game for Wednesday evening. He wants to stage a contest between Eugene old timers and the youngsters who play baseball here.

Though Frank will not admit it, this game would probably pit the Heilig theater players against the Townies, with some changes, of course. While we're on the subject, why wouldn't a Heilig-Townie game be worth playing and worth seeing?

The Grants Pass-Eugene game will be played either next Sunday or the Sunday following. The southern team won before 2,000, and Fassett plans to give them a good trimming this time. Freddie Harrison pitched a great game against Grants Pass before and may be used again. Bob Wilshire and Courtney Towne will also probably be available.

For this old timers-youngsters game Wednesday evening, Fassett hopes to have the Townie players and other older heads pitted against the Heilig youngsters and other young players. Wilshire, regular Townie pitcher, would probably work for the old timers and Courtney Towne, Heilig pitcher, would probably work for the youngsters.

DON MOE IN EAST FOR WALKER PLAY

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Francis Oulmet, captain of the United States Walker cup golf team and national amateur champion, expected to get out to the country club today for a short visit and perhaps a round of golf.

Oulmet was stricken with a severe cold during his match with Gene Sarazen last week and Thursday was ordered to bed. His recovery, however, has been rapid.

The United States team appeared in something of a bunch yesterday. Billy Howell, the sensational Virginian; George Voigt and Maurice McCarthy, the New York members of the team, and George T. Dunlop, Jr., played a practice foursome, while Charley Seaver and Don Moe, the Coast Giants, started out on a two-some.

Jack Westland of Chicago grived too late to play yesterday. Jack's wrist, star's throat infection has cleared up and he's expected today, and Harrison Johnston, amateur champion in 1920, was on his way here.

The British team took the day off yesterday.

PORTLAND SPLITS DOUBLEHEADER TO TAKE SAC SERIES

(By The Associated Press)
Portland took the series from Sacramento, three games out of four, by splitting the doubleheader Sunday. The Ducks took the opener, 5 to 0, as Bowman held the Sac to six scattered hits. The last starts, Senators had good pitching by Kenos Nushida, the Japanese midge, and Jimmy De Shong, to win the closing contest, 8 to 2. They allowed eight hits between them, while the Sacramento batters got 14 off McDonald and Jacobs. Portland finished the week still leading the league, and with 10 victories in the last six starts.

San Francisco's Seals won three of the four games played during the week-end with Hollywood, landing in second place by the narrow margin of one percentage over Los Angeles. The Seals were crowded down to fourth place, one game behind the Angels.

Stars, Seals Split
The Stars took the opener of the Sunday doubleheader behind the four-pitching of Emil Yde. The Seals' only chance to score came in the fourth inning when they filled the bases with one out. But Yde asserted his supremacy by striking out the next batter, and a force out retired the side. The second game was billed for seven innings, but at the end of the seventh neither team had scored. Hollywood tallied once in the eighth, and the Seals came back with two runs to take the game and series.

Los Angeles made a clean sweep of the series with the Missions by taking both ends of the Sunday double bill, 12 to 1, and 4 to 3. In the opener Win Ballou held the Reds to seven hits while his mates fell on two mission batters for 18 safeties. The second game was tied at three-all at the end of the seventh, when it was due to finish. It went on until the ninth, when Outfielder Homer Summa singled with the bases full for the winning run.

Oakland's Sunday double header at Seattle was rained out, the Indians taking the series, two games to none.

HEILIG SMOTHERED BY GROVERS, 8-2

COTTAGE GROVE, Aug. 20.—(Special)—In a special game here Sunday afternoon, Cottage Grove defeated the Heilig theater team of Eugene, 8 to 2. Although the result of this game did not affect Heilig's standing at the top of the league, it gave Cottage Grove a clear title to second place with eleven games won and three lost.

Cottage Grove pounded Townie's deliveries for 13 safe bingles and did not make an error in the field, while the Heilig team could gather but six scattered hits off Johnson, who struck out 11 men. The visitors made three costly errors.

Heilig made both runs in the second inning when J. Mercer was hit by a pitched ball and scored a minute later on Townie's triple. Townie scored on a perfect squeeze play by Bishop. Cottage Grove scattered its scoring throughout the game, having men on bases in every inning but the third. The box score:

RECORD BUSINESS SEEN AT MARKET

No change in the price of commodities at the Producers' Public Market were noted Monday. Stall renters report a record business Saturday on the occasion of the anniversary celebration and never before have such crowds thronged the big building.
