

"OREGON LOGGERS" RETURNING SUNDAY

The Oregon Loggers, Lane county's own entertainers, will be back in Eugene again Sunday and Monday for a gala homecoming. The troupe of real woodsmen from Veneta who left here a month ago determined to make the "big time" succeeded beyond their fondest expectations. When they stage their show at the Colonial their friends in Eugene will see an act that enthused packed houses nightly for a solid week at the RKO Orpheum in Portland, packed and jammed theaters in Astoria, Tillamook, Vancouver and many other places. They will see the act that almost stole the show at the Pendleton roundup.

The Loggers are now on their way south to fill engagements contracted for Roseburg, Medford, Grants Pass, Ashland, Yreka and other points. They were prevailed upon to stop over in Eugene by the Eugene chamber of commerce and their other friends who desire to see their act as they now stage it.

The boys are now "big time" radio hits also. Their popularity during the week they played over KEX recently was so great that the station is now negotiating for a six months contract with them as soon as they have finished their present engagements.

Guitars, banjos, the old-fashioned fiddle, mouth harp and even the humble "jaws" are their instruments, while all sing. "Rigger Slim" yodels, an art he learned while calling signals to the "whistle-punk" in the woods. The six, with Paul Bunyan Jim Lawson, their master of ceremonies, are "Curly" Long, "Ole" Isaacson, "Hooker" Ritz, "Bull-Cook" Hall, "Whistle-Punk" Nelson, and "Rigger Slim" Lowe.

For a moment let's forget all the glorious fun there is in owning an electric refrigerator. Forget, if you can, all the marvelous frozen desserts, frosty salads, chilly bouillon, icy drinks, it helps to make. And forget its convenience, and the protection it offers by keeping food and milk fresh and wholesome.

Let's just look at an electric refrigerator from a strictly business standpoint—size it up purely as a wise investment.

Count up the vegetables, the fruit, the meat, the butter that adequate refrigeration keeps from being wasted. That is thrift! Count up the many intriguing delicacies you can make from little bits of this and that left over from yesterday's dinner. That is thrift!
