A NEWSPAPER IS A CITIZEN OF ITS COMMUNITY.

THIRTEEN IMPORTANT ISSUES

IN addition to making choices for president, vice-president, United States senator, congressman, state representatives, and city and county offices, voters of Oregon are going to have a big legislative chore ahead of them November 8.

There will be thirteen different issues on the ballot, some referred to the people by the last legislature, some referred by referendum petition, some initiated by petition since the last legislature met.

THESE OREGON HARBORS

carried on this summer the problem might have been beyond the means of the community. The stores of canned goods will be a great bulwark against suffering.

There are certain other aspects of the program which are very important. Great quantities of fruits and vegetables which would have been wasted on the farms have been salvaged.

For out of every dozen jars the Red Cross has helped each family to put up it has required that three be given back to aid some still more needy or helpless family.

The Lane county plan is not perfect, but it is so outstanding that a county court is coming all the way from Vancouver, Washington, to get pointed on it.

The plan isn't perfect, nor even so good as Miss Annin hopes to make it in another year, but it is an outstanding performance in constructive charity which helps people meet their problems without destroying their spirit.

IN the report on Oregon's small harbors, just completed by the University School of Business Administration, Alfred L. Lomax has compiled a wealth of material and made certain suggestions which should be of great value in developing a practical and coherent port program for vast stretches in Oregon.

The old time geographies used to say that the Pacific Coast was inferior to the Atlantic in the matter of harbors.

As a matter of fact, the Pacific Coast, especially in Oregon, offers more harbor opportunities than does the Atlantic.

THE small nodules of tissue called the parathyroid glands are found in pairs on the back surface of the two portions of the thyroid gland.

Removal of the parathyroid glands results in the production of convulsions and an excessive sensitivity of the nervous system.

Again one must differentiate between complete absence of the secretion of these glands and partial absence.

No one of these ports at the present time has the developed industry or the supporting back country to compete with the great shipping points in world trade.

Commodities coming in; agricultural and dairy products going out; forest products in bulk or manufactured can be handled in sufficient volume through a combination of these ports where backhaul by truck or rail is kept to a minimum.

The Lomax report is valuable because it does not attempt to paint a great vision. It reveals an opportunity by presenting the actual facts and figures on present conditions.

The report might be used as the starting point for the planning of an extremely practical port system.

Governor Meier has received Representative Holman's request for the firing of the profane Elmsig with silence which means that Mr. Elmsig will stay.

The editor of the Corvallis paper questions whether Lane county's offer to give away farms can be closed so generously these days.

Provides the Rhode Island connection. The week opinion that while Mr. Hines may have been profane, the governor regards it as equally stupid to talk too much to the papers.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Even if there happens to be one less Hoover here after next March, there will still be plenty.

Washington seems to attract Hoovers. Not the idealist's relatives, but just plain old Hoover.

It isn't a common name. Lots of people never heard of it before they read about Herbert Hoover.

One of the ways to be reminded of this large group of local Hoovers is to have a photograph blog up or sink into heavy loss of life.

Richard S. Hoover was doing off to the east to find out how the digester happened. He pops from relative obscurity into print, inevitably after a big marine tragedy.

This Hoover, famous enough among shipping men, is assistant director of the Bureau of Navigation and Steamship Inspection.

He is large and stout. He worked up through the S. I. S. after joining it in 1903. His cases have included the General Slocum disaster—in which a thousand persons were burned and drowned at New York in 1904.

other cases, a failure to utilize calcium properly with degenerative changes in the bones.

Such patients tend to lose weight and to have also disorders of behavior which are associated with the changes in the nervous system.

When the condition is properly diagnosed and treated by the administration of suitable preparations of the parathyroid gland, there is lessened tension, a decrease in irritability and a disappearance of fatigue.

Sudden and severe overactivity of these glands, as occurs rarely, brings about extended changes in the human body.

At the same time there is a thickening of the bones of the skull on, in Im over 30! The success of the self-help program does not mean that there will be no poor relief program in Lane county this winter.

People cannot live entirely on canned fruits and vegetables. If there is not enough work and if money runs out, they must have help to obtain the other necessities of food and clothing and shelter.

The point is that without the self-help program
