BANKS TO AID DEPOSITORS IN CLOSED FIRM

Per Cent Of Deposits In Springfield Bank Made Available

FEDERAL LOAN URGED Receiver To Be Appointed At Once; Bankers Here Outline Plan

National bankers of Lane county Thursday announced a plan of relief for depositors of the closed First National bank of Springfield by which 10 per cent of the deposits of the Springfield bank will be made available shortly to depositors.

A receiver will be placed in charge of the closed institution at once. The bankers will urge him to apply to the federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation immediately for a loan through which assets of the bank which could not otherwise be converted into cash within three or four months can be cashed in, making a larger amount available to depositors without having to wait the customary time for liquidation.

Offer Clerical Help The county bankers have offered clerical assistance from their staffs to the national banking division of the United States treasury department in order to expedite work of paying deposit balances and processing approved claims.

Several plans were considered at a conference between the directors of stockholders of the closed bank and officials of the other county banks, but the plan adopted of giving out by paying 50 per cent of the deposits on approved claims was chosen as the one the bankers hoped most fair to all parties concerned.

$45,000 Available The county banks coming to the relief of the Springfield depositors are the First National and United States National banks of Eugene, the First National of Cottage Grove and the First National of Junction City. H. J. Edmonds, president of the U. S. National of Eugene, and O. A. Housh, cashier of the First National of Eugene, announced the plan Thursday afternoon in behalf of all four of the banks.

Here Are Tips How To Help Battle 'Grab'

Here are several more tips on how every citizen can be of help in the last weeks of the fight against the Zorn-Macpherson bill: INVITE your friends from other parts of the state to visit Eugene and see for themselves the huge plant of the university which would be destroyed.

UNIVERSITY MASS MEETING IS SET

Letters To Be Tickets To Pep Gathering Set For Wednesday Marking the beginning of a concentrated barrage of letters from Lane county citizens attacking the Zorn-Macpherson school wrecking bill, a public mass meeting of Lane county citizens will be held at the Eugene armory Wednesday evening, Oct. 19, starting at 7:30 o'clock. It was announced Thursday by E. G. Harlan, secretary of the Eugene chamber of commerce.

Speakers are to be selected by the university affairs committee of the chamber, which will outline the progress of the fight to save the university and will tell of the fight to be made in the future. A musical entertainment will be given from 7:30 to 8:15 and arrangements are being made to accommodate at least 5000 persons in the armory.

"All during the campaign citizens have been asking members of the university affairs committee how they could help in the fight to save the university for Eugene, Harlan said. "At this meeting they will learn all the details of the plan which we hope will result in the sending of 100,000 letters to friends and relatives of Lane county citizens, urging their earnest consideration of the school wrecking bill before voting on it November 7."

The musical entertainment will feature the University of Oregon band, Abbie Green's orchestra, Ted Charles piano solos and Hal Hatton's tap troupe.

BRITISH TARIFF REVISIONS IN OPERATION

New Schedule Of Duties Serves To Reduce Sales By U. S. MORE CHARGES DUE Northwest Lumbering Hit By Preference Given Canadians

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Drastic tariff changes expected to eliminate from $75,000,000 to $150,000,000 in sales by the United States to this country went into effect today. They affect agricultural and manufactured product exports from all sections of the United States, and accordingly all wage earners dependent upon such exports. The business, it is intended, will be transferred to members of the British commonwealth of nations.

The new rates, including some of the most radical schedule changes in this country's history, were drawn up during the Ottawa imperial economic conference. They are the result of agitation which became widespread with passage of the Smoot-Hawley tariff act in the United States more than two years ago, which Canadians and others said reduced their market.

More Restrictions Due The principal products affected are: Iron and steel, agricultural, textiles, chemicals, drugs, glass, automobiles, tobacco, vegetable oils, leather, canned fruit, toilet accessories, aluminum products, asphalt, rubber, shoes and shoes, China and porcelain ware, electrical apparatus such as radios, electric coal, and others of lesser importance.

More restrictions on United States exports are to come, these from Great Britain and other empire units. Britain's changed schedules will be announced next week. Canada's new schedule was announced yesterday by Premier R. B. Bennett.

Lumber Included The changes to be announced by Great Britain will affect principally such exports from the United States as soft woods, metal products including copper, lead, zinc, cobalt, all in lesser quantities.

Callicotte And Mooney Meet In San Quentin

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Paul M. Callicotte, who says he unwittingly placed the bomb which killed ten and injured 40 persons in the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness day parade, today met Thomas J. Mooney, who is serving a life sentence here for the bombing.

Mooney, who has remained in prison despite widespread efforts in the last 15 years to obtain his release, and Callicotte were allowed to talk alone in the office of the captain of the prison guard. Officers watched through the windows as they conferred.

Witnesses said Callicotte shook with emotion as he approached Mooney and did a great deal of talking, his first remark being: "I never saw you before in my life. I never saw you before," witnesses said Mooney replied.

After the meeting Callicotte said: "He might have jumped down my throat for keeping him in prison for 15 years for not telling before. But he just looked at me and questioned with his eyes. I have no further statement to make."

NATIONAL FORESTS GET GOOD RAINFALL

The Sitkum and Cascade national forests received a good rainfall Wednesday and Thursday, but fire patrolmen are still being held ready for action in case the weather should become warm again.

R. S. Shelley, supervisor of the Sitkum forest, and Foster Steele, assistant supervisor of the Cascade, announced that fire patrolmen were being assigned to other duties, but will be sent back to their posts again soon unless more rain is received.

The Sitkum forest had a heavier rainfall than the Cascade. All the western area received half an inch or more. The heaviest rainfall in the Cascade area was on Fall Creek, where the ground was wet down to a depth of two inches. The Castle Rock lookout reported half an inch of rain. That is in the area in which forest fires were burning. The fires are essentially cold now. Reserve reported .99 inches and Oakridge .94. In general the rainfall was heaviest in the northern and western part of the forest.

"Our closures in hazardous parts of the forest are being maintained," Mr. Steele said, "although hunters and visitors will be issued permits to enter them. We can't tell, of course, if the rains will continue, but if we should get another good rain within a week, we will be glad to open the forest."

5 New Scout Troops To Be Formed Here

The establishment of two new Boy Scout troops on the east side, two new ones on the west side and a Catholic troop will be started immediately, as a result of the survey recently conducted in Eugene schools to determine the number of boys not now enrolled in scout troops.

The survey, completed and turned over to the scout headquarters by H. R. Gould, superintendent of city schools, shows that there are 271 boys of the ages of 12 and 13 in the Eugene city schools, 80 of whom are enrolled in scout troops. The survey also showed 132 boys of 11 years of age who will be of scout age within a year, necessitating still greater troop expansion in order to enroll at least every fourth boy which is the object of the scout ten-year plan in which the Wallamet county is participating.

Explaining the purposes of the ten-year plan, Lloyd A. Payne, member of the executive council of the scout, addressed the Eugene Active SEE BOY SCOUTS STORY PAGE 14

Extradition Of Insull Is Yet Predicted Here

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Although Samuel Insull, Sr., refused to surrender his passport to the American consul at Athens, state department officials remained confident today they had maneuvered the former utilities magnate into a position assuring his eventual return to this country to face embezzlement charges.

While Insull retains actual physical possession of his passport, officials held that the mere fact the state department had requested its surrender would make it impossible for Insull to flee from Greece to any other country. Remaining in Greece, he faced two alternatives, according to officials:

1—Extradition to this country when the Greece-American extradition treaty is formally promulgated.

2—Deportation by Greece to another country. In this event, officials felt confident he would be deported to some country with which the United States already has an extradition treaty.

Veterans Present Petition Asking For Donations of Food, Clothing LONG WAIT IS ENDED Bonus Seekers Meet With Chief Executive in White House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP)—President Hoover, who in the past has consistently refused to receive delegations seeking to present demands for cash payment of the soldiers' bonus, today suddenly reversed that policy and granted an audience to a group of men and women from the Bonus Expeditionary Force's recent convention.

The group, headed by Captain Hoke Smith, saw the president for two minutes and presented a petition which contained a strong censure of Mr. Hoover for his part in the bonus army eviction from Washington last July. Hines Takes Petition "We were received by the president and shown every courtesy," Smith said after the brief conference. When the delegation of 12 appeared at the White House it seemed likely they would be turned away without reaching the president. This had been the custom in the past. But today Walter Newton, the president's political secretary, talked to Smith for nearly an hour and then escorted the group in to see Mr. Hoover.

Director Frank T. Hines of the veterans' administration was with Mr. Hoover when the petition was presented. Hines, rather than Mr. Hoover, actually received the petition from the hands of Captain Smith. Newton said this was done because it was impossible for the White House or the president to receive a petition of censure against the office of the president.

Allegiance Pledged "As leader of the B. E. F., I told the president we all swore allegiance to our organization and to our flag," Smith reported later. Another member of the delegation quoted the president as greeting them with the words: "My friends, I am glad to see you."

Smith and the other members of the delegation, including two war nurses, reached the White House at 10:20 a. m., while the president was laying the cornerstone for the new supreme court building. They waited SEE HOOVER-B. E. F. STORY PAGE 2

Borah Assails Roosevelt For Silence About Bonus

MALAD, Idaho, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah, who has refused to support Herbert Hoover for reelection to the presidency, told a rural audience here that no candidate was "fit" to hold public office unless he announced his views on the bonus—before election. The statement was interpreted as an attack on the democratic presidential candidate's name was not mentioned. Borah was quoted in an interview before the national convention as opposing the bonus, but has made no public statement on the subject. The question is one of many republican campaign issues stressed. Borah recently was reelected, called for his views on the subject. President Hoover immediately announced his opposition and a few days ago former President Calvin Coolidge charged that Roosevelt's silence on the bonus had impeded economic recovery. "Let me say this to you," Borah stated, leveling a scathing attack on the Democratic party, "any man who definitely states his stand on this bonus question before election, is not fit to hold office after election."

The Idahoan would not develop the theme. He did not mention Roosevelt by name, but it was apparent that it was the democratic nominee he was referring to. The fiery Idahoan left no doubt of his position on the bonus. Expressing high admiration for the veteran who fought overseas, Borah decried and unambiguously condemned excessive expenditures.

"We have given them six billion dollars since the war and now they want us to hand out two and a half billion more," he said. "In my judgment the rank and file of the American Legion is not in favor of that bonus resolution passed at Portland. Like many organizations—the republican and democratic parties included—the Legion is controlled by a small group of men. I choose to believe that the Portland resolution was the result of their activities and not the reflection of what the boys who fought overseas think of the question." Borah wound up his pungent comment on this phase of the speech by observing that the United States could not "become the slave of any organization group."
