

HANEY TALKS ON DEMO PLATFORM AT RALLY HERE

By TOM POTWIN

Roet E. Haney of Portland, former United States district attorney and shipping board member, stumping the state for the democratic platform and candidates, told 100 persons assembled at the courthouse Thursday night that the political situation in Oregon will be changed this year.

"It will only take a democratic gain of 15,000 votes to make Oregon democratic this year, and this year our party will get the necessary 15,000," he said.

He outlined the democratic national platform, urging repeal of the eighteenth amendment, government control of electric power, expansion of governmental costs, expansion of credit to the states, unemployment insurance, and lower tariff.

He attacked the currency system maintained by the republican administration, declaring that the richest lands in the world—Argentina and the Far East—are not trading with us because we won't take their silver into account.

He declared that high tariffs have not helped industry. "Farmers are getting 27 cents for their wheat while there is a 42 cent tariff," he said. He said that the lumber tariff has not solved problems of the industry.

He lauded Franklin D. Roosevelt and other democratic candidates, urging their election for "a new deal."

Earlier in the evening Haney was guest of honor at a banquet given by the Young Democratic club at the Osburn hotel.

THEODORE JUNIOR CRITICIZES F. D.

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Governor General Theodore Roosevelt, son of the late president, criticized the policies of his distant relative, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and urged the re-election of President Hoover today.

The governor general made the campaign talk by short wave radio to the United States.

"We hold no brief for the intellectual descendants of Bryanism," he said, "who still seem to believe that there is something sacrosanct in a dollar bill, no matter how many billions of them are printed, providing it be done by government process; who vaguely believe that in some fashion by multiplying dollars you multiply wealth; whereas all sensible people know that you merely decrease the purchasing power of exchange."

"I do not accuse the democratic standard bearer of advocating all these theories. However, they are all held in lesser or greater degree by component elements of the group that is backing him, and any sensible individual knows that when you marry you do not merely marry your wife, but her family as well."

Student Voters Favor President

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 28.—(AP)—presidential poll taken in 47 colleges and universities in 32 states completed today gave President Hoover a lead of more than 1 1/2 to 1 over Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Results of the straw vote as tabulated by the Daily Princetonian were: Hoover, 20,280; Roosevelt, 18,212; Norman Thomas, 10,470; William Z. Foster, 715.

In 29 eastern colleges, Mr. Hoover was a 3 to 1 choice over Roosevelt, with Thomas running a close third. Roosevelt was a 7 to 1 favorite in 11 southern institutions. Nine mid-western colleges gave the president a 2 to 1 lead, which was increased to almost 4 to 1 in seven far western schools.

Portland Firm to Build Umpqua Jetty

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Kern and Kibbe, Portland firm, submitted the low bid of $274,850 for construction of a jetty at the mouth of the Umpqua river at Reedsport, Ore. Major Oscar O. Kuentz, district engineer for the army board, announced.

Chief item of cost in building the jetty is 150,000 tons of stone.

THEY HEAD THE OREGON DADS!

Plans for the greatest "Dad's Day" in the history of the university have been completed. The event will take place Saturday, and 400 fathers of Oregon students are expected to attend. Here are the officers and executive committee of the organization. Left to right—Sam H. Baker, Grants Pass; Allen F. Hunt, Burlingame, Calif.; Carl Haberlach, Tillamook; Dr. George A. Massey, Klamath Falls; Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, formerly president of the university, who six years ago organized the "Dads"; Charles Hall, Portland; Mrs. Marion Phy Ager, executive secretary; C. C. Hall, Portland; O. Laugaard, Portland, President last year; J. C. Stevens, Portland; W. Lair Thompson, Portland, president; Wilson H. Jewett, Eugene, secretary; Paul T. Shaw, Portland; and W. C. Reugnitz, Portland.

miss the game you'll miss a lot of fun. Bob Callahan, president of the Merchants' association of the chamber of commerce; Gonzaga has a wonderful team, a fighting spirit and a lot of tricks. It should be an exciting game to watch.

Bulldogs Work Out

The Gonzaga Bulldogs arrived in Eugene on the 11:40 train from the north, and went through a light workout on Hayward field early in the afternoon. They planned to turn over the field to the Webfoots at 4 o'clock and return to the Eugene hotel for "skull practice."

Big Max Krause, giant fullback, arrived with the Gonzaga team and is in excellent shape for the game, according to Pecarovich. The pun, which Krause swallowed early in the week, is no longer with him and Krause will start at his regular position. He is a triple-threatener and kicks, passes and carries the ball with equal ease.

Interviewed at the hotel, the Gonzaga coach admitted that he plans to throw everything but the water bucket at the Oregon team.

Will Shoot Works

"We journey south to play San Francisco university next week," said Pecarovich, "but this is our big chance to upset another coast conference team. We beat Idaho and though the Webfoots are strong, we believe we have a good chance to defeat them, too."

"We're set to shoot the works here and aren't afraid to admit it. The boys are in perfect shape for a hard game, and if the field is dry we'll give Callison a men a battle."

Pecarovich would not, of course, reveal his plan of attack but Gene Shields, assistant Oregon coach, who has been scouting the Gonzaga team believes it is in the air that the Bulldogs will strive for victory.

Callison, Oregon coach, is gone too certain of Oregon's chances Saturday. With the freshmen running Gonzaga plays this week, the varsity was at times playing in a daze, but Callison is hoping that the Oregon power will slow down the Bulldog attack.

Cripples On Bench

The Webfoot starting combination may include the same 11 men who opened against Idaho. Bernie Hughes will be at center; Gardner Frye and Dutch Clark at guards; Nilsson and Pope at tackles; Wishard and Morse at ends. Oregon's backfield probably will be made up of Bowerman at quarter; Temple and either Gee or Poppeljak at halves, and Bobbitt at fullback.

Mike Mikulak, regular fullback, has practiced all week with the team, but it is doubtful if he'll play. Mike, however, can be rushed into the game in a pinch. The same is true for Captain Morgan, whose broken right hand has responded nicely to treatment.

Callison may play Stan Kostka part of the time. Stan has been out of competition for four weeks and needs work to get in shape for the Oregon State and Southern California games, which come on successive Saturdays. Kostka has been replaced by Gee and Pepelnjak and both have done excellent work. Webfoot fans are eager to learn if Oregon's overwhelming 32-0 victory over Idaho is an indication of newly developed power or it's just a flash in the pan. Gonzaga defeated Idaho, 39 to 7 and held Oregon State to a 19 to 16 score. Hence, Saturday's game should be an indication of Oregon's real strength.

RADIO FUND STORY

James Pierson, manager, declared. Several members of the University of Oregon band, under the direction of John Stehn, will appear on the streets Saturday morning and at the sale, advertising the event.

Members of the committee fighting the Zorn-Macpherson bill have set a goal of $1000 more than that obtained by Thursday of this week. It will take this much additional to assure the success of the program fighting the measure during the remaining time before election, it was said. Members of the committee hope that sufficient funds would be obtained from the auction sale, the women's club benefits being held Friday and the Junior chamber of commerce dance at Willamette park Wednesday, Nov. 2, to swell the total to the desired amount.

Escaped Prisoners Force Ride to City

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Forced by three men who escaped the Montezano jail last night to drive them to Portland where they tied him securely and left him in his cab, Clarence Miller, Montezano cab driver, today aided local officers in a search for the escaped prisoners.

The three men, W. B. Buchanan, Harold L. McDougall, and Paul Vaden, got Miller's cab last night by a ruse, Miller told police here.

Called to a restaurant in Montezano by one of the trio, Miller was forced at point of a gun to drive the three to Portland where they forced him to turn into a little-used street and trussed him securely.

The men broke jail when they overpowered County Jailer Jack Neinan, stole his pants and left him roped in one of his own cells.

LAYING HENS RACE TO DUCK THE SUNSHINE

But L. C. Beall, Jr., Knows What to Do

Western poultrymen are well acquainted with the pedigree S. C. White Leghorn duck bred by Mr. L. C. Beall, Jr., of Vashon, Washington. He uses a laying wash containing NOPCO XX Concentrated Vitamin D in it—a vital essential for laying hens' health and egg production in summer.

Mr. Beall, Jr., says, "In very warm weather a bird won't stay out in the sunshine unless she is forced to do so and then she is uncomfortable. They enjoy the sunshine but it is a question as to the amount of ultra violet rays received by them, particularly during the late summer months when the atmosphere is quite full of smoke, thus prohibiting the ultra violet rays passing through. We consider the NOPCO XX cheap insurance in keeping up the summer production."

Mr. Foster, Western Manager of NOPCO, assures readers of this paper real information if they care to write for a special letter-size folder telling "What 15 Professors of Poultry Husbandry Say About Feeding Vitamin D." If you're not a poultryman—show this ad to your neighbor who is. The folder is quite worth while. No charge—postpaid. Address letter to NOPCO, 465 California Street San Francisco.

of them were lodged in poorhouses or schools throughout London.

Spiked Clubs Found. Sir John Gilmour, home secretary, informed commons today that 19 policemen were injured, two seriously, in Hyde Park yesterday, and that 58 demonstrators were hurt, making a total casualty list of 77.

Twelve arrests were made. Police found a truck loaded with 154 ash sticks, some of which had spikes or nails in them. He praised the work of the police and appealed for public support to maintain order.

Police dispersed a crowd that tried to rush the doors of Marblestone police court today for the hearing of eight of those arrested yesterday. Only one of the accused was an out-of-town marcher.

Law Change Expected. Quiet was restored last night after a tumultuous afternoon in which thousands of police battled with a crowd estimated at nearly 100,000 in Hyde Park. The rioting centered about the Marble Arch, entrance to the park, where mounted police rode down the crowds and foot police, wielding truncheons, were met with clubs and stones.

The disturbances were renewed briefly late last night at the marble arch, but the crowd soon dispersed, chiefly because of a chilly wind. It was announced that the government is introducing a bill in parliament on Nov. 8, mitigating somewhat the rigorous application of the means test. The means test, by which applicants for relief must prove their utter dependence on the dole, is one of the chief objects of the demonstrations.

Cincinnati, the president said, "are an indication of where you will stand on Nov. 8."

"If there should be a change in administration—" the president said at one point, but the crowd interrupted. "There will not," it shouted.

When Mrs. Longworth boarded the train at Cincinnati, she wore a black dress lauded in design, black and white checked woolen sports scarf, black hat, black coat and black shoes.

David S. Ingalls, Ohio's republican gubernatorial candidate, after greeting the president with a boyish "Hello, Mr. President; see what I'm glad to see you!" drew Mrs. Longworth out to the rear of the platform to confront the cheering crowds.

Before the train pulled out of the Winston Place station, Mrs. Longworth started back into the car, but Mrs. Hoover took her arm and pulled her to the platform edge and, arm in arm, they received the crowd's final ovation.

L. F. Klink Winner Of Damage Action

A circuit court jury Friday morning returned a verdict for L. F. Klink, defendant in a suit brought by Mrs. L. A. Early of Medford.

Mrs. Early sought $2500 damages alleged to have been sustained in an automobile accident.

The case of Fred Bolin against S. D. McGuire to recover $400 alleged due for services was started in court Friday. James K. King represented Bolin and Calkins and Calkins acted for the defendant.

Members of the jury were Minnie Holcomb, Fletcher C. England, Frank B. Harlow, Walter B. Kingsley, Ethel

Biddle, Chester F. Flint, Mrs. Harry Whitney, John R. Wellborn, James B. Padlock, L. R. Gray, Minnie G. Chapman and Kate H. Porter.
