

WILLAMETTE "U" HEAD IS AGAINST ZORN SCHOOL BILL

SALEM, Nov. 2.—(Special)—Carl G. Doney, president of Willamette university, has issued a statement branding the Zorn-Macpherson bill to move university, law and normal schools, establish junior colleges, as "extremely expensive and educationally less efficient." Dr. Doney issued his statement as an educator and not as president of Willamette university.

"To throw institutions together forcibly, expecting thereby to create a unity of effort and objective is simply impossible," Doney said.

"Best educational practice does not increase the size of student bodies," Dr. Doney said. He declared the present enrollment at the university and college is already too large. His statement follows:

"I believe that had Oregon originally centered its work in higher education in one institution, it would have been wise. Under the present conditions, I think it would be extremely expensive and educationally less efficient to consolidate the university and the college. I do not think the union of the two schools on one campus would reduce expenses and I am strongly convinced it would not be to the educational advantage of the students. Under the direction of a wise chancellor, advised by a careful board, the two institutions can be gradually brought together in policy and organization and made to function as an organic unit. To throw them together forcibly, expecting thereby to create a unity of effort and objective is simply impossible."

"A number of other states have two or more institutions of higher learning that are operating under arrangements which are economical and educationally satisfactory. I mention Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Iowa and Montana. Moreover, most of the institutions with very large enrollments are forced to recognize a definite weakness in their educational program because of the size of the student group. They are seeking to overcome this serious defect by breaking the student body into small groups, employing something like the preceptorial system of Princeton, the freshmen group of Harvard, of Yale, etc. Why should we in Oregon make matters worse by placing two large groups upon the same campus when they now are too large for the best educational results?"

FINED FOR LIQUOR

Elmer P. Hinds of Eugene was fined $350 Thursday afternoon in justice court when he pleaded guilty to possession of liquor.

Opening with a musical concert in the auditorium of the Eugene high school Sunday, Nov. 6, at 3 p. m. and with open house in all the public schools besides radio broadcasts during the week, Eugene's observance of National Education week will start here next week, it was announced Thursday by H. R. Gould, superintendent of Eugene schools.

National Education week is observed all over the United States from Nov. 6 to Nov. 13 and is for the purpose of informing the public of the activities of the public schools.

Parents and anyone interested are urged to attend the open houses at the various schools and observe the work going on, Mr. Gould said. Open houses will be scheduled later, some to be in the afternoon in the form of teas, some in the evening for a program and many schools are planning to invite people to attend school all day.

The concert at the Eugene high school Sunday, inaugurating the week here, will consist of band, orchestra and choral music. Music will also be featured in the radio programs to be given by the schools during the week. An art exhibit, with students doing classroom work, will be given in a window of the McMorran and Washburne store all day Tuesday.

suggested that each state be allowed to handle the liquor problem as it saw fit with the federal government protecting states that chose to bar intoxicating beverages.

Coast States Aided

The president spoke also of direct aid given to the Pacific coast by federal reconstruction agencies. He recalled that the reconstruction corporation had advanced funds for the San Francisco-Oakland bridge and for the bringing of Colorado river water into southern California. He added these "enterprises will finally expend upwards of $400,000,000 for the invigoration of the industries of California and the whole nation."

He recalled also that the national credit association and the reconstruction corporation at one time advanced over $1,500,000 to 409 banks in California, 62 in Oregon and 99 in Washington. In addition, he added, the government had expended or let contracts for projects during the last four years totaling $100,000,000 in California, $45,000,000 in Oregon and $50,000,000 in Washington.

Mr. Hoover quoted numerous figures to show that if tariff barriers were lacking there would be "a flood of goods outside our boundaries from the north, the south, across the Atlantic and the Pacific."

Prunes, Wool Protected

He said lemons could be laid down in New York from Europe at $3.50 a box while the California product is sold there for $9.50. He said New Zealand butter could be sold on the Pacific coast at less than 14 cents a pound while similar domestic grades now bring 22 cents a pound.

"Raisins and figs of Fresno and prunes of the Willamette and Santa Clara valleys," he said, "would sell in the common markets of the east at rates that would, despite the low level of present prices, reduce the returns to those producers by nearly 50 per cent."

"The price of California wool in the Boston market is 38 cents today, whereas your Australian competitors could sell the same kind of wool there for less than 22 cents, and the difference is due solely to the tariff."

He said the Pacific coast fish industries had been confronted "with the greatest peril" as a result of depreciation in Japanese currency, and that other Pacific coast industries, such as canned vegetables, dried fruits, beans, pulp, iron and steel "may also be threatened with a similar peril."

Saying he had asked the tariff commission to investigate the situation, he added that "if the findings warrant, I shall at once increase the protection to these industries."

Scout Leaders to Have New Courses

Training courses for scoutmasters and patrol leaders of Eugene and Lane county Boy Scout troops were outlined at a meeting of scout leaders Wednesday night at the chamber of commerce.

The patrol leaders' training course will begin Wednesday, Nov. 9, and continue until Dec. 14. Meetings will be held in the evening at the chamber of commerce.

Scoutmasters will start their course with an overnight camp Nov. 12. Their study will continue eight weeks.

Reports and comparisons of troop activity were made at the meeting.

PLANS SHAPED FOR BIG ELECTION PARTY

Plans for the Register-Guard's big election night party Tuesday are developing rapidly, and a lively program is assured those who come to the armory to enjoy the fun and get all the late election returns.

Herb Owen is lining up his fighters for the ring card. Some real tough kids are to be picked, and when protégés of Judge Barnard and Fred Fisk put on the mitts, there'll be a lively combat.

Election this year is causing more interest by far than the last presidential election, and those who remember the Register-Guard's party at that time can just put it down that this one will be bigger yet.

ALLEGED ROBBERS ARRESTED IN BEND

A state police officer and deputy sheriff went to Bend Thursday to try to pin nine summer cabin robberies and a service station holdup on Willard Randall and Kenneth Randall of Springfield, arrested by Deschutes authorities on a robbery charge.

Lane officers believe the two men are the gunmen who held up the Lost Creek service station Tuesday night, threatening John Millern, the proprietor. A description of the automobile the men drove will be checked with the car held at Bend. Officers believe they may find the gun there, too.

I. D. Larimer, J. Hugh Pruett, George H. Turner and Mrs. Roy Stien reported that their cabins on the have wanted him to feel at home. Tom Swarts, likewise a visitor, was given a vote of 29 to 8 over Cal Pryor for sheriff. Judge Barnard led Fred Fisk 23 to 11, L. C. Moffitt outscored Vera Todd Crow 21 to 13 for the school office, and Marion Veatch snatched an edge over Charles Poole by 18 to 17. Brooke led Young by one vote for district attorney. Steiwer and Mott scored impressively in the congressional races.

The school grab bill was attacked by every Lion voting. Impressive majorities were registered also against the truck, water power, prohibition and oleo measures.

Officers of the national guard of the county supported Tom Swarts for sheriff Thursday, and school teachers in Springfield went on record for Moffitt.

There are said to be more negroes in Georgia than in any other state.

FIVE ARRESTED IN PROHIBITION RAIDS

Five Eugene men were arrested in liquor raids conducted by federal, state, county and city officers late Wednesday afternoon.

F. E. Jorde appeared in justice court Thursday charged with sale of liquor and was fined $150. Officers said he sold four pints of whiskey to them.

Norris Collier was fined $150 for possession of liquor. He had a gallon and a half of whiskey, officers reported.

Clarence Burton was given 30 days in jail and put on 6 months probation for possession.

Elmer C. Hinds, charged with possession of 53 gallons of moonshine and 100 gallons of wine, and Ralph A. Brown, also charged with possession of liquor, were also arrested. Hinds asked for time to get an attorney and Brown has not yet been arraigned.

Nurse's Schedule Starts Next Week

Miss Ruth Ramakov, newly appointed public school health nurse, will go on a regular schedule next Monday, it was announced Thursday at the school offices. Miss Ramakov assumed her duties here this week.

Every morning, from 8 to 9, she will be at the Frances Willard school for health inspections and to issue re-entrance slips for those who have been absent on account of illness. All west side school work along this line will be handled at this school each morning.

Each afternoon, from 12:30 to 1, the nurse will be at the Theodore Roosevelt school for the same purpose for schools on the east side. Miss Ramakov's schedule has been arranged to allow her to spend a half day at each school.

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the famous animal painter, Paul Bransom... inspired by the savage charge of the African rhinoceros crashing through the untamed jungle.
"Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"
—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

"Nature in the Raw

No raw tobaccos in Luckies
—that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette.
The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.
