

GILMORE TO GIVE FREE PROGRAM AT HEILIG TUESDAY

The Gilmore Oil company will be host to the public at a big free theater party Tuesday afternoon and evening when Harold C. Boyd, lecturer and camera man, comes to the Heilig. Boyd, one of the best known lecturers on the coast, will present two illustrated lectures, "Hawaii, the Enchanted Islands," and "An Empire of Grandeur, the Pacific Coast."

The first program will start at the Heilig theater at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and the second Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Originally booked as a special attraction for Gilmore dealers and their families, the lecture and moving picture series has proved so popular the company is inviting the public.

There will be no charge for either program and everyone is invited to attend. The matinee performance is especially recommended for school children. Movies and slides taken in color show many of the most beautiful scenes in Hawaii. The volcano, "Kilauea," in action; multi-colored fish; surf-board riding under the lee of Diamond Head; moulten lava boiling down off the mountain side; Hawaiian birds in brilliant plumage; and many other scenes colored in breath taking beauty will be presented.

The evening performance will show the proposed route of the International Pacific Highway from Alaska to Panama, featuring Mexico and Central America. The scenes in British Columbia are the scene in photographic beauty with many unexpected and extraordinary incidents. There are intimate scenes in a northland Indian village; totem poles and burial grounds, glaciers, fishing at its best. Moving along the Pacific highway through Washington, Oregon and California, the "Empire of Grandeur" continues to unfold a trail of bewitching scenic wonders. In Mexico, many scenes never before seen on the screen, will be presented.
