

FINE RURAL HOME BEING COMPLETED

One of the finest country homes in the state is just being completed by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Green of Pasadena, Cal., on their 70-acre tract in the foothills a quarter of a mile south of the Crow road five miles west of Eugene.

The house, designed and built by J. R. Ford, Eugene architect and contractor, is unique, strictly modern, and very attractive in appearance. It is located on a beautiful site several hundred feet above the level of the valley at the edge of a forest of fir trees.

The residence has 13 rooms, besides three bath rooms and closets, hardwood floors throughout, modern plumbing, electric lights, a water pumping plant, sewage and other conveniences. Water is obtained from a deep well a few hundred feet away.

There are three huge stone fireplaces, built from material quarried nearby, and the chimneys are of the same kind of rock, built up on the outside walls of the structure.

The residence is faced with Ford's patent coxy cabin logs, giving the appearance of a real log house.

Mr. Green is a retired drygoods merchant and during later years was traveling representative in all parts of the United States for the Jantzen knitting mills of Portland.

Theatres

MONDAY'S PROGRAMS STATE—"Horse Feathers," with Four Marx Brothers, Ends Monday.

MCDONALD—"Flesh," with Wallace Beery, Karen Morley, Ricardo Cortez and Jean Harlow. Ends Tuesday.

COLONIAL—Double bill, "70,000 Witnesses," with Phillips Holmes and "Is My Face Red?" with Ricardo Cortez. Monday only.

REX—"Bird of Paradise," with Joel McCrea and Dolores Del Rio. Ends Monday.

HELIO—"Deception," with Leo Carrillo, Dickie Moore, Nat Pendleton and Thelma Todd. Ends Tuesday.

Everybody is wondering what Herb Owen, Eugene promoter, thinks of the wrestling pictures at the Helio and McDonald. After serving as matchmaker for a pack of wrestlers of various sizes, shapes, and colors during the past several years, Owen has become philosophical. He doesn't let small things worry him.

The "raselin" pictures disclose crooked tactics on the part of certain types of promoters, but that does not mean the whole game is crooked. When you comb the country for the greatest wrestlers the country has produced, and put them into the ring well-matched, you don't have to set 'em up double crossed to give the fans their money's worth, thinks Owen.

Wallace Beery

Nat Pendleton, who plays the part of a wrestler in "Deception," at the Helio, is a former Olympic Games champion wrestler. When the picture was made, Columbia didn't have to send in a double for Pendleton. He is able to take care of himself against any sort of opposition.

Leo Carrillo plays the part of a crooked promoter who gets his just deserts and little Dickie Moore is the young brother of the rascal's girl friend who shows Pendleton the right way out. It's good entertainment and if you know nothing of the mat game, don't worry. There isn't too much wrestling to spoil the picture for the outsiders.

"Rain," the play in which Jeanne Eagles skyrocketed to her greatest fame, has been made into a picture again with Joan Crawford as Sadie Thompson and Walter Huston as the missionary. It'll be at the McDonald Thursday to Saturday. The picture was first produced under the title "Sadie Thompson," but is said to reach its full effectiveness with Crawford in the leading role.

Movie goers will get a lot of good show for their money at the Colonial Monday, "70,000 Witnesses," with Phillips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan, Charles Buzles and Johnny Mack Brown and "Is My Face Red?" with Ricardo Cortez, make up the double bill. The first is the story of a murderer committed in a football game and the second is the story of a New York columnist. We nominate for one of the year's greatest comedy roles, Charles Buzles' performance as a drunken sports writer in "70,000 Witnesses."

Wallace Beery scores another triumph in "Flesh," at the McDonald. He makes of "Polka," a German wrestler, one of the most lovable characters in his long string of magnificent characterizations. Karen Morley is the bad girl who helps ruin the wrestler and then puts him back on the right road again. The cast includes Ricardo Cortez, Jean Harlow, John Miljan and others.

The Helio's mid-week offering will be "The Murder of the Night Club Lady," a Thatcher Colt mystery novel. Adolphe Menjou plays the role of Colt and Mayo Methoy, well known to Northwest theater goers, is the lady who is murdered as the clock strikes twelve. It'll be at the Helio Wednesday and Thursday.

The mad and merry Marxes are at their best in "Horse Feathers," which closes Monday night at the State. It's about a college, a college widow, a dog catcher and a football game.

Joel McCrea and Dolores Del Rio are at the Rex in "Bird of Paradise," the good old tear-jerker brought to the screen. The pictures haven't hurt the play a bit and it's still material for a good cry.

Movie goers will get a lot of good show for their money at the Colonial Monday, "70,000 Witnesses," with Phillips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan, Charles Buzles and Johnny Mack Brown and "Is My Face Red?" with Ricardo Cortez, make up the double bill. The first is the story of a murderer committed in a football game and the second is the story of a New York columnist. We nominate for one of the year's greatest comedy roles, Charles Buzles' performance as a drunken sports writer in "70,000 Witnesses."

Wallace Beery scores another triumph in "Flesh," at the McDonald. He makes of "Polka," a German wrestler, one of the most lovable characters in his long string of magnificent characterizations. Karen Morley is the bad girl who helps ruin the wrestler and then puts him back on the right road again. The cast includes Ricardo Cortez, Jean Harlow, John Miljan and others.

The Helio's mid-week offering will be "The Murder of the Night Club Lady," a Thatcher Colt mystery novel. Adolphe Menjou plays the role of Colt and Mayo Methoy, well known to Northwest theater goers, is the lady who is murdered as the clock strikes twelve. It'll be at the Helio Wednesday and Thursday.

The mad and merry Marxes are at their best in "Horse Feathers," which closes Monday night at the State. It's about a college, a college widow, a dog catcher and a football game.

Joel McCrea and Dolores Del Rio are at the Rex in "Bird of Paradise," the good old tear-jerker brought to the screen. The pictures haven't hurt the play a bit and it's still material for a good cry.

Movie goers will get a lot of good show for their money at the Colonial Monday, "70,000 Witnesses," with Phillips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan, Charles Buzles and Johnny Mack Brown and "Is My Face Red?" with Ricardo Cortez, make up the double bill. The first is the story of a murderer committed in a football game and the second is the story of a New York columnist. We nominate for one of the year's greatest comedy roles, Charles Buzles' performance as a drunken sports writer in "70,000 Witnesses."

Wallace Beery scores another triumph in "Flesh," at the McDonald. He makes of "Polka," a German wrestler, one of the most lovable characters in his long string of magnificent characterizations. Karen Morley is the bad girl who helps ruin the wrestler and then puts him back on the right road again. The cast includes Ricardo Cortez, Jean Harlow, John Miljan and others.

The Helio's mid-week offering will be "The Murder of the Night Club Lady," a Thatcher Colt mystery novel. Adolphe Menjou plays the role of Colt and Mayo Methoy, well known to Northwest theater goers, is the lady who is murdered as the clock strikes twelve. It'll be at the Helio Wednesday and Thursday.

The mad and merry Marxes are at their best in "Horse Feathers," which closes Monday night at the State. It's about a college, a college widow, a dog catcher and a football game.

Joel McCrea and Dolores Del Rio are at the Rex in "Bird of Paradise," the good old tear-jerker brought to the screen. The pictures haven't hurt the play a bit and it's still material for a good cry.

Movie goers will get a lot of good show for their money at the Colonial Monday, "70,000 Witnesses," with Phillips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan, Charles Buzles and Johnny Mack Brown and "Is My Face Red?" with Ricardo Cortez, make up the double bill. The first is the story of a murderer committed in a football game and the second is the story of a New York columnist. We nominate for one of the year's greatest comedy roles, Charles Buzles' performance as a drunken sports writer in "70,000 Witnesses."

Wallace Beery scores another triumph in "Flesh," at the McDonald. He makes of "Polka," a German wrestler, one of the most lovable characters in his long string of magnificent characterizations. Karen Morley is the bad girl who helps ruin the wrestler and then puts him back on the right road again. The cast includes Ricardo Cortez, Jean Harlow, John Miljan and others.

HIGHWAYS STORY

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1)

needed for widening of the narrow 10-foot pavement on the main traffic arterials to afford adequate width due to the increasing number of large commercial trucks and buses.

The commission made it plain that it was opposed to the sale of any more bonds for highway improvement work.

The report showed that all payments of bond principal and interest falling due during 1931 and 1932 have been met, and during that period the total bonded indebtedness has been reduced from $30,490,750 to $27,517,750.

Mention also was made of salary reductions in the state highway department amounting to $145,000, or 17 per cent, during a four months' period.

Federal aid allotted to Oregon for highway improvement work during the three-year period ended June 30 next totals no less than $14,000,000.

"When this amount is compared with the $10,500,000 of state money available for highway construction and betterment work during the same period," the report continued, "it is apparent that the state has, during that period, paid for considerably less than one-half of its highway improvement work."

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

Of the gross collections of motor vehicle license fees 90 per cent is credited to the state highway fund. Sixty-nine per cent of the motor transportation fees go into the highway fund. Of the gasoline tax collections 88 per cent finds its way into the highway fund for state highway purposes.

POEMS: 8:30-8:45, Science news of the week.

KGO, Oakland—4:30 p. m., Emerson Gill's orch; 4:45, News; 5, Oahu serenaders; 5:15, Hotel Hollenden orch; 5:30, Little Orphan Annie; 5:45, Dramatic sketch; 6, To be announced; 6:30, Musical program; 7, Alice Joy, dream girl; 7:30, Demi-Tasse revue; John E. Medbury; 8, Amos 'n' Andy; 8:15, "Red Weems" orch; 8:30, Richard Crooks, tenor; 9, Southern Harmony; 9:15, Art Kassel's orch; 9:30, Earl Hines' orch; 10, News; 10:15, Mark Hopkins orch; 11, Ambassador hotel orch; 11:30-12, Organ concert.

KFO, San Francisco—4 p. m., Life of the Reilly; 4:15, Federal business talk; 4:30, Ellen Higgett, soprano; 4:45, Barbara Dale's charm matinee; 5, California state chamber of commerce; 5:15, Synco-Thots; 5:30, Red and Ramona; 5:45, Argentine trio; 6, Music drill; 6:30, Safety first; 6:45, Cecil and Sally; 7, John and Ned; 7:15, Tarzan of the Apes; 7:30, National radio forum; 8, On parade, band music; 8:30, Drama hour; 9, The Gold-dens; 9:15, Nomads; 9:30, Road show; 11, Stringwood ensemble; 11:30 to 12, Rhythm vendors.

KNN, Los Angeles—4:30 p. m., Town crier; 5, Cecil and Sally; 5:25, Jolly time; 5:30, Kate Smith; 5:45, Electrical transcription; 6, News; 6:15, Bill, Mac and Jimmy; 6:30, Si and Elmer; 6:45, Currier's serenaders; 7, Frank Vannabue and Hon. Archie; 7:15, Pieces of Eight; 7:30, Musical program; 8, Light Concert, music; 8:30, Playlet; 9, News; 9:15, Amson Weeks, electric violinist; 9:30, Calmon Luboviski violinist; 10, KNN dance band; 10:30, Organ recital; 11-12, New Paris inn.

KOIN, Portland—4:30, Newspaper of the air; 5, H-Bar-O rangers; 5:15, Skippy; 5:30, Davidson's prize club; 6, Bells of Harmony; 6:15, Leather puppets; 6:30, CBS program; 7:15, Easy aces; 7:30, music; 7:45, Myrt and Marge; 8, Van Dryn Singer; 8:15, Blue Monday jamboree; 10, DIBS program; 10:10, Band; 10:15, Sport flashes; 10:30, Stanley Smith's orch; 11-12, Dancing with the stars.

KOAC, Corvallis—6 p. m., Dinner music; 6:30, In the days of news; 7, Clyde Walker, "New Year's Resolutions"; 7:15, Supper time at Beck's; 7:30, Four-H club meeting, C. A. Howard "Four-H Club Work in Oregon"; H. C. Seymour "Looking Back on Four-H Club Accomplishments in 1932"; L. J. Allen "Four-H news"; S. Music of the waters; 8:15, Close-up of Oregon Posts. "Fugitive"

cludes Ricardo Cortez, Jean Harlow, John Miljan and others.

The Helio's mid-week offering will be "The Murder of the Night Club Lady," a Thatcher Colt mystery novel. Adolphe Menjou plays the role of Colt and Mayo Methoy, well known to Northwest theater goers, is the lady who is murdered as the clock strikes twelve. It'll be at the Helio Wednesday and Thursday.

The mad and merry Marxes are at their best in "Horse Feathers," which closes Monday night at the State. It's about a college, a college widow, a dog catcher and a football game.

Joel McCrea and Dolores Del Rio are at the Rex in "Bird of Paradise," the good old tear-jerker brought to the screen. The pictures haven't hurt the play a bit and it's still material for a good cry.

Movie goers will get a lot of good show for their money at the Colonial Monday, "70,000 Witnesses," with Phillips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan, Charles Buzles and Johnny Mack Brown and "Is My Face Red?" with Ricardo Cortez, make up the double bill. The first is the story of a murderer committed in a football game and the second is the story of a New York columnist. We nominate for one of the year's greatest comedy roles, Charles Buzles' performance as a drunken sports writer in "70,000 Witnesses."

Wallace Beery scores another triumph in "Flesh," at the McDonald. He makes of "Polka," a German wrestler, one of the most lovable characters in his long string of magnificent characterizations. Karen Morley is the bad girl who helps ruin the wrestler and then puts him back on the right road again. The cast includes Ricardo Cortez, Jean Harlow, John Miljan and others.

The Helio's mid-week offering will be "The Murder of the Night Club Lady," a Thatcher Colt mystery novel. Adolphe Menjou plays the role of Colt and Mayo Methoy, well known to Northwest theater goers, is the lady who is murdered as the clock strikes twelve. It'll be at the Helio Wednesday and Thursday.

The mad and merry Marxes are at their best in "Horse Feathers," which closes Monday night at the State. It's about a college, a college widow, a dog catcher and a football game.

Joel McCrea and Dolores Del Rio are at the Rex in "Bird of Paradise," the good old tear-jerker brought to the screen. The pictures haven't hurt the play a bit and it's still material for a good cry.

Movie goers will get a lot of good show for their money at the Colonial Monday, "70,000 Witnesses," with Phillips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan, Charles Buzles and Johnny Mack Brown and "Is My Face Red?" with Ricardo Cortez, make up the double bill. The first is the story of a murderer committed in a football game and the second is the story of a New York columnist. We nominate for one of the year's greatest comedy roles, Charles Buzles' performance as a drunken sports writer in "70,000 Witnesses."

Wallace Beery scores another triumph in "Flesh," at the McDonald. He makes of "Polka," a German wrestler, one of the most lovable characters in his long string of magnificent characterizations. Karen Morley is the bad girl who helps ruin the wrestler and then puts him back on the right road again. The cast includes Ricardo Cortez, Jean Harlow, John Miljan and others.

The Helio's mid-week offering will be "The Murder of the Night Club Lady," a Thatcher Colt mystery novel. Adolphe Menjou plays the role of Colt and Mayo Methoy, well known to Northwest theater goers, is the lady who is murdered as the clock strikes twelve. It'll be at the Helio Wednesday and Thursday.

The mad and merry Marxes are at their best in "Horse Feathers," which closes Monday night at the State. It's about a college, a college widow, a dog catcher and a football game.

Joel McCrea and Dolores Del Rio are at the Rex in "Bird of Paradise," the good old tear-jerker brought to the screen. The pictures haven't hurt the play a bit and it's still material for a good cry.

Movie goers will get a lot of good show for their money at the Colonial Monday, "70,000 Witnesses," with Phillips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan, Charles Buzles and Johnny Mack Brown and "Is My Face Red?" with Ricardo Cortez, make up the double bill. The first is the story of a murderer committed in a football game and the second is the story of a New York columnist. We nominate for one of the year's greatest comedy roles, Charles Buzles' performance as a drunken sports writer in "70,000 Witnesses."

Wallace Beery scores another triumph in "Flesh," at the McDonald. He makes of "Polka," a German wrestler, one of the most lovable characters in his long string of magnificent characterizations. Karen Morley is the bad girl who helps ruin the wrestler and then puts him back on the right road again. The cast includes Ricardo Cortez, Jean Harlow, John Miljan and others.

The Helio's mid-week offering will be "The Murder of the Night Club Lady," a Thatcher Colt mystery novel. Adolphe Menjou plays the role of Colt and Mayo Methoy, well known to Northwest theater goers, is the lady who is murdered as the clock strikes twelve. It'll be at the Helio Wednesday and Thursday.

The mad and merry Marxes are at their best in "Horse Feathers," which closes Monday night at the State. It's about a college, a college widow, a dog catcher and a football game.

Joel McCrea and Dolores Del Rio are at the Rex in "Bird of Paradise," the good old tear-jerker brought to the screen. The pictures haven't hurt the play a bit and it's still material for a good cry.

Movie goers will get a lot of good show for their money at the Colonial Monday, "70,000 Witnesses," with Phillips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan, Charles Buzles and Johnny Mack Brown and "Is My Face Red?" with Ricardo Cortez, make up the double bill. The first is the story of a murderer committed in a football game and the second is the story of a New York columnist. We nominate for one of the year's greatest comedy roles, Charles Buzles' performance as a drunken sports writer in "70,000 Witnesses."

Wallace Beery scores another triumph in "Flesh," at the McDonald. He makes of "Polka," a German wrestler, one of the most lovable characters in his long string of magnificent characterizations. Karen Morley is the bad girl who helps ruin the wrestler and then puts him back on the right road again. The cast includes Ricardo Cortez, Jean Harlow, John Miljan and others.

The Helio's mid-week offering will be "The Murder of the Night Club Lady," a Thatcher Colt mystery novel. Adolphe Menjou plays the role of Colt and Mayo Methoy, well known to Northwest theater goers, is the lady who is murdered as the clock strikes twelve. It'll be at the Helio Wednesday and Thursday.

The mad and merry Marxes are at their best in "Horse Feathers," which closes Monday night at the State. It's about a college, a college widow, a dog catcher and a football game.

Joel McCrea and Dolores Del Rio are at the Rex in "Bird of Paradise," the good old tear-jerker brought to the screen. The pictures haven't hurt the play a bit and it's still material for a good cry.

Movie goers will get a lot of good show for their money at the Colonial Monday, "70,000 Witnesses," with Phillips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan, Charles Buzles and Johnny Mack Brown and "Is My Face Red?" with Ricardo Cortez, make up the double bill. The first is the story of a murderer committed in a football game and the second is the story of a New York columnist. We nominate for one of the year's greatest comedy roles, Charles Buzles' performance as a drunken sports writer in "70,000 Witnesses."

SOCIAL SURVEY STORY

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1)

governmental, economic (industrial, agricultural and labor) points of contact, or other appropriate elements, able to contribute to the consideration of the basic social problems of the nation.

"Such an agency might consider some fundamental questions of the social order, economic, governmental, educational, technical, cultural, always in their inter-relation, and in the light of the trends and possibilities of modern science."

A "bewildering confusion of problems" with which "nothing short of the combined intelligence of the nation can cope" is found by the report.

They range, the committee said in its review of the findings, from imperialism to better homes and standards of living, and include taxation, social insurance, reorganization of governmental units, governmental regulation of industry, shifting moral standards, mental hygiene and the future of democracy and capitalism.

It found the "major emerging problem" to be one of "closer coordination and more effective integration of the swiftly changing elements in American social life."

As one of the necessities if this problem is to be met it cited "willingness and determination to undertake important integral changes in the re-organization of social life, including the economic and the political orders, rather than the pursuance of a policy of drift."

The most of problems, the committee declared, have been raised by the unequal progress of institutions affecting every individual. Physical sciences have been advancing much more rapidly than social sciences. Economic and governmental organizations have grown at a rapid rate while the church and the family have declined in social significance. The organized labor movement seems to be losing in numbers and vigor.

The committee said it did not believe in a "moratorium upon research in physical science and invention, such as has sometimes been proposed," but held that "social invention has to be stimulated to keep pace with mechanical inventions.

President Hoover said in his foreword to the volume: "Since the task assigned to the committee was to inquire into changing trends, the result is emphasis on elements of instability rather than stability in our social structure."

"This study is the latest and most comprehensive of a series, some of them governmental and others privately sponsored, beginning in 1921 with the report on 'waste in industry' under my chairmanship."

"It should serve to help all of us to see where social stresses are occurring and where major efforts should be undertaken to deal with them constructively."

The members of the committee are Dr. Wesley C. Mitchell, professor of economics, Columbia university, chairman; Dr. William F. Ogburn, professor of sociology, university of Chicago, director of research; Dr. Charles E. Merriam, professor and chairman of the department of political science, University of Chicago; Dr. Howard W. Odum, director of the Institute for research in social science, University of North Carolina; Dr. Alice Hamilton, of the Harvard school of public health; and Shelby M. Harrison, general director of the Russell Sage foundation. Edward Eyre Hunt is executive secretary.

The Rockefeller Foundation financed the project.

Last Of American Marines Leave Nicaragua Monday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—(AP)—The marines have been withdrawn from Nicaragua and the state department considers the special relationship by which the United States intervened in that country's internal affairs in 1924 at an end.

The department in a review of the marine occupation promised that "No American armed forces will remain in that country, either as instructors in the constabulary, as a legion guard or in any capacity whatsoever."

Secretary Adams yesterday sent New Year's greetings to the American forces, the last of which were scheduled to sail for home today. He said the "record has been excellent throughout and reflects great credit upon the marine corps and the whole naval service."

The state department said the purposes for which the marines remained in Nicaragua had been fulfilled. They were given as the organization and training of a non-partisan national constabulary and the supervision of the 1928, 1930 and 1932 elections.

By tonight, all of the 1400 officers and men will have left. At one time—July, 1928—there were 5365 marines and 458 naval officers and men in Nicaragua. Since 1928 five American officers and 29 men were killed in action against bandits and insurgents while 14 officers and 85 men died of wounds. The cost of keeping the marines there over and above expenses had they been at home has been estimated at about $1,000,000 a year.

Plans for the annual Oregon Christian Endeavor convention to be held April 27 to 30 in Eugene, and for the summer conference, Aug. 29 to 31 at Turner, were completed at the semi-annual meeting of the state executive committee in session in Eugene over the week-end.