FOREIGN MARKETS, LOWER TAXES HELD BUSINESS NEEDS

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Give business a chance, "by lowering taxes and broadening foreign markets, and it will forge ahead," said G. F. Swift, president of Swift and company, in a year-end statement.

"As we enter upon the new year we cannot help being conscious of the great difficulties through which this country and the entire world have been passing, and of the urgent need of sound government policies. The depressed state of the nation's business is not beyond repair.

"In my opinion, what business chiefly needs is the removal by government action of the obstacles which stand in the way of prompt recovery. Business is always ready to go ahead if given the opportunity.

"Reduced taxes would help everybody and particularly the farmer who is suffering from low purchasing power. Another thing that the farmer needs is a broader foreign outlet for his surplus products. The restoration of his foreign market would enable him to get better prices for his products, thereby increasing his power to buy the manufactured products of American industry.

"A reduction in taxes and a broadening of the foreign market for agricultural products are things that can be brought about only through wise statesmanship. Substantial recovery in business depends upon sound government policy in dealing with these questions. Unsound government policy would only aggravate a bad situation.

Swift and company is operating at its normal rate. Our costs are low and our products are in constant demand. Our rate of operation is determined entirely by the quality of livestock which comes to market, and livestock receipts seem to be as high in years of depression as in years of prosperity.

"We hope to have a substantial improvement in our results in 1933."

GOOD DOG!—BAD DOG!

Sure, dogs are just like people—there are good ones and bad ones.

"Buddy," the Boston terrier, above, is one of the good ones. When smoke from a fire began filling the home of Jacob and Mrs. Kettler of St. Louis, "Buddy" barked and pulled the covers from Kettler's bed. Kettler then saved his wife, their daughter and son-in-law.

"Buddy" is to get the hero medal of the Humane Society of Missouri, "Luxy," Los Angeles collie, barked at the moon so long and lustily that neighbors had his master arrested on a nuisance charge. Below, you see "Luxy" being cross-examined in court before he was excused to the wide open spaces.

physical volume of production of 4 per cent per year. Comparing 1890 to 1910, Tryon found that population gained a total of 38 per cent; physical volume of agricultural, manufacturing, and mining production, and railroad transportation increased a total of 80 per cent, and energy production 150 per cent.

As to what machines used this energy, Carroll Rood Daugherty, in a U. S. Geological Survey Bulletin, has calculated that, using 1890 as 100, capacity to use power increased from 16 to 1009 if automobiles are included. If autos are not included, the change was from 16 to 399.

This indicates that much more than half of the consumption of energy was accounted for by the automobiles in using oil and gas, and that by excluding autos from the general computations of B. T. U. the gains would not seem so important as an influence on production.

Carbon Mountain Starts New Year With Explosion

DURANGO, Colo., Jan. 2.—(AP)—Carbon mountain, the wild bronco of the Rockies, with a burr under its saddle, started the new year off with a bang.

About 3 o'clock Sunday morning, a loud explosion was followed by a slide of 250 feet of a section of the mountain 150 feet high. Sulphur fumes increased materially, adding strength to the belief an ignited coal bed deep in the earth is providing the push for the disturbance.

The gulch below Carbon mountain has filled to a depth of about 75 feet with boulders and dirt, pushing up against the side of another mountain. All day Sunday and Sunday night, rumblings continued and avalanches were noted. The explosive new year greeting was ascribed by watching geologists to a gas pocket. Several years ago, a coal mine was worked in Carbon mountain, but the mine was abandoned when gas became so thick that further work was dangerous.

WINNIE HOPEUL BOARD WILL ACT

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 2.—(AP)—Winnie Ruth Judd's hope for immediate action on the county grand jury's recommendation that her death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment faded today as no word was forthcoming from the state board of pardons and paroles.

The state prison board, which has the power in Arizona that is ordinarily given governors in other states, retires from office at midnight tonight. Like members of the retiring board, the members of the incoming board have given no indication as to what step they will take on the grand jury's recommendation.

Mrs. Judd, in her cell at the state prison at Florence, however, was obviously overjoyed at the possibility of escaping from the gallows. She greeted her parents cheerfully.

Mrs. Judd was sentenced to hang Feb. 17 for the murder of Mrs. Agnes Anne LeRoy. She also was charged with the murder of Miss Hedvig Samuelson. Both women were slain in October, 1931, in a Phoenix bungalow, their bodies dismembered and sent to Los Angeles in trunks.

The grand jury, before recommending commutation of sentence for Mrs. Judd, indicted John J. Halloran, friend of all three women in the case, as an accessory after the crime of murder. The jury indictment charged the man with concealing facts concerning the slayings and protecting Mrs. Judd. He will be given a preliminary hearing tomorrow.

Coach Leo J. Frank of Parsons college, Fairfield, Ia., suggests a football rules change that would make incomplete passes over the goal line go for touchdowns only on fourth down.

Wolcott Langford, great negro mid. dwelght of years ago, is a picturesque but sad figure around the Chicago stadium on fight nights. Totally blind, he sells newspapers to the fans who once cheered him.

The Texas league is the only one in organized baseball with a ten-club membership.

RUTH AGAIN!

God Lesson Topic Of Christian Science

"God" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 1.

The Golden Text was, "Praise waiteth for thee, O God, in Zion; and unto thee shall the vow be performed. O thou that hearest prayer, unto thee shall all flesh come" (Ps. 65:1, 2).

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "And after these things I heard a great voice of much people in heaven, saying, Alleluia; Salvation, and glory, and honour, and power, unto the Lord our God" (Rev. 19:1).

The lesson sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit, Life, Truth, Love, combine as one, and are the Scriptural names for God. All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause and effect belong to God. These are His attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine Principle, Love" (p. 275).

New Year's Party Held By Socialists

The Eugene local of the Socialist Party of America entertained socialists and friends of the socialist movement with a potluck dinner at Labor hall, 50 East Broadway, New Year's day. Labor hall is the regular meeting place of the socialist party.

The address of the day was delivered by Rollo Reedy over KORE. Dinner was served at 3 p. m. to the 80 persons present. Tables were arranged in U form and decorated with red candles and potted plants.

The program was concluded by discussion on the ideals and achievements of the socialist party by Mrs. Giddings, after which potted plants were given to the eldest member present, Mr. Goss, 70 years, recently coming to Eugene from Spokane, and Mrs. Geo. O. Adams, who had the largest family present.
