

OREGON LOSES TO ASHLAND NORMAL IN OPENER, 37-32

Bill Reinhart's University of Oregon basketball team went down to defeat for the third time at the hands of the Ashland Normal team when the Ashland team won at McArthur Court Friday evening, 37 to 32. The Sons had previously defeated Oregon in two games at Ashland when the Webfoots were on their barnstorming tour. They will meet again in the final game of the series at McArthur Court Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Jim Watts

Howard Hobson, Ashland mentor, brought with him a team of giants including a 6 foot 5 1/2 inch center. The Webfoots looked ragged at times and at other times appeared formidable. The score was tied seven times in the second half.

Chief McLean, ex-Portland high school flash, was one of the outstanding men on the visiting squad. The only member of the team under six feet, he flashes a fast offensive style of play. W. Jones was high point man for Ashland with 11 points while Cap Roberts was high for Oregon with 10.

Fifteen personal fouls were called on Oregon and Roberts was forced to leave the game on fouls in the last half.

The lineup:

Oregon—37
W. Jones, 11...F... 7, Robertson
McLean, 8...F... 2, Watts
Howell, 7...F... 10, Roberts
B. Jones, 7...G... 6, Miller
Jockish, 4...G... 2, Stevens

Subs: Oregon: Olinger, Stahl and Clay. Referee, Ralph Coleman, Oregon State.

SCHAFF IS WINNER BY TECHNICAL K. O.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Blond Ernie Schaff has evened out his record and now can find only one stain on his fistful of scotch.

The burly Boston heavyweight, apparently shining clear out of the picture a few months ago, advanced another big step in his comeback campaign last night when he stopped Stanley Ford, youthful Jersey City puncher, in the sixth round of a ten round bout in Madison Square Garden.

Once more the invincible slugger of 1931 and early 1932, Schaff floored Ford four times before Referee Arthur Donovan halted hostilities after 28 seconds of the sixth.

It was Ford who started Schaff in his slump early this summer. After Stanley had given him a beating in ten rounds, the Boston star was trounced by Max Baer and then beaten by unknown Winston. Only the Baer defeat now remains avenged for Schaff recently knocked out Winston in six rounds.

After the first round, Ford never had a chance with the husky New Englander. Early in the second round, Schaff caught the Jerseyman flush on the chin with a smashing right and Ford went down.

Instead of taking a count, the referee came up and counted a nine, Ford came up and went down once more just as the bell came in his rescue.

Stanley got through the third round with a minimum of difficulty, but two solid rights to the head sent him down for nine in the fourth round. Through the fifth round Schaff belabored his opponent lustily and then floored him with a savage right cross early in the sixth round. That was the final punch for the referee stepped in and halted the uneven struggle.

A crowd of 7000 saw the show. Schaff weighed 200 1-4 pounds; and Ford 203.

COUGARS LOSE TO ORANGEMEN, 25-22

PULLMAN, Wash., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Oregon State's basketball team got off to a good start in the opening conference game of the season when it defeated the champion Washington State Cougars here 25 to 22. Led by its lanky captain, Ed Lewis, who scored six field goals, the Orangemen were victorious in a fast, well played game, featured by a desperate finish.

Roland Johnson, husky Washington State forward, led the Cougars and connected for ten points.

The visitors took the lead at the opening tip-off with Lewis finding the basket three times in succession. The Cougars made it 8-8 on Ken Willis' potshot from the corner midway in the period. Lewis looped a goal to put the Orangemen ahead 12-11 at the half.

The Cougars took the lead as the second half got under way, at one time having a 19-14 margin. The Orangemen then went into action to count nine points, while hold the home team scoreless. The lead was good for the victory, but not without a hard fight on the part of the Cougars to overcome it.

The teams meet again tonight.

Arizmendi Takes Decision From Bell

ARIZMENDI—Saturday—SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—(AP)—"Baby" Arizmendi, up and coming young Mexican, featherweight, unleashed his 123 pounds in a furious closing attack to take a clear ten-round decision over Archie Bell, 120-pound Brooklyn, N. Y., veteran, here last night.

The Mexican did not open up until the sixth round, but from that point to the finish he drove Bell around the ring with a steady stream of blows. Bell took the punishment gamely but only his experience saved him from going down.

In the earlier rounds, Bell used his skill to take an edge in the first, second, fourth and fifth.

It was the second encounter for the two fighters. Arizmendi won a ten-round decision over his rival in Hollywood several weeks ago.

HARRIDGE VISIONS GOOD SEASON FOR AMERICAN LEAGUE

By WILLIAM HARRIDGE (President, American League)
CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A much better balanced race is my forecast for 1933 in the American league. A year ago, I predicted that the Athletics would have more competition than during the previous three seasons. They did. In fact, the Yankees won the pennant by as great a margin as the Athletics had been in the habit of winning and a one-sided race was the result.

Because of Al Simmons, that one-team contest, American league clubs have made many player changes which will, to the best of my belief, result in the Yankees being provided with much stiffer competition than in 1932. If we had had a four or five club race last season, the American league probably would have played to more people than in 1931.

Many Changes
Now, with numerous changes made in the rosters of the seven clubs that finished behind New York, I cannot see anything but a better battle for the pennant and that means increased attendance.

There is no doubt of the Chicago White Sox, for many years the outstanding pennant contender of our league, being restored to first division strength with the addition of Ourfielders Simmons and Haas, and Third Baseman Dykes of Philadelphia, Pitcher Durham and Infielder Flynn of Boston, Chicago, also, is banking on Pitcher Vic Frazier being restored to health and able to pitch winning baseball.

New York made no trades but did purchase from class AA league teams, three pitchers, Van Atta of St. Paul, Deshong of Sacramento and Brennan of Newark.

At any rate, the American league club have shown a greater disposition to trade and introduce new faces. Your league president also caught the fever and added two new umpires to the official staff in William Summers and Louis Kolls of the International League.

Conference Rules May Be Revamped

PALO ALTO, Cal., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Portions of the rules governing the Pacific Coast conference probably will be rewritten as a result of the January 6 meeting of the conference, held at Stanford, Pres. W. B. Owens of Stanford, president of the conference, said today.

Butler's report, made public yesterday, will be considered at the conference meeting in June, Owens said. Owens did not believe any basic changes in the rules would be necessary. Butler found that several rules were confusing and had been variously interpreted. There will need to be clarified, Owens said.

SATURDAY PROGRAMS
COLONIAL, "The Night of June 13," with Clive Brook, Charles Ruggles, Lila Lee, Frances Dee and Gene Raymond. Ends Saturday.
McDONALD, "Rain," with Joan Crawford, Walter Huston, Guy Kibbee, Walter Catlett and Matt Moore. Ends Saturday.
HEILIG, "The Blonde Captive," filmed in Australia. Ends Saturday.
REX, Double bill, "End of the Trail" and "Lost Squadron." Saturday only.

A truly startling film is "The Blonde Captive," which closes Saturday at the Heilig theatre. The picture was filmed in Australia by the Dr. Paul Withington expedition. The story concerns a white woman lost in the wilds of Australia among a tribe of primitive people descended from the Neanderthal Man of the Old Stone Age of 50,000 years ago. A white woman living naked in a cave with the oldest living race in existence! Lowell Thomas, radio voice of the Literary Digest, wrote the dialogue and did the talking for "The Blonde Captive," and he introduces you, with a mixture of fact and humor, to many strange animals, scientific discoveries, people and customs and the amazing story of the blonde captive.

Mary Boland, noted stage star, turns to the films to play with Clive Brook, Lila Lee, Charles Ruggles, Gene Raymond, Frances Dee and Adrienne Allen in "The Night of June 13," which ends Saturday at the Colonial. The picture is a drama set in a suburb of a large eastern city. Four families, living in adjacent houses, find their own lives more bound up with the lives of their neighbors than they realized when the wife of one man committed suicide and the husband is inadvertently charged with murder. At the trial, each neighbor lies to cover up some petty deficiency of his own, and it appears that the innocent husband is about to be hanged when a dramatic climax saves him.

The first quarter of a century as a featured player in films is the hardest, according to Matt Moore, the perennially young actor who has an important supporting part in "Rain," which closes Saturday at the McDonald. Moore made his debut back in the dim past when two-reelers were super-productions and one-reelers the rule. Moore's latest role is Dr. MacPhail in the romantic tropical drama based on W. Somerset Maugham's story. Miss Crawford plays the stellar role of Sadie Thompson and Walter Huston is the reformer.

The Rex is double-billing Saturday, with "The Lost Squadron," and "End of the Trail."

SPEAKER DENIES BREAK WITH F. D.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Speaker Garner today told newspapermen in vigorous terms that he had not broken with President-Elect Roosevelt over the proposed tax raising plans and would like to see income levy base broadened to bring in revenue.

Discussing his remarks about alternative tax plans yesterday, Garner said:

"What I said was this: 'I might suggest taxes that would be less painful.'"

"It was suggested up there at the conference," Garner said, "that to broaden the base of the income tax and to raise rates was the best way of meeting the deficit. Some one said we could get $203,000,000 that way and there was no objection."

Garner said "You must remember that this is a practical proposition," of raising revenue.

"The question is getting so much revenue," he added, "it's not going to dislocate the economic structure of the country raising $130,000,000 in revenue," he emphasized.

Garner reiterated that with the passage of the gasoline tax expected to return $137,000,000, the beer bill to produce $125,000,000, and $100,000,000 in economies, there would be $130,000,000 remaining to meet the deficit of $402,000,000 estimated by President Hoover for the coming fiscal year.

Garner said if the income tax was not satisfactory to congress, there were many other methods that could be resorted to, which he declined to make public.

prayer said, "It is a thankful nation, as well."

"We thank thee for the life of him whose death we now mourn. We thank thee for what his life has meant to the country and the world. We thank thee for the exemplary devotion which he showed the discharge of all his public duties. We thank thee for the faithfulness with which he served his country."

"We thank thee for the measure of dedication which he brought to the service of the commonwealth. And, above all, do we bless thee for the association with which he served his country in the highest office within the gift of the people. He kept the faith which the people placed in him."

"May we not begrudge him, whose loss we so deeply mourn, the rest with thee which he has so richly deserved, knowing that by thy mercy and grace he finished his course, having kept the faith."

Hoovers Pay Respects
As he arose to begin his prayer, the congregation, at the request of the clergyman, sat for a moment in silence, with bowed heads.

Softly, the choir sang, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go."

There was a very brief benediction and Mrs. Coolidge and the members of her party left the church.

As they filed out of the pew, Mrs. Coolidge turned and with a tender smile linked her arm within that of her daughter-in-law.

In silence the congregation remained standing after she had left, while the muted strains of "Nearer, My God, To Thee" came as a benediction from the organ out over the grey house and the flowers, into the auditorium.

A moment later President and Mrs. Hoover left the church. Rain pattered gently down as they passed through the waiting crowd and entered their automobile to drive to "The Beeches" to convey their message of personal sympathy to Mrs. Coolidge.

The funeral cortege moved slowly out of Northampton a few minutes after noon in the direction of Greenfield and the Vermont state line.

It was escorted only by motorcycle police at the head of the line. There were nine cars, the hearse third in line. Mrs. Coolidge and her son and daughter-in-law were in the car immediately behind.

Thousands lined the sidewalks in Northampton and along the route northward.

ning from 5 to 15 per cent through the entire personnel. He said the schools were planning on further economies of $350,000 a year including additional salary cuts of 12 to 15 per cent. He said he personally was ready to take a big cut in his $12,000 a year salary.

"But," said he, "if the millage revenue is reduced by any such figure as suggested here, on top of the curtailments already made, there will be nothing to do except close some of the institutions."

Many Other Snags
At many other points the program scraped on snags. From many parts of the state came protests that a raid on the grade school millage would simply close all education in districts which are now having trouble paying expenses.

The legality of some of the shifts of funds was also questioned, although there will undoubtedly be a determined effort to get some general state revenue out of some of the state's special commissions, such as the one for beauty parlor inspection, which are reported to be "riding high" and accountable to nobody.

Meier May Take Hand
It appeared likely that Governor Meier might take a hand in the situation again in his regular message after his week of silence. He is expected to reiterate his warning that the state budget must be balanced and to point out the danger to the state's institutions, the state's future credit and to its whole financial and industrial structure if the legislature goes in for any of the suggested schemes of radical repudiation.

It is believed that after his week of floundering the legislature is swinging back to a realization that it will have to enact some taxes although most of the members favor income taxes rather than sales taxes. Most of the talking so far has been done by more radical members, most of the older leaders sitting back to let opportunity get ripe.

BUTLER DEATH STORY

cuit bench of the 11th judicial district in 1909 and voluntarily retired from that post in 1911.

From 1913 to 1918 he served as state senator from Hood River and Wasco counties. He was re-elected to the senate for the 1925 and 1927 sessions. In 1928 he was elected to fill the vacancy in congress created by the retirement of N. J. Sinnott and elected to the 71st congress for the full term. He was re-elected to the 72nd congress but was defeated in the campaign for the 73rd congress by former Governor Walter M. Pierce.

Congressman Butler was stricken on December 1, 1932, and was unable to attend any sessions of the present congress.

While in London, Butler married Miss Nan Fitzmaurice. They were later divorced. He has one daughter, Elizabeth Annabelle Butler.

He was known as a gifted orator. Soon after his arrival in Oregon he gained statewide recognition as a public speaker of unusual eloquence.

In 1909, Butler formed a law partnership with Jay Bowerman, then practicing at Condon, and when the legislature of 1909 created an additional circuit judgeship in eastern Oregon, he was appointed by Governor George E. Chamberlain, largely upon the recommendation of Bowerman, then a state senator.

But only $500,000 actual savings were in sight after a first analysis. Sitting down around a table with the huge closely printed book of figures and charts which makes up the state budget, the committeemen soon found themselves in deep water. They found that the proposed savings overlapped at many points as in millage reductions and salary reductions. They found that many vital state activities would be faced with actual shutdown if the scheme went through.

Kerr Delivers Protest
Appearing before the committee Friday evening, Chancellor William Jasper Kerr said that higher education had made approximately $3 1-3 per cent savings in the last two years including salary reductions run-
