SALEM, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Introduction of 54 bills in addition to a score resolutions and memorials, one ated debate and a large vote to sus- n the governor's veto were the of- ial results of the first week of the egon legislature, but the biggest ents were detected unofficially when breach between the governor and te treasurer was widened, open stilities begun between the two, and first detection of approaching nch-packed legislation.

Members of both houses today had breathing spell after almost ten days tinuous session, including the spe- l assembly activities which started n. 3 And the sum total of actual ac- mplishment on the surface would pear to be one week of regular ses- n to undo the entire proceedings of special session. But under the rface a great deal has been done in islative procedure.

Tax Bills Numerous

Taxation matters featured the new ls introduced in the house, where of the 54 proposals appeared. A ee per cent general sales tax ex- pting small home owners and a ld tax proposal in timber were ing the major suggested acts. A lective sales tax on tobacco, malt d cosmetics also made its appear- ce as well as a measure to double present income tax rates and re- e the exemptions. None of these asures have come out of commit- e.

Other house bills include the re- ction of small loan interest and anges in the pawnbrokers regula- ns. A public hearing on these bills s set for Tuesday night of next ek. One of the highlights of the first ek was the hearing accorded the so- lled "hunger marchers."

George Ade, one of America's best-known writers, is making a good recovery from illness which has kept him away from public affairs for many months. He appeared recently at the winter meeting of the Committee of 100 at the Surf Club at Miami Beach, Fla. This portrait, made on that occasion, is his first in several months.

ALCOHOL IN BEER REDUCED TO 3.05

Ration Is Patterned After British Findings; Wines O. K'd

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—A modification of the house of representatives beer bill was agreed upon today by a committee of senators, to provide a 3.05 per cent brew instead of 3.2 per cent and also to allow wines.

The house bill was drastically rewritten to make it air-tight against constitutional objections.

The committee now will report to the full judiciary committee, which must pass on the proposition before it reaches the senate.

The new alcoholic content represents 3.8 per cent by volume as compared with the house figure of four per cent by volume.

3.05 Non-Intoxicating

The committee attempted to remove constitutional objections by avoiding a definition of what constitutes an intoxicating beverage, but limiting the penalties of the Volstead act to those beverages above 3.05 per cent alcoholic content.

Senator Walsh, Montana democrat, explained the sub-committee adopted this percentage because it had been arrived at after a scientific study by a commission appointed by the British parliament as non-intoxicating.

Tax Unchanged

The language of the change in the new proposal, to limit penalties to beverage above 3.05 per cent, follows:

"Nothing in the national prohibition act as amended and supplemented shall apply to any of the following, or to any act or failure to act in respect of any of the following containing more than 3.05 per cent of alcohol by weight: Beer, ale, porter, wine, similar fermented malt or vinous liquor, or fruit juices."

The sub-committee left untouched the clause of the house bill, taxing beer at $5 a barrel, and it will apply to all the liquors permitted under the bill.

Chairman Blaine, announcing the sub-committee's action, said the new draft would be submitted to the full judiciary committee Monday.

M'NARY SA... FARM R...EF BILL MAY GO

Roosevelt Influence Is Seen As Big Factor in House Action

OPPOSITION ON WANE

Changes Will Be Demanded But Sentiment Said To Be Friendly

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Support for the democratic farm bill "if we can simplify it, make it practicable and bring it within the constitution" was promised today by Chairman McNary, (R., Ore.) of the senate agriculture committee.

His comment was in an informal statement to newspapermen after he had called the committee to meet Monday to consider the bill.

"I would guess," he said, "that with some simplification of language and description of fair exchange values and the probable inclusion of all agricultural commodities, subject to the decision of the department of agriculture with respect to which commodities the bill shall operate on, the bill would be reported out favorably by the committee.

"I am going to support it if we can simplify it, make it practicable and

WHAT BILL PROVIDES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Chief provisions of the emergency farm bill passed by the house and sent to the senate are:

Establishes minimum prices approaching the pre-war parity ratio of seven commodities—wheat, cotton, tobacco, hogs, rice, dairy products and peanuts.

Levies a processing tax to make up the difference between this level and actual farm prices, distributing the proceeds to farmers on their percentage of domestic consumption.

Requires beneficiaries to reduce acreage and production, or, in the case of dairymen, not to increase their output.

Increases tariffs by the amount of the processing taxes. Levies the amount of the cotton tax on silk and rayon.

Provides for administration by the secretary of agriculture and continues for a second year only by presidential proclamation.

EVIDENCE FINISHED IN COUSINS TRIAL

VANCOUVER, Wash., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Completing testimony in support of a self-defense plea for Jesse Cousins, 48, Probestel rancher, who is on trial for slaying a prohibition agent, the defense rested its case in superior court today and it was expected the jury would retire before night.

Cousins, who admitted in his testimony yesterday that he shot and killed E. B. Vlasich, Tacoma federal prohibition officer, and Ballard Turner, another federal agent, declared he fired only to save himself and in the belief the officers were hi-jackers. He is on trial for slaying Vlasich.

The two purchased liquor from him, he said, and Vlasich pounced on him, shoving him to the ground. Turner drew a revolver, the accused man declared. Then Cousins reached his own pistol, fired and fled.

Cousins and eight character witnesses for the defense testified yesterday. The witnesses said they knew Cousins sold liquor but that they didn't hold that against him.

Gas Stolen From Richfield Oil Plant

Thieves drilled a hole in a large gasoline storage tank at the Richfield Oil company's plant Thursday night and 1189 gallons of gas were lost to the company.

State police and the sheriff said the persons who took the gasoline evidently only took a few gallons for their own use, and that the rest of the gasoline leaked out the hole during the night. The hole was three sixteenth of an inch in diameter and a wooden plug had been placed in it to hold the gasoline. The plug wasn't large enough and the gasoline leaked out.

If the thieves are caught they will be charged with the theft of the whole 1189 gallons, police said.

Kidnapers May Be Holding Lee Schlesinger

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. B. F. Schlesinger, mother of Lee Schlesinger and wife of the department store magnate, confirmed today reports she had received a letter saying her son, believed drowned in the Columbia river, was being held by kidnapers.

She said the letter had been turned over to a Portland attorney for investigation. She refused details, but said the letter bore a Portland postmark.

"We don't place too much credence in it," she said, "because people do those things. We have had other letters with 'tips' regarding his whereabouts."

Mr. Schlesinger, father of the missing man, was in Marin county on a hiking trip with one of his grandchildren, and could not be reached for comment.

Mrs. Schlesinger would not disclose the amount of ransom asked in the letter, but said it was a "preposterous figure."

JAPANESE TROOPS PUSH INTO JEHOL

Shanghai Chamber Urges Stronger Boycott On Jap Goods

CHINCHOW, Manchuria, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Japanese forces were reported today in control of another strategic town in southeast Jehol as they pushed their lines farther into the ancient Chinese province.

Japanese land and air forces turned their attack upon Yunganpao, about 150 miles southwest of here yesterday, and claimed a swift and decisive victory against a large force of Chinese defenders.

Bombing planes laid siege to the town to aid the advance of a column of Japanese cavalry. Japanese sources said the Chinese troops were driven in hasty retreat. Reports were received at the Japanese military base here that the town was a stronghold of the Chinese commander, Cheng Kuei-Lin.

The move was expected to strength-

BOHEMIA MAY GET $100,000 ORE CRUSHER

Plans Announced By Owner Of Vesuvius Mine After Trip

FINANCING PROMISED

Development of Whole Area Expected To Follow, If Successful

Construction of a $100,000 ore reducing plant in the Bohemia mining district, east of Cottage Grove, will get under way as soon as snow clears out of the mountains this spring, G. A. Collins, mining engineer of San Francisco, informed the Eugene chamber of commerce Friday.

Collins, who owns the Vesuvius mine in this district, has been working on the project for some time and recently returned from a trip to the east where he obtained financial backing to the amount of $100,000 to build an oil flotation plant for the concentrating of ore, he informed E. G. Harlan, secretary of the chamber.

Location Uncertain

Definite location of the plant is uncertain since Collins intends to receive ore from other mines as well as from the Bohemia mines. However, it will be built in the Bohemia country, presumably on the west side of the district.

With the construction of this plant, the opening of Collins' mine and mines belonging to the Jennings interests in this district, prospects for considerable employment this spring were seen by local mining people.

The oil flotation plant for reducing ores enables the operator to obtain 90 per cent of the value of the ore, Harlan declared. This is of particular importance in this district since the Bohemia ore is known as a complex ore, containing in considerable amounts, gold, silver, lead, copper, iron and zinc.

Mining Congress Has Part

"The location of this plant here is the direct result of activities of the Western Oregon Mining congress in bringing Collins and other mining

HOUSE VOTE SENDS BILL TO SENATE

Solon Backing of Measure Doubtful; President Cites Objections

FEARS OTHER POWERS

Islands Declared Unable To Support Essentials of Government

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The house today passed the Philippine independence bill over the veto of President Hoover. The senate has yet to act.

The vote was 274 to 94.

A two-thirds majority was necessary.

Senate prospects are uncertain, but in at least some informed administration quarters there is a fear that the senate will likewise vote against the president's position as recorded in a stinging veto message that had been read to the house but an hour or so before it voted.

Senate Vote Doubtful

Friends of the legislation challenged his contentions that the bill would do untold harm to the islands, with "grave dangers of foreign invasion and war" entering into the reckonings.

The belief in the republican quarters of the house as to the likelihood of the senate overriding the veto found no counterpart in the ranks of senators who have been following the legislation most closely.

Chairman Bingham (R., Conn.), of the senate territories committee and some other leaders, were understood to be doubtful the veto could be overridden in the senate.

The house vote was 29 more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

In the house vote, 93 republicans and 1 democrat, Martin of Oregon, voted to sustain the veto, while 193 democrats, 80 republicans and 1 farmer-laborite, Kvale of Minnesota, voted to override.

DOWNFALL PREDICTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—A flat veto of the Philippine independence bill was placed by President Hoover today before a house of representatives primed for an attempt to override it.

Friday The Thirteenth Goes Over With A Bang According To Way Luck Happens To Run

Negroid felines traversing the course of homo sapiens were viewed with extra shudders Friday as citizens glanced at their calendars and realized that it was Friday the Thirteenth.

Superstitious souls avoided walking under ladders, dropping mirrors and opening umbrellas in houses with greater avidity Friday and few new ventures were started due to the prevailing opinion as to the results of such action.

In Eugene, numerous incidents marked the first Friday the Thirteenth of 1933. And here's something to thank the technocrats or somebody for, there are only two such days in 1933 so those who safely survive this Friday have only Friday, Oct. 13, 1933, to worry about.

A question, it appears, is posed: Was Friday the Thirteenth lucky or unlucky for one Ed Murphy?

Murphy, be it known, was arrested by night police patrolmen on charges of being intoxicated on city streets. He was incarcerated in the city jail along with 16 transients temporarily imposing on the city for a night's lodging.

Friday morning, when the day officers released the lodgers, Murphy mixed with the 16 men and walked away from the city hall a free man.

BUT—either due to his condition the night before or to his hurry to get away or to something else, Murphy walked off leaving $7.10 the night officers had taken from his person when they searched him, an overcoat and a hat. Therefore the question.

Little Miss Diane Gertrude Nelson has to start counting birthdays from Friday, Jan. 13, having arrived at 7 a. m. Friday at the Pacific Christian hospital, Eugene can't quite claim her, however, for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nelson, give their address as 410 Fifth street, Portland, Ore.

A birthday falling on the thirteenth is something but when the thirteenth and a Friday get together—it's something else—if you happen to feel that way about it. One Eugene man in such a fix said that he was leaving town for the week-end to get "swacked" and remain anonymous.

Whether Friday the 13th had anything to do with it or not may be pure speculation, but Glenn Bown, state auto license examiner, had only one application for the license examination all Friday morning in Springfield, where he spent the day waiting for "customers" to show up.

A "super-superstitious party" is planned by the Wesley club of the Methodist Episcopal church as the way to make a gala event of Friday, Jan. 13. The party will be at the church at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. P. M. Blenkinsop, pastor of the Portland Central Methodist Episcopal church, Ernest Craven, Portland tenor who sings frequently over the radio, and a group of other Portlanders will be here for the party, defying the day and what it might bring, to be at the party. Cuts In Salary Are Announced In Washington

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Salary cuts in all code departments and state institutions other than the higher institutions of learning were announced today by Governor Clarence D. Martin as his first major economy move. The reductions, the governor said, will become effective January 15 and will range from 10 to 25 per cent.

The governor also revealed the salary cuts were preliminary to a complete survey to determine how many employes in the nine code departments and state institutions could be eliminated. He said he had instructed department heads to complete the survey by February 1, and on that date submit the results of their findings to the executive office.

Under the reductions employes receiving $150 or more a month will receive a flat cut of 25 per cent; $100 a month to $150, 20 per cent; $60 to $100, 15 per cent, and under $60, 10 per cent.

AIMEE REPORTED IN STATE OF COMA

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Ill for more than two years, Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, world famous evangelist, was reported today by her physician to be in a coma.

Dairymen! Get Your Green Or Black Milk Bottles Now

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—[illegible] grass green, delicately stripe with black, may be the accepted olor scheme for the milk bottle of ay after tomorrow.

The reason for the green is a tter matter of $1,000,000—the na- on's present annual bill for dam- ge to food by rancidity. The color f luxuriant grass was officially reed- ed today by the department of ag- culture with being the most satisfac- ry resistant to food spoilage.

The announcement was based on the findings of Mayne B. Coe, a young chemist, who, equipped with a spectroscope, a thick notebook and a score of diverse colored vials in which foods were exposed to the sun, ascertained the virtues of green. Black is as good, and is suggested to relieve the monotony in coloring.

There will be no exclusive use of this novel discovery as a public pat- ent has been obtained to make use of color protection available without charge to any resident of the country.

Coe reported that food exposed in clear glass containers spoiled most quickly and that yellowish or bluish green fails to protect.

The green must be of the chlorophyll hue, scientifically described as the portion of the spectrum lying between 4,900 and 5,600 angstrom units.

The established protection applies to oil-bearing foods, but Coe is continuing experimentation to ascertain if other colors will guard the sweetness and purity of non-oil bearing foods.

The green protective principle applies to butter, salad oil, lard, pecans, cashew nuts, potato chips, mayonnaise, whole wheat flour, corn meal, many bakery products and foods containing some quantity of oil.
