

TRADE BOARD WILL BE 'GUARDIAN' TO INVESTORS OF U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt put the protective arm of the government about security investors today to guard against fraudulent issues that have totaled the estimated sum of $25,000,000 in the last ten years.

The legislation requiring full publicity of new security issues to protect the public all pertinent data relating to the paper was signed by the president with a statement that it was aimed "to correct some of the evils which have been so glaringly revealed in the private exploitation of the public's money."

Trade Commission Administrators Members of the federal trade commission who will administer the new act were at the White House signing and immediately set to work to prepare regulations.

"If the country is to flourish," said Mr. Roosevelt, "capital must be invested in enterprise. But those who seek to draw upon their people's money must be wholly candid regarding the facts on which the investor's judgment is asked."

"To that end this bill requires the publicity necessary for sound investment. It is of course no insurance against errors of judgment. That is the function of no government. It does give assurance, however, that within the limit of its powers the federal government will insist upon knowledge of the facts on which alone judgment can be based."

Check on "High Pressure" "The new law also will safeguard against the abuses of high pressure salesmanship in security offerings. It will require full disclosure of all the private interests on the part of those who seek to sell securities to the public."

The law requires that both domestic and foreign issues be registered with the federal trade commission for 20 days before they are advertised or sold.

The commission can issue a stop order against any security if it found a fraud or misrepresentation was involved.

The legislation also carries the proposal of Senator Johnson (R-Calif.) setting up a corporation of foreign security holders to help American investors in defaulted foreign bonds recover as much as possible of their money.

Commission's Statement The federal trade commission issued a statement asserting: "It will be the aim and purpose of the federal trade commission under the authority of the act to prevent further exploitation of the public by the sale of fraudulent and worthless securities through misrepresentation, to place adequate and true information before investors and to protect honest enterprise seeking capital by honest representations against the competition afforded by securities offered through crooked promotion and misrepresentation."

"Statistics indicate that the sale of worthless securities through misrepresentation and fraud has amounted to the colossal sum of $25,000,000,000 during the last ten years. This means $250 for every man, woman and child in the United States."

FLINT MURDER STORY

Word that young Macdonald and a companion in an automobile stopped at a gasoline filling station at 4 a. m. today and sought direction to Chicago, caused authorities to notify police in that city as well as all points en route. The search also was extended to Topinabee, Mullet lake, north of here, where Mrs. Macdonald had a summer cottage for which she had planned to leave today.

Seen At Gas Station The operator of the gasoline station said the young man he identified as Macdonald had a large roll of bills when he paid for gasoline.

Mrs. Macdonald's husband was the late Bruce J. Macdonald, for 32 years cashier of the old First National bank here. He died about 12 years ago. She came here from Portland, Ore., as a bride in 1906, and became one of the leaders of Flint society.

She was one of the organizers of the Flint Y. W. C. A., one of the founders of the Flint Art Institute and the Flint Concert association, contributing heavily to the support of these organizations.

SENATE WRENCH STORY

Some members of the senate have shown uneasiness at the new Roosevelt foreign policy. Today's committee action was the first concrete expression of it. Although Mr. Roosevelt intends not to include his peace doctrine in the arms treaty that may be signed at Geneva, the one will be predicated upon the other, and undoubtedly will prove the major subject of senate debate when and if the pact is submitted for ratification.

total profit of $1,067,355 of which Morgan's share was $170,770.

As these disclosures were made Senator Couzens (R, Mich.), member of the investigating committee charged a "subtle campaign" was being conducted against Ferdinand Pecora, the counsel who has been conducting the inquiry.

Couzens said charges had been submitted to him designed to "discredit" the aggressive committee agent and that he was calling upon those who made them to submit their proof, if any. Pecora was the center of the clash in the committee's investigation of the public concern, and announced the investigation would "go forward."

Another member of the committee said "all the power of Wall Street could not stop this investigation until all is disclosed that should be." While the controversy raged Pecora was in New York preparing to resume the inquiry next Wednesday.

Another development was a statement that they were informed in executive session yesterday that half a dozen of the 20 Morgan partners were indebted to the firm.

Much New Evidence Found The documents about Morgan's operations disclosed a mass of information concerning the great banking house that had not previously been developed.

They showed the banking house had managed 70 security issues over the five year period amounting to $1,754,350,000 with a total gross profit, before deduction of overhead of $10,152,770.25.

The firm's affiliate in Philadelphia, Dexel and Company, which partners in the firm said was really a part of it, managed 43 issues totaling $144,104,900 with a profit of $4,429,088.01.

The parent firm, participated in issues totaling $3,031,501,000 and $1,016,373 shares of unestimated value, which were managed by others. Its shares of the sales were $344,220,035 and $18,500 shares with total profits to the firm of $2,877,043.

Drexel's profits from participating in issues managed by other houses were $799,000.
