

Hollywood Stars To Battle For Lead In League Poultry Changes Made; Stocks Close Heavily

MISSION FIELDERS IN TOP PLACE FOR SLUGGING HONORS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hollywood's Stars take the field at Oakland today with high hopes of bettering their first place position at the expense of the slugging Oaks while their four closest rivals are fighting among themselves.

Somewhat chastened by their five Mission victories, the Portland Beavers engage Los Angeles at Wrigley Field this week. Manager Spencer Abbott thinks his veterans are going to cop the 1933 pennant and expects them to resume their winning drive with the Angels as the victims. Four defeats at Sacramento last week sent the Angels down to fifth place.

In the fourth league engagement Seattle crosses bats with the San Francisco Giants at the home stadium again in their fight for seventh place. At Seattle two weeks ago each team won four games of the eight played. Since then the Seals have been strengthened by the addition of outfielder Elias Funk, obtained from the Chicago White Sox.

Outfielder continued to hold a commanding lead in the Pacific coast league batting averages today, with a .443 total to his credit, 40 points ahead of his closest competitor.

And just to make the Mission club's place in the records doubly sure, Louis Almad, another outfielder, slipped into second place, hitting .397. This showed Larry Woodall, Sacramento, into third position with .390.

Largely on the basis of the heavy stick work of Eckhardt and Almad, the Mission nine led the team average with .324 in 70 games.

Ray Jacobs, Hollywood first baseman, added another circuit wallop to his list giving him 23 4-ply hits as the home run king; seven more than George Burns, Seattle first baseman and manager.

Fred Hanzey, veteran Hollywood third baseman, and Angie Galan, San Francisco shortstop, continued their close race for base theft honors with 17 pilferings each.

OAKLAND STANDS IN WAY OF STARS

(By United Press)
The Oakland Acons, original leaders of this year's Coast league race, barred the path of the Hollywood Stars today, seeking to widen their lead in first place.

Barring an unexpected slump, the Stars should improve their status at the expense of Oakland, lolling along in sixth place. The series is played on Oakland's Emeryville lot.

Sacramento's position was less promising. The Senators, crowding Hollywood's heels, are meeting Missions who unsated Portland from leadership last week. The series opens tonight at Sacramento.

Portland hoped to recoup its fortunes today as it launched a series against the Angels at Los Angeles. The Angels who have been moving at a slower gait the past few weeks are due for an early comeback which may get under way this week.

For the second time in two weeks, the cellar position was at stake with San Francisco and Seattle shifting the scene of hostilities to the Seals' home field. San Francisco was holding the lowly spot by a two-game margin.

Big G Scouting Plan Is Killed

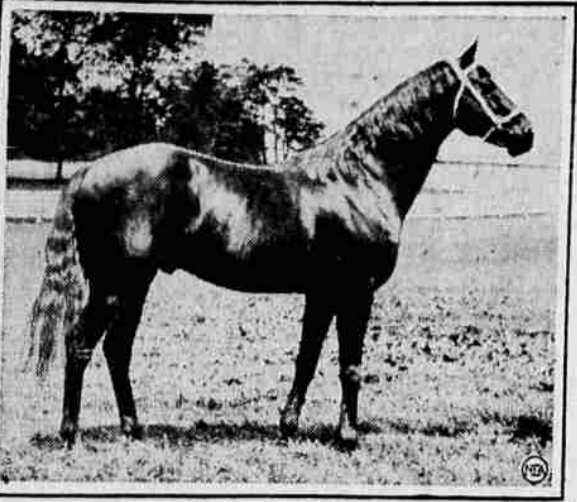

BERKELEY, Cal., June 13.—(AP)—Plans of the Big G Alumni club of the University of California to openly scout high school athletic material have been virtually nullified by the Pacific coast conference. It was unofficially reported today.

The conference, meeting at Spokane, Wash., last week, voted to declare as ineligible any player recruited in a proscribing system such as the Big G club planned.

"The ruling kills the paid employee" Dean Paul E. Cadman of California said. The alumni group had planned on hiring a full-time secretary for the work.

Cadman said the conference "show-

HIGH CLIMBER Takes km over

By ROY CRAFT
L. H. Gregory, Oregonian sports editor, will be called upon to settle this one. It may be a very elementary baseball argument but at least it has the boys up and down Willamette street laying bets and whenever you get the baseball fans betting among themselves, you have to seek higher authority to settle it.

In the Eugene-Salem game Sunday, the Eugene team was behind, 4 to 0 at the start of the ninth. Bob Wiltshire had pitched the eight innings for Eugene but retired in favor of Charlie Orr, a pinch hitter, at the start of the ninth. Orr got a hit and was replaced on first base by Cotter Gould, who ran for him. Four runs were eventually scored by Eugene in that inning and as Salem came to bat in the 10th of the ninth, Eugene led 8 to 6. Cecil Inman went in and held Salem scoreless, giving Eugene the game.

The question which has the boys bothered is whether to credit Wiltshire or Inman with the pitching victory. This department does not claim to be a baseball authority but it appears that Wiltshire should get credit for the victory since Inman did not go into the game until the other hand, while Wiltshire had pitched the score against him, he was replaced by a pinch hitter and was not really replaced by another pitcher until the start of the ninth.

It is important that Gregory settle this question since we have bet two glasses of a popular new beverage with Charlie Orr, the batter whose hit started the rally. Orr is inclined to give credit for the victory to Inman. Meanwhile, since Wiltshire is a serious-minded lad who takes his pitching averages seriously, the boys have been kidding him and telling him that credit for the pitching victory goes to Cotter Gould. When Wiltshire retired from the game, they tell him, the score was against Eugene and therefore Wiltshire does not get credit for the win. Charlie Orr, who went in to bat for Wiltshire, then became the pitcher in the lineup. But Charlie retired from the game after getting to first base with the score still against Eugene, so Orr does not get credit for the victory. Then Cotter Gould, ace base-runner, went in for Orr and was theoretically the pitcher. Gould circled the bases and sat on the bench after scoring. He was not removed from the lineup until the end of that half of the inning by which time Eugene was ahead and Inman went in to replace Gould.

Since Cotter Gould retired as pitcher with the score in Eugene's favor, Gould gets credit for the pitching victory! Of course, this theory does not hold good but it had Wiltshire worried and it should have been a source of considerable pleasure to Cotter.

Well, Herb Owen has finally succeeded in matching Jensen and Clingman. Herb has to get tough with his gorillas sometimes and he had to threaten Thor with suspension from his cards unless Jensen would rattle Otis. Since Thor does not favor this match he will probably try to take it out on Clingman Thursday night. Which bodies well for the card. Clingman has already made his plans to get revenge on Thor for his allegedly unethical tactics the last time they met.

Last Week Was Slightly Haywire In Sport World

By HENRY MELEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, June 13.—(AP)—If Mrs. Adams boy, Alton Ben, you had been awakened from a deep dream of peace last Wednesday night to find an angel sitting on the head of your bed, and that angel, with a knowing look in his eyes had said, "Boy, if you're smart you'll play Baer to kayo Schmeling, Goodman to take the open and Hurry Off the Belmont," what would you have done?

We mean what would you have done Thursday morning, for it's a certainty you'd have spent the remainder of Wednesday night squarely in the middle of a case of galloping jitters and promising yourself (in a loud voice) to lead a better life. It's what you would have done Thursday that interests us.

Would you have robbed baby's bank, cleaned out the sugar bowl, looked behind the clock on the mantelpiece and then lamed it for the corner bookmakers, there to play the angelic visitor's tips? Or would you, like us, have said that angel had his nerve wacking you up and scaring you out of ooily-goofy selections that had neither rhyme nor reason?

Personally, we would have shown the angel the door, or whatever it is that angels use in leaving in a hurry. For last Wednesday Baer, Goodman and Hurry Off seemed about as sound an investment as Insull, Krueger and Goldman-Sacks.

Baer, a bitter and nothing else, was up against a fellow who (to us he thought) could not only hit as hard as he could, but could answer most of the other questions a guy gets asked in a ring. If the angel had said:

Who says we can't take it!

ed no disposition" to listen to California's plan to bring proselyting into the open.

Bellfountain Nine Beats Benton Lane

The Bellfountain hill climbers defeated the newly organized Benton Lane park team 8 to 4 in their game at Benton Lane park Sunday.

Sandy Peterson had nearly a perfect day at bat for the park team, getting three hits out of four tries. Ted Mumper, Roy Todd, Dorr Pitty and Manager Marion Reneau each rapped out one hit.

Next Sunday the Benton Lane team will play Monroe at the park if suitable arrangements can be made. Otherwise it will be played at Monroe.

JENSEN WILL MEET OTIS CLINGMAN IN MATCH THIS WEEK

Thor Jensen, recalcitrant Ekton grappler, has agreed to meet Otis Clingman, Oklahoma's ex-navy champion, on Thursday evening's wrestling program. Herb Owen, Eugene and Portland promoter announced the match following negotiations with Jensen in which Owen forced the hand of the Thunderbolt.

The promoter did not reveal the pressure by which Thor Jensen arranged the match but it is understood Owen threatened to leave Jensen off his cards for six months unless he would accept the return bout with Clingman. Owen had tried to arrange the match for last week but Thor flatly refused.

Otis Hurts Charges
Clingman, meantime, had charged Jensen with trying to "rattle" on him and said Thor was guilty of un-sportsmanlike conduct. Jensen won over Clingman when they last met by virtue of three socks on the jaw and a body slam out of the ring that left Otis colder than Eugene's love for Corvallis.

The Clingman-Jensen feud has done much to build up interest in wrestling here and will probably set the year's attendance record. Regardless of the fact the fans may think of Thor's ring tactics, they still have a great respect for his wrestling ability. Clingman is probably the most popular boy Owen has brought to Eugene.

Harold Hiebert, St. Helens logger, will meet Gorilla Pogi, of Argentina, in the 45-minute special event. Pogi has the face and form of a gorilla and will make a striking contrast to the handsome blonde Hiebert (oh yeah?) Pogi was to arrive in Eugene Tuesday and will be seen prowling Willamette street until the match Thursday night.

BROOKLYN DROPS TO SEVENTH PLACE

NEW YORK, June 13.—(AP)—The floundering Brooklyn Dodgers were down in seventh place in the National League today after standing again today, after dropping a 7 to 4 decision to the tail end Phillies, enabling the idle Boston Braves to take over sixth position.

Owen Carroll, who hasn't finished a game for the fourth place Cubs since May 18, was the victor in a Philadelphia attack that netted six runs before the fourth frame was completed.

With Manager Donie Bush back on Cincinnati's bench after a month's illness, the Reds downed Chicago, 6 to 5. George Grantham's triple with the bases loaded and two out featured the Reds' deciding four-run rally in the seventh.

Bob Smith held the Cubs to eight hits, while Malone and Bush yielded 13.

They were the only National league games played.

Only one game was scheduled in the American circuit. Chicago dropped to fourth place when beaten, 2 to 1, by St. Louis, boosting the idle Philadelphia Athletics into third position. Bruce Campbell won the game with a homer in the eighth, driving in a runner ahead of him.

Browning Retains Heavyweight Title

NEW YORK, June 13.—(AP)—Jim Browning of Verona, Mo., retained his claim to the world heavyweight wrestling championship last night by winning a close decision over "Jumping Joe" Savoldi, former Notre Dame grid star, after 1 hour 58 minutes and 5 seconds of grappling before 6000 fans at Yankee stadium.

Browning, recognized as titleholder in New York state, appeared the fresher and had piled up more points when his scheduled finish match was halted because of the 11 o'clock curfew law.

Freddie Miller Is Pounded By Mexican

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—(AP)—Baby Arizemendi, Mexican, pounded out a decision over Freddie Miller of Cincinnati, national boxing association featherweight titleholder, in ten rounds here last night.

Miller, whose championship was not at stake, was given a severe pummeling by the Mexican most of the time. He gained an edge in only two rounds. Two were even.

Wheat Hits New High, Then Sinks

CHICAGO, June 13.—(AP)—New record high prices for wheat and rye distinguished late trading today, but met with increased selling and declines ensued.

Advances in securities were largely responsible for the transient upturn of grains. Numerous unfavorable crop reports were also a bullish factor.

Wheat closed nervous, 3-8@3-4 under yesterday's finish, corn also 3-8@3-4 down, oats 3-8@5-8 off, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 15 cents.
