

INDUSTRY LAYS PLANS MEETING RECOVERY ACT

Industries Rush Work
On Agreements On Hours, Wages

July To See Start
Selection Of State Chiefs
To Be Announced In
Few Days

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(AP)—Agreements among more than half a dozen major industries to raise wages, stabilize hours of work and sales below cost of production were understood tonight to be nearing completion for submission to the National Recovery Act.

Out of weeks of conferences came ready reports that announcement of workers and set in motion the machinery upon which President Roosevelt rests much of his expectation of ending the depression.

Representatives of textiles, iron and steel, automobiles, coal, clothing, electrical supplies, and other key industries have been in touch directly with the federal government since the act was passed in the last few days. Over a dozen other meetings are going on.

And out of them, officials foresee, will come tangible results to curb unemployment and increasing purchasing power.

President Roosevelt expressed the hope before his departure from Washington that "the ten major industries which control the bulk of industrial employment can submit their plans to the federal government by the end of the month of July as the beginning of our national movement back to normal."

To Pick State Chiefs
Meanwhile, there were reports that public works sections of the legislation would be administered over the long time period by Colonel George R. Spaulding of the army engineering corps.

Spaulding, most of those familiar with the organization before the bill was actually signed, President Roosevelt named Colonel Donald H. Spaulding, chairman of the federal employment stabilization board, as temporary administrator of public works.

It was indicated that in a few weeks Spaulding, who has been heading the exploratory work and the building up of the engineering organization, would be named permanent administrator.

Within the next few days a list of administrative officers of the construction program will be submitted to the cabinet advisory committee headed by Secretary Ickes. With this, the bulk of the machinery for encouraging state, county and federal projects through grants of 50 per cent of the cost of labor and materials will have been created.

Both Sides Active As Iowa Prepares To Vote On Repeal Tuesday; Two Other States Will Decide Issue That Day Too

DES MOINES, Ia., June 17.—(AP)—Both sides expressed equal confidence of victory as they launched last minute drives tonight before Iowa's special election Tuesday on the question of repeal of national prohibition.

Repealists hopes of placing Iowa alongside the eleven states which have previously ratified the 21st amendment were pinned on a heavier than normal vote.

Prohibition leaders, anxious that Iowa be the first state to refuse to ratify repeal, also professed to see success in a large turnout. Rallies and gatherings over the state Sunday and Monday are to stress "get out the vote" efforts.

The anti-repeal outlook was outlined by Dr. J. W. Graves, executive secretary of the All-Iowa Prohibition Emergency committee, who declared that "if the womanhood and the farmers of Iowa register their opinion, victory is assured."

Judge E. G. Moon, co-chairman of the Iowa Repeal for Prosperity committee, declared ratification of repeal in Iowa "in our opinion, will assure repeal of the 18th amendment."

Up to a month ago Ernest L. Converse, state secretary of the Anti-Saloon League, was predicting that New Hampshire would vote to retain the dry law, but recently no such statements have been issued.

DRY CONDEDE DEFEAT
NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 17.—(AP)—Connecticut, one of the states which never ratified the 18th amendment, Tuesday will select delegates to its convention to act on the 21st amendment, which would repeal the prohibition laws.

The result appeared so certain that even the Rev. Fletcher Parker at Hartford, state chairman of the citizens' organization against ratification, in a formal statement said his organization did not expect to win.

Both J. Henry Rorabach, republican state chairman, and David A. Wilson, democratic state chairman, have predicted that ratification will win easily.

Citizens against ratification planned their final efforts on pulp appeals in churches tomorrow.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 17.—(AP)—A Hamm Brewing company truck moved out of the company's yards tonight presumably carrying $100,000 to be paid as ransom money for the freedom of William Hamm, Jr., millionaire president.

At the same time W. W. Dunn, sales manager for the brewery, Herbert J. Charles, secretary of the company and several other men whose identities were not immediately learned left the brewery in another car.

At police headquarters, it was disclosed the car of Charles J. Tierney, chief inspector of detectives, set out about the same time for an undisclosed destination.

Warning Signal Is Struck By Steamer

THE DALLES, Ore., June 17.—(AP)—Damage amounting to several thousand dollars was caused today when the river steamer Weavon struck a cable stretched across the Columbia river to the airport. The steel towers on both sides of the stream were pulled over and wrecked, and the one-inch cable was snapped.

The Weavon's super-structure was damaged, but the continued down river to Portland with a cargo of wheat.

The cable, which ordinarily is suspended well above interference to shipping, was installed by the geodetic survey to warn aviators that power lines cross the river. Red lights are displayed at night.

Roosevelt To Be
Off Today On Trip

MARION, Mass., June 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt was out in the harbor tonight aboard the little, white two-masted schooner Amberg 2, poised for a cruise up the Atlantic coast to begin at 7 a. m. tomorrow.

Arriving here shortly after 6 o'clock from a motor trip that led from Boston through Groton to visit his mother and two sons, the president embarked almost immediately on the waiting yacht.

The wheat plan is based on the voluntary domestic allotment plan. The exact amount of acreage reduction will be determined after negotiations have been completed at the world wheat conference at London.

KELSO LOSSES SMALL
New Highwater Marks Set
As Columbia Flows
Over Banks

By The Associated Press
Flood waters which were surging over several areas in the Pacific northwest last night, centering with greatest severity in southwestern Washington, along the lower Columbia and in northern Idaho, took a toll of two lives.

Herman Hermanson, 19, drowned in the flood waters of the Tolt river, 20 miles east of Seattle, when a heavily-loaded grain truck broke through a bridge. In northern Idaho, near Bonners Ferry, Harry Henderson, a patrol rider along the swollen Kootenai river, was thrown from his horse into the river and drowned.

Kelso Damage Small
At Kelso, in southwestern Washington, flood waters which poured over an area of 500 acres of suburban residential district on Thursday when a dike in the Coweeman river broke, remained from one to 20 feet all over the area.

The water was from two to three blocks from the business district, and approximately 250 homes were submerged to a greater or lesser extent. The damage was small, however, with conservative estimates placing it at between $50,000 to $80,000.

High Marks Set
In northern Idaho, with the Kootenai carrying more water than at any time since 1910, the flood damage was placed by some estimates at as high as $450,000. Large areas of crops were flooded when dikes protecting irrigation districts were broken.

All along the 1400-mile length of the Columbia river, the water was near record heights. At Wenatchee, it stood at the high mark of 1925, which had not been equaled since 1904 and placed miners had been driven out for a long distance up and down the river and its tributaries.

In central Washington, near Kennewick, a number of county roads were inundated and the waters were within a foot of the main Kennewick-Richland highway.

High water was also doing damage in British Columbia.

Registration For Special Election
Closes June 20

Registration books for the special election to be held July 21 will close at 5 p. m. June 20 and voters not registered and desiring to vote at the election must register at the office of the county clerk or with registrars in the various precincts by that time.

Persons who have become of age and have not registered, new arrivals in the county and persons who have allowed their registration to lapse must register before the closing date in order to qualify at the special election.

Club Named To Building Board

W. C. Clubb, city engineer, has been appointed to the research department of the Pacific Coast Building Officers conference, succeeding A. J. Bird, of Vancouver, Wash. It was announced here Saturday.

The appointment was made by C. D. Wallis, Jr., of Los Angeles, president. The term shortly runs out, but it is expected Clubb will be elected to fill a three-year term at the annual meeting of the conference this summer.

The research department considers test reports on different materials for building purposes and conducts investigations into proposals for new materials to be used as standard building materials.

Extortioner Said
To Be At Large

TACOMA, Wash., June 17.—(AP)—An alleged extortioner, believed to have been shot and seriously wounded last night by detectives aboard a southbound passenger train when he ran from the bushes to pick up a "dummy package" was at large today, successfully escaping despite his wounds.

The victim of the plot, Mrs. W. W. Seymour, a society leader and widow of a former Tacoma mayor, was complying with terms in a series of blackmailing notes she had received. They demanded $3,200, threatening her life if she did not comply.

RAISES YOUNG APE WITH HIS OWN SON!

A remarkable psychological experiment, in which an infant ape was brought up as the baby sister to a professor's son of approximately the same age, has proven that environment and training made the ape virtually a "human" in mental development. In many cases the ape's development exceeded the child's. Dr. W. N. Kellogg of Indiana University conducted the experiment, raising his son, Donald, and the ape, Gua, together through their infant development stages as brother and sister. They wore the same clothes, ate the same food, played together, reacted to the same discipline and routine. The upper picture shows Donald and Gua having a lively romp in their rabbit-car. Below, an interesting comparison of their physical development. Pictures by courtesy of the publishers, Whittlesby House, McGraw-Hill Book Co., "The Ape and the Child."

NO TRACE FOUND OF MISSING FLIER

Searching Planes Scour
Cow Creek Canyon
Area In Vain

ROSEBURG, Ore., June 17.—(AP)—The wild, jagged mountains of the Cow Creek Canyon country in southern Oregon were scanned from the air by nearly a score of fliers today as comrades of William B. Young, 28, Portland aviator, sought some trace of him or his plane, unreported since shortly before midnight Friday.

The missing flier disappeared between Medford and Portland and today the search centered in the Cow Creek region after a forest service employee said he had heard a plane circling in the fog last night in the vicinity of Devil's Knob. Flying weather had been excellent along the Medford-Portland airway, except for a bank of fog in the mountain wilderness.

Young, who formerly flew the Portland always route between Portland and Walla Walla, took a passenger from Portland to Medford last night, reaching the southern Oregon city at 11:20 p. m. Thirty minutes later he took off for Portland, where he should have arrived 2 1/2 hours later.

There was no report from his radio set at 1 a. m., and ground operators became concerned. Calls to his ship went unanswered, and a check with all ground stations

"Pretty Boy" Said
Not In On Massacre

BOLIVAR, Mo., June 17.—(AP)—Unharmful after a 500 mile ride as the hostage of Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, Sheriff William (Jack) Killingsworth expressed belief today the notorious outlaw had not taken part in the slaying of four officers and Frank Nash, another Oklahoma desperado, in Kansas City.

The sheriff said, however, Floyd and his companions may have participated in the killing of Sheriff William Boone county and Sergeant Ben Booth of the state highway patrol Wednesday.

Mormons Declare
Against Polygamy

SALT LAKE CITY, June 17.—(AP)—The first presidency of the Latter Day Saints church issued a statement today saying the church will not countenance polygamy among its members and that offenders will face immediate excommunication.

The statement was signed by Heber J. Grant, president of the church, and Anthony W. Ivins and J. Reuben Clark, Jr., counselors.

Navy Orders Out Vessels To Hunt Sea For Mattern

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(AP)—Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, tonight ordered all naval vessels and airplanes in Alaskan waters and in the vicinity of the Aleutian waters to search for Jimmy Mattern, round-the-world flier missing on a hop from Siberia to Alaska.

The navy department said the repair ship Argonne, in command of Captain Harry Dact, was in Alaskan waters and that at least two navy fliers also were in the vicinity. They were Ensign William A. Moffett, Jr., son of the late Rear Admiral Moffett, and Lieutenant John Vest.

Pratt's order instructed all naval vessels and pilots to make every effort, by sea and plane, to locate the missing man.

D. A. R. And Pioneers
To Set Up Marker
On Smithfield Site

To mark the site of the historic Lane county town of Smithfield (now known as Franklin), the Lane county chapter of the D. A. R. and Oregon pioneers will set up a marker there on Sunday, June 25, on the site of the old Daniel Smith farm and homestead.

Dr. John B. Horner, emeritus professor of history at Oregon State College, who has made researches in the history of the locality will be the principal speaker. The exercises will begin with a picnic dinner which will follow services in the village church. At 2:30 the tablet will be placed.

Mrs. A. R. Quackenbush is directing the arrangements for the D. A. R. and it is part of their program of marking historic sites in this part of Oregon. Smithfield was not only one of the earliest settlements in Lane county but was the scene of many stirring incidents at the time of the Civil War.

Idaho Court Rules
Against Beer Sale

BOISE, Idaho, June 17.—(AP)—The state supreme court today ruled that beer, near beer or any kind of malt, vinous, fermented or spirituous liquors are illegal in Idaho.

The decision upheld a 23 year old opinion of the court holding that near beer or any kind of beverage coming in the usual alcoholic classes could not be sold or possessed in Idaho.

It was handed down by the court less than 48 hours before the state legislature will meet here in special session to act on the question of whether 3.2 per cent beer may be legalized.

CALLS ELECTION
BOISE, Idaho, June 17.—(AP)—Gov. C. Ben Ross issued a proclamation today formally calling an election September 19 for voting on the congressional resolution repealing the 18th amendment. He announced last night he would issue the proclamation today.

PARLEY WAITS ON U. S. MONEY STAND

Currency Scheme Rejection
Casts Cloud Over
Conference

By FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer
LONDON, June 17.—(AP)—News that the American government is not prepared to accept the currency stabilization plan drafted at London by experts at the world economic conference changed the whole aspect of the parley tonight, destroying the generally accepted view that the world monetary problem would be the first to yield concrete results.

The American delegates heard the report from Washington unofficially as they returned from the royal garden party at Windsor.

Early editions of London Sunday papers were already appearing with the headlines "Conference Makes Progress" and asserting an arrangement for the stabilization of the pound and the dollar was near at hand.

Central bank officials, it was said in conference quarters where the news was heard, will have to resume their private conversations regarding currency stabilization at the earliest.

Marshfield Man To Talk On Sales Tax

John D. Goss, Marshfield, will address a public mass meeting at the Lane county courthouse at 8 o'clock Wednesday, June 21, on the proposed sales tax for Oregon. It was announced Saturday.

Mr. Goss, who has made a deep study of the bill and its workings, will present an analysis of the measure and explain its effects if it becomes law.

Lane Pioneers To Gather For Annual Meeting Tuesday At Cal Young Farm

The picnic is on! Pioneers and sons and daughters of pioneers will gather Tuesday, June 20, at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Cal M. Young for the all-day session of the annual Lane County Pioneers' association. Since this is the only big gathering of the year for the association, the picnic is looked to bring out a large crowd.

The event starts at 10 a. m. All persons who have been residents of Oregon for 50 years or more are asked to attend the meeting. Each family is to bring its own basket of food and table service, including plate, knife, fork, spoon, sugar, cup and saucer, ice cream, coffee, and cream are to be furnished by the association.

The dinner table will be spread beneath the huge trees that stand in the spacious yard of the Young home. L. L. Ray, Eugene attorney, is to be the speaker for the day. Miss Anne Whiteaker, president of the association, will preside at the meeting. Miss Whiteaker made the following statement on the Tuesday meeting, Saturday:

Wounded Detective Tells
Story Of Kansas
Massacre

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(AP)—The federal government, angered by the slaying of a department of justice operative in Kansas City, was moving tonight toward stamping out racketeers and gunmen.

The slaying of Raymond J. Caffrey, the justice department man, in an attempt at Kansas City to free or kill Frank Nash, an Oklahoma train robber, was accepted by Attorney General Cummings as outright defiance of a governmental agency which gangdom has long respected.

He answered the challenge with an order to set the entire justice department on the trail of the killers and specifically assigned a detail from points near Kansas City to the case.

GUNS KILL FIVE
KANSAS CITY, June 17.—(AP)—Blazing machine guns turned Kansas City's Union Station plaza into a scene of horror today as seven officers of a governmental agency which gangdom has long respected, five of them killed outright and two others wounded in a brief burst of fire.

The wholesale killing was staged in an effort to release or slay Frank Nash, notorious Oklahoma train robber and killer, being returned to the federal prison at Leavenworth where he escaped three years ago.

When the murderous rattle of machine gun slugs ceased, Nash, the Oklahoma desperado, was crumpled dead in an automobile he had entered the moment of the attack.

Two Are Wounded
Lifelines about him were:
Raymond J. Caffrey, special agent of the United States bureau of investigation.

Otto Ruhl, chief of police at McAlester, Okla.
Rank Hermanson, Kansas City detective.

W. J. Grooms, Kansas City detective.
The wounded were F. J. Lackey, special agent at Oklahoma City of the bureau of investigation, whose condition was reported as serious.

CHILD FALLS FROM
CAR; MAN ALSO HURT

Falling from an automobile as the door flew open when the machine went around a curve, Jerry Joe Leabo, six years old, was seriously injured late Saturday afternoon. A thigh was fractured and the child received other bruises and injuries when the car, the one she had been riding in, ran over her. She was brought to the Pacific hospital at 6 p. m. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Leabo of Jasper.

Arthur Ruthven, employee of the Hills Creek Lumber company, Jasper, is in a serious condition at the Pacific hospital as a result of an accident while at work in the woods Saturday afternoon. He was felling a tree when a limb fell, striking him on the head. He is suffering with concussion of the skull as well as deep lacerations over the ear and neck. Extent of his injuries was not fully determined late Saturday, owing to the fact he was in such serious condition and suffering so from shock that X-rays could not be taken at once.

Hobart Clark, injured in a similar accident at Westfir late Friday, is reported to be getting along all right. He is at the Pacific hospital, too.
