

FRANCE ASKS PARLEY SHOWDOWN

LARGE WHEAT GROWERS SAID IN AGREEMENT

American Plan of Acreage Reduction Is Backed By Canada

FRANCE IS UNWILLING

Argentine Held Favorable; Australian Scheme Held Faulty

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER

(Associated Press Staff Writer) LONDON, June 20.—(AP)—Definite progress in negotiations by the "big four" wheat producing countries toward reaching an agreement for control of production was reported authoritatively in world economic conference quarters today.

Premier Hendrik Colijn of Holland, told the economic commission he hoped to have a plan, supported by the United States, Canada, Argentina and Australia, ready for presentation for the adherence of the smaller wheat producers.

Canada, U. S. Agreed In the meantime talks among representatives of the "big four" have progressed, with the method of attacking crop control the chief problem. The United States is the only country with a definite plan legalized and ready for action.

Canada is in agreement in principle and the Argentine delegation is sympathetic but the Australians are fearful of political repercussions if an effort is made to cut acreage.

The Australians are reported to have proposed a method of controlling exports and "denaturalizing" the surplus. It is assumed that under this plan alcohol would be made from grain in excess of domestic requirements and the export quota, and would be used as fuel. The details, however, have been withheld.

France balks In some quarters it was felt that the Australian suggestion was unsatisfactory in view of the disastrous Australian efforts to restrict coffee exports without restricting acreage, resulting in the burning of the surplus locomotive fuel and its destruction by various methods.

It is understood that the Americans have proposed various percentages of acreage reduction, such as 15 per cent the first year and 10 per cent the second; 20 per cent the first and 5 per cent the second; or a full 25 per cent the first.

Albert Sarraut, French minister of colonies, quickly served notice that efforts to get France to reduce its production and increase imports, would meet with firm opposition.

COUNTY PIONEERS IN ANNUAL MEET

Old-Timers Attend Picnic Held Tuesday On Young Farm

By MARIAN LOWRY

The creek of the old covered wagons was substituted with the creek of "growing tables" when nearly 150 persons gathered for the annual meeting of the Lane County Pioneer association, Tuesday.

The big event was staged at the beautiful farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Cal M. Young in the Willamette district. The old-time stage coach was set up out in front of the Young home to let all know there was the pioneers' headquarters.

Scores of automobiles covered the ground where once was the wide mark of the wagon wheel and the hoof print of the oxen and horses. Cal, "Lane county's own pioneer authority," was a mighty busy man as he saw to it that every one was made comfortable. Not one person went without his share from the great baskets of food that heaped the tables spread beneath the big trees on the back lawn, despite the fact that several came without their baskets.

From all parts of Lane county pioneers gathered at the Young home during the morning. Some hour and a half was spent around the picnic tables.

During the mid-afternoon, Miss Anne Whiteaker, president of the association and the daughter of Oregon's first governor, John Whiteaker, presided.

Treat, who had been working on the case all day Monday, rode the "blind baggage" from Cushman to Mapleton, figuring that the robbers were still in that locality and would try to beat their way on the train to the valley. Just as the train stopped at Mapleton two men started to board the platform where the deputy was standing and Treat immediately placed them under arrest. When searched, they had the stolen goods, which consisted of a large number of knives, some watches and a quantity of fishing tackle.

Myers and Walker were brought on the same train to Eugene and in justice court Tuesday, waived examination and were bound over to the grand jury.
