America Fights Temporary Stabilization As Being Useless

NEW ADVISER SENT

Domestic Recovery Must Come First, F. D. Declares

Eugene's industries are making a start to operate under the provisions of the National Industrial Recovery act, which requires industries to organize and prepare codes of fair competition for submission to the president for his approval.

Wednesday night two of Eugene's industries, the vegetable growers and the meat dealers will meet at the Eugene chamber of commerce to discuss the necessary steps to be taken in bringing their industries under the act.

Members of the county, through the Willamette Valley Lumbermen's association and its affiliation with the National Lumbermen's association, have placed themselves under the code worked out by the national lumber groups for the president's approval.

Holt Heads Cannery

The Eugene Fruit Growers' association, one of the largest cooperatives in the northwest, comes under the act for canners and packers. J. O. Holt, manager, attended a meeting in Portland, D. C., two weeks ago at the call of the government. Since then he has attended a meeting in Seattle and has been working on the recovery code for the canners of the northwest.

These codes, designed to distribute fairly the business as it exists among manufacturers, great and small, are to assure all a share of the demand, are expected to ease the depression in this region as well as other sections. The codes also establish minimum wage scales, maximum hours of labor. They in some instances establish minimum prices at which goods may be sold and are expected to regulate production according to demand.

Stabilization Is Aim

The vegetable growers meeting will be held at the chamber at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, sponsored by the Eugene Vegetable Growers' association. William James, president of the association, will preside and he urges vegetable growers, members of the local recovery story.

WOMAN DROWNS IN WILLAMETTE RIVER

Mrs. Fannie Shores Gives Up Life In Attempt To Save Children

In an attempt to save two children from drowning, Mrs. Fannie Shores, 32, lost her life in the Willamette river above the Ferry street bridge in Eugene Tuesday afternoon. Her body was recovered a few minutes afterward, but all efforts to revive her were unsuccessful.

Mrs. Shores' daughter, Thelma, 12, and Estelle James, 10, were playing in the river near an eddy at the mouth of a slough that flows into the river 200 yards above the Ferry street bridge. The children got in over their heads and began to cry for help. Mrs. Shores plunged into the water and she sank in a deep hole. Attracted by her cries, persons nearby rushed in and rescued the children, but were unable to locate the woman. However, soon afterward her body was found and taken to the shore. The state and city police and a physician were called and a pulmotor was used for more than an hour in an effort to restore respiration but without success.

Mrs. Esther Shores, sister-in-law of the drowned woman, also rushed to the assistance of the little girl. She too, getting over her depth, helped the child. Mrs. Shores reached the child first and pulled her out and the other man rescued Mrs. Esther Shores but was unable to reach Mrs. Fannie Shores. The little girl was taken to the Pacific hospital, having suffered from shock.

The drowned woman was the wife of Frank Shores and the family had arrived here only a few days ago from San Bernardino, Cal., looking for a location. They were camping on the river bank only a few yards from the scene of the drowning.

Coroner Charles P. Poole investigated the drowning and took charge of the body.

Mrs. Shores was born in Texas November 18, 1900. Besides her widower she is survived by a son, Claude, 14, and her father, Tom Gibson, in California.

"BIG 4" NATIONS ON REDUCTIONS

Large Producers To Seek Cooperation From Europeans

SURPLUSES DIMINISH

Morgenthau Says All Nations Must Join To Halt Price Wars

By ALVIN HALLMAN
LONDON, July 5.—(AP)—The four principal wheat producing countries of the world, "having agreed in principle on a policy of temporary adjustment of production and trade to world demands," decided today to determine what measure—if any—of cooperation can be expected from European producing and consuming states on the restriction program.

A committee of three men—Thomas LeBreton of Argentina, Stanley M. Bruce of Australia, and Frederick E. Murphy of the United States—was set up by the big four to begin negotiations with European states to see what can be done in obtaining their collaboration.

Crop Report Waited

Meanwhile, the meetings of the four powers were adjourned, probably until after July 10 when the American crop reports are expected. It is believed to be possible that these reports may change the complexion of the problem and the necessity for restriction to some degree.

The following official statement upon the wheat agreement was issued: "The four over-seas exporting countries—Canada, the United States, Argentina and Australia—today agreed in principle on a policy of temporary adjustment of production and trade to world demand with a view to improving the price of wheat and liquidating surplus stocks now hanging over the market."

Europe Must Help

Mr. Morgenthau said there was some measure of agreement upon the necessity for restriction and he believed that an announcement to this effect and continuation of the work might have a favorable result upon the world economic conference as a whole.

Commenting on the agreement, Morgenthau said the four great wheat countries had agreed they must have help from Europe before they can proceed. If no help is achieved there, he added, it would mean each country for itself in the wheat field.

Cherry Season Is On In Full Force Soon for E. F. G.

Picking of the Royal Anne cherries in this section is underway in full swing and the cherries are coming in at the Eugene Fruit Growers' plant at the rate of 75 to 100 tons a day. More than 40 tons came in Monday. Half that amount came in on Tuesday, and the total was expected to reach 75 tons or more Wednesday with larger quantities coming in later.

Between two and one-half and three million pounds of sweet cherries will be handled by the plant. The Royal Anne and other sweet varieties will be coming in for about 10 days. The black varieties are due soon, although the Lamberts do not come on until later.

For the present the Fruit Growers are handling all the cherries coming in for maraschino purposes, the cherries being still too green for canning. The quality is good but there is an unevenness as to size and ripeness at present.

The cannery is working on a few strawberries and raspberries but the season on them is not great this year.

Progress Slow in Schermerhorn Trial

MEDFORD, Ore., July 5.—(AP)—Slow progress was made this morning in selecting a jury in the trial of suspended Sheriff Gordon L. Schermerhorn, fourth of the defendants charged with ballot-theft to go on trial, before Judge George F. Skippworth of Lane county. Three veniremen had been examined up to the noon recess. Arguments on the motion for a change of venue for County Judge Earl H. Fell, similarly charged, and scheduled for this morning were postponed by the court, until Thursday morning.

Public Works Project Lists Given To F.D.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt at a conference today with Secretaries Ickes and Hoover, chairman, respectively, of the public works and industrial rehabilitation boards, arranged to give impetus to the national "back to work" movement.

The cabinet officers took to the presidential desk a long list of projects and industrial agreements which they expect to provide new jobs for thousands, and improve working conditions and prices.

Among the first things on the program is approval by Mr. Roosevelt of a long list of new projects proposed by the public works board to be constructed from the $3,300,000,000 fund available.

State administrators to help supervise the public works construction are to be named.

WALDPOR BRIDGE DESIGN APPROVED

Much Wood To Be Used On Approaches; Plans Beat Schedule

SALEM, July 5.—(AP)—The war department approved plans drawn for the Alsea bridge at Waldport State Bridge Engineer C. C. McCullough today announced.

With completion and approval of the Alsea bridge plans, the state bridge department is a week ahead of schedule in drafting designs for the five proposed coast highway bridges.

The bridges are proposed to be built with federal public works funds. The Alsea span will be 2900 feet in length, of concrete, steel and wood construction, and of sufficient height above water level to meet requirements of the war department.

The Coos Bay bridge, which will be more than a mile in length, is now being designed. It will be constructed at a level to preclude the installation of a draw span and at the same time meet the federal requirements. McCullough estimated the cost of this span at $1,500,000.

The state bridge department is operating two shifts daily to rush designs on all the bridges.

The others are the Siuslaw bridge which will be 1650 feet in length, the Reedsport-Umpqua river bridge which will be 3000 feet in length and the Yaquina bay bridge, to be 3000 feet long.

Wood will be used extensively in constructing approaches to all five of the bridges, McCullough stated.

Federal Pay Cuts to Hold Until January

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today issued an executive order continuing the 15 per cent cut in pay of federal employees.

The slash was first made effective under the economy bill to extend until June 30, the close of the fiscal year, with Mr. Roosevelt authorized to continue it if justified by living costs. The pay cut today was ordered to stay in effect until the first of the calendar year.

The order said that the living cost index for the first six months of this year was 130.2 as compared with 171 for the base period, the six months ending June 30, 1928.

REPEAL HOPES BOLSTERED BY LATE REPORTS

Wets Claim Upper Hand In Oklahoma And Dry Kansas

SOLID SOUTH WAIVERS

Drys Conceded Chances To Carry Election In Five States

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(AP)—Political observers today believed the forthcoming prohibition polls in Alabama and Arkansas will determine whether there is to be a fight or a runaway victory for the repealists. These states will provide the first real test in the south.

Sixteen states in succession have voted to supplant the 18th amendment with the 21st, which in effect is a repealer. Alabama and Arkansas vote July 18. Practical politicians believe repeal victories in both states would mean almost a shutout defeat for dries.

Rep. Steagall (D., Ala.), chairman of the house banking and currency committee, recently returned from a visit with the home folk to predict Alabama would go for repeal.

Oklahoma Held Wet

Similar predictions come from some Arkansasians who until the Roosevelt landslide of 1932 were staunchly dry.

The repeal forces now are daring even to challenge the dry sentiment of Oklahoma, which with Kansas has been bracketed as uncompromisingly for the 18th amendment. Recent visitors to the capitol from Oklahoma have predicted a repeal victory there.

While repealists are prepared to claim final victory if they can win Alabama and Arkansas, they also are looking with much interest to Virginia, where Gov. Pollard is blocking a vote. The state of Washington and Jefferson has been an Anti-Saloon league citadel.

Oregon Among Divided

A recapitulation of repeal prospects in the 32 states still to vote shows that pending the Alabama-Arkansas poll, five states generally are regarded as dry: Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma. Split votes in the senate would indicate a close division of sentiment in 12: Arkansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, Mississippi, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont and Virginia.

Votes in which both senators voted for repeal would suggest that the tide flows with repeal in 15: Alabama, Arizona, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Maine, Montana, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee and Washington.

Bakers Likely to Meet Wednesday On Bread Prices

A meeting of Eugene and Springfield bakers will be held probably on Wednesday evening at the chamber of commerce.

The meeting is called to hear reports from meetings in Portland where the Oregon Retail Bakers' group, the Oregon Bakers' club, and the Oregon Wholesale Bakers' association recommended a price of 9 cents on a one-pound loaf of bread as the minimum price of such.

The Eugene market is governed by the Portland market. In a story in Tuesday's Register-Guard, quotations were carried from local bakery people in which it was stated that the price of bread must go up or many will face losses or have to go out of business because of increased prices of commodities, labor, and production, as well as the new tax to go into effect as result of the government recovery act.

C. J. McKee, of the Springfield Home Bakery company attended the Portland meeting and will give a report of the proceedings there.

Eugeneans Barely Miss Young Killers

Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Fell of this city barely missed meeting up with John Barrie and Harry Bowles, the young Los Angeles killers who are being held in the county jail at Grants Pass for the murder of State Policeman Milo Baucum, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fell were on the way to Grants Pass and Medford to visit their daughters and while crossing Seaton mountain, where the crime occurred, met several of the members of the posse looking for the murderers just before their capture. However, they knew nothing of the crime until they reached Grants Pass.

World Control Plan Is Sought By Lumbermen

LONDON, July 5.—(AP)—The drafting committee of the world economic conference is working on proposals endeavoring to strike some balance between the supply and demand in timber.

This follows the vigorous attack by Canada two days ago on the methods of Soviet Russia in producing huge quantities of timber and dumping them on the world market. E. N. Rhodes, Canadian finance minister, succeeded in obtaining appointment of a representative subcommittee to deal with the whole question of world timber production and marketing.

Sweden has proposed that the principal European timber-exporting countries should be divided into two groups, the first including Finland, Sweden and the Soviet Union, and the second the Central European countries. These two groups would later attempt to coordinate their efforts for the purpose of adjusting timber production to export requirements, and stabilizing the international timber market.

Local Postoffice Clerk May Face Serious Charges

The case of a Eugene postoffice clerk, accused of embezzling government funds, has been turned over to the United States district attorney's office in Portland but no word has been received here as to what action if any has been taken, according to Stephen H. Morse, postoffice inspector, who has been handling the case.

The inspector said that there probably will be a delay in action on the case on account of the change of administration in the office of the district attorney, Carl Donaghy, the new appointee, having just taken over the office from George Neuner, whom he succeeds. The accused clerk has long been in the postal service here.

Inspector Morse said that the amount involved cannot be determined at present, as the alleged shortage has apparently covered quite a period of time, and the records in the postoffice department would have to be scanned before the amount is known.

It is presumed that the case will be taken before the United States grand jury in Portland.

New W.C.T.U. Head Plans Repeal Fight

MILWAUKEE, July 5.—(AP)—A crusading Iowa clergywoman, Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith of Des Moines, will lead the Women's Christian Temperance Union in a vigorous fight against repeal of the 18th amendment when Mrs. Ella A. Boole retires as president Nov. 1, she said today.

Mrs. Smith, who has been vice-president during the eight year administration of Mrs. Boole, was elected president yesterday. For 20 years president of the Iowa W. C. T. U., Mrs. Smith at the age of 61 becomes head of the leading dry organization at its most critical period.

Truck Farmers May Put Industry Under Farm Act

LONDON, July 5.—(AP)—The world economic conference will virtually be wound up tomorrow, according to highest authorities, barring some eleventh hour development.

The steering committee of the conference meets tomorrow to consider a proposal for adjournment, or recess, made by Hendrick Collin, Dutch prime minister, and leader of a gold bloc country.

Even the American delegation tonight agreed that "recess" was desirable.

LONDON, July 5.—(AP)—"Revaluation of the dollar in terms of American commodities is an end from which the government and the people of the United States cannot be diverted," said a statement issued tonight by the American delegation at the world monetary and economic conference.

The statement was handed to the secretary-general of the League of Nations in explanation of President Roosevelt's monetary stand.

Temporary currency stabilization, the communique continued, would be "artificial and unreal."

Such a temporary stabilization, it added, might hinder the meeting of domestic problems by some countries.

The United States, however, it was explained, has no desire to persuade countries where price and cost already are in equilibrium to follow the American program of raising prices.

Asserting that the great problems which the world economic conference was summoned to meet exist today,

BECK GETS $1400 IN HIGHWAY CASE

C. C. Beck of the lower Siuslaw country was given a verdict by the jury in the circuit court at Corvallis of $1400 damages from the county for taking right of way through his farm for the Siuslaw highway. A sealed verdict was returned late Monday evening and the result was made known Wednesday morning.

In the circuit court at the previous trial of the case the county won, the court declaring that Beck had no case but upon appeal to the supreme court the lower court was reversed and a new trial was ordered. The county had offered $500 for the right of way but Beck claimed he was damaged to a much greater extent than that figure by reason of the fact that the highway partially blocked him from reaching the river bank, which was his shipping point.

The court at the trial would not permit evidence to be introduced to show that the benefits accrued to him in the construction of the highway offset the damage.

Funeral Services Held For Baucum

MEDFORD, Ore., July 5.—(AP)—Funeral services were held here this afternoon for Burrell Milo Baucum, state policeman, slain last Saturday afternoon on Seaton mountain, near Grants Pass by two transient youths.
