

DeMaggio Gets 56th Hit As Seals Win Game Egg Prices Shift Here; Stocks Crash Heavily

PORTLAND BEATS MISSIONS THIRD TIME, 5-2 SCORE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Coast league record books showed today Joe DeMaggio had run his consecutive game hitting mark to 56 and, more surprising, that San Francisco had defeated the first place Senators, 3-2.

Joe's hitting has become such a habit his daily batting feats have almost ceased to be news. But while he has been hitting, his team has been losing, so a victory for the Seals is something of a novelty.

Curt Davis looked like the effective pitcher he was last year as he limited the Solons to 7 hits and no earned runs and registered 7 strikeouts. The Seals nicked Bill Hartwick for ten safeties, including Joe DeMaggio's lone single of the game.

Portland took its third in a row from the Missions, 5-2, with the veteran Rudy Kallio holding the Reds to 8 well scattered blows. Both Mission runs were unearned, errors by Johnny Monroe and Henry Oana helping the Reds around the bases.

Showing over five runs in the ninth inning, Hollywood made it two straight over Seattle, 5-3, and pulled up to within two games of Sacramento. The Stars' great spit-baller, Frank Shellenback, proved again he is one of the league's best pinch hitters by hitting for the circuit with the bases loaded to score four of the Hollywood runs.

First Baseman Jim Oglesby of Los Angeles hit safely in his 42nd consecutive game as Oakland beat the Angels, 8-6. Manager Jack Lovell sent four hurlers to the box in an effort to win from Mike Salines. The young Oak right-hander mates staked him to a 6-run lead in the opening inning, and he weathered repeated Angel assaults to win.

Lenhart Gets Draw With Rosenbloom

TACOMA, Wash., July 21.—(AP)—Fred Lenhart, 178½, Tacoma, finished strongly here last night to earn a draw with Maxie Rosenbloom, 177, light heavyweight champion, in a non-title bout.

Rosenbloom piled up an early lead. In the eighth, he claimed a foul, but finished the fight after a five-minute rest. Lenhart opened up and took the fight away from the champion in the closing rounds.

In two previous meetings, each fighter won a decision. Rosenbloom insisted on an overweight fight.

Knights Keep Lead In Twilight League

The Knights of Columbus Twilight League team defeated the South Siders 3 to 0 in their game Thursday night. The Knights remain at the top of the league standings with 10 wins and no losses. Batteries: Knights—Dunn and Coghlan; South Siders—Satterbarr, Pierce and Moore.

The Underwood and Elliott team won from the McMoran and Washburne aggregation, 9 to 3. Batteries: U. and E.—Burnett, Cochran and Mercer; M. and W.—Jones, Wheeler, Jenson and Hayden.

PITCHER RELEASED

CHICAGO, July 21.—(AP)—Pitcher Gregory has been released on option to the Milwaukee American association club by the Chicago White Sox to make room for Pitzer Harold Haid, recently purchased from the Seattle Pacific Coast league club.

HIGH CLIMBER looks 'em over

Do they have boxing in the C. C. C. camps or do they have boxing? The reporter for the Brice Creek camp east of Cottage Grove has written a round-by-round account of an epic struggle that took place over there recently. But we'll let him tell his story:

"One of the best fistie battles of the season was enjoyed the other night when Primo, 'Little Italy,' and Hetmar, 'The Pittsburgh Kid,' traded swats at the company arena—the barber shop, company street, parade ground. The battle of three rounds was fast and furious from beginning to end. So fiercely did they fight that at times Referee Titterington was unable to get out of the way of flying gloves. To his utter dismay, he swallowed his upper plate when Primo mistook him for Hetmar. What a struggle! Here is the fight by rounds.

Round 1: The gong sounds. Primo rushes from his corner with arms going like a windmill. Hetmar side steps and pastes him one on the gezer. Primo seems astounded. The 'Pittsburgh Kid' thinks he is. He advances with guard low. Zowie! Primo connects one in the solar plexis that doubles him up like an accordion. Bang, another on the chin opens him up again. Is he tough? Isn't even dazed. The gong sounds as they are measuring the distance to each other's noses from long distance.

Round 2: As the round opens Hetmar takes the offensive. Two slashes to the jaw, one on top of the head, another in the stomach, and Primo takes cover. Is this Pittsburgh star fast? Primo rushes in. They clinch and fail to break. The referee parts them. Primo backs away with a chunk of ear in his teeth. Hetmar sits on the ground bemoaning the loss of an ear as the gong ends the round.

Round 3: Both fighters forget everything. They go in for blood. Bam! Hetmar takes one in the left eye. It is already black. He retaliates with one to Primo's olfactory extremity. Fists are flying fast. Titterington fails to get out of the way. One of Primo's flying fists comes so close that he swallows his upper plate. He sees the doctor for stomachics. Hetmar connects again. Primo gives two. The 'Kid' is down. No, he is up. Primo knocks him for a row of upper pegs. He jumps on him. Boy, he socks him again. Hetmar counts stars weakly as the gong sounds ending the fight. What a battle!"

CLINGMAN LOSES JIU JITSU MATCH TO TESURA HIGAMI

Eugene wrestling fans, accustomed to Herb Owen's weekly assault and battery offerings, have learned to expect most anything but they were treated to some new thrills Thursday night when Tesura Higami, Japanese jiu jitsu artist, choked, strangled, kicked and beat Otis Clingman into a senseless heap and won the main event on the armory wrestling program.

The first fall of the match was wrestled American style and Clingman lost in 1½ minutes when Higami planted a few well-placed socks to the chin and then body slammed him. In this case, the man was admitted to be down when his shoulders were placed to the mat and Clingman emerged in fairly good condition.

Then they donned the jiu jitsu jackets and wrestled Japanese style. In this case, a man's back may be in the floor but he isn't down until he's incapacitated. Clingman, who studied jiu jitsu while in Japanese waters with an American warship, surprised the oriental with a vicious attack and finally strangled him with the collar of the jacket. Since an opponent must be out like a light before he loses a fall, Clingman threw Higami out of the ring on his head and took the fall in 15 minutes.

Higami having won his fall in the shortest time he was given his choice of wrestling styles and he chose jiu jitsu. Again they went at it and Clingman seemed to have the upper hand until the Jap opened with an attack of sharp rights to the chin followed by strangulation, kicks to the head and body and general assault and battery.

Once Clingman struggled to his feet and seemed to be coming out of it but the Jap opened a fresh attack and finally, when Otis was unable to answer the referee's questions, he was declared out.

Thor Jensen, of Elkton, won the only fall of his match with Gust Johnson of Seattle in the 45-minute special event. Jensen took the only fall after 35 minutes with a Boston crab. They went at it for 10 more minutes but neither could take a fall.

Now, for the first time, the subject is touched by the motion picture. The first film dealing with the matrimonial "racket" is "Strictly Personal," which closes Friday at the Rex. Marjorie Rambeau, Eddie Quillan and Dorothy Jordan are starred, and the picture deals with an ex-con's attempts to go straight by operating a "get-acquainted" club.

Marion Davies will be seen Friday and Saturday at the McDonald theater in "Pearl of My Heart," screened by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, play in famous J. Hartley Manner play in which Laurette Taylor created the title role on the stage twenty-one years ago and broke attendance records on two continents. As the little Irish girl who inherits an ancestral estate in England and falls in love with the young lawyer who arranged for her entrance into society, Miss Davies is considered to have given the finest performance of her entire career. She last appeared in "Polly of the Circus," "Fire and Ten," and "Blondie of the Polles." Ray Jones, McDonald manager, has lined up a fine array of short subjects to go with the feature picture, and promises an entertaining afternoon or evening.

"I build a love nest, and you make a joint out of it!" Strong words, but never before applied in so innocent and ludicrous situation as Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts find themselves in in "Out All Night," their latest comedy riot, playing this week at the Colonial theater. It seems that two bashful lovers in the persons of Slim and Zasu wandered into a "swamp" bedroom designated as "The Love Nest" in a department store at about closing time, and were unsuspectingly locked in by the night watchman. They had to stay all night! They were discovered next morning by the flabbergasted department store manager and Slim's dotting mother, calmly asleep. Zasu, even keeping her hat on, had slept on the bed, and Slim had sought repose on the floor. And so, to save his reputation, Slim's mother tearfully decides that he has to marry the girl! This is only the beginning of complications that have been rocking Colonial audiences with laughter all week, and will continue to do so until Saturday night.

McLemore's Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)
JONES BEACH, N. Y., July 21.—(AP)—This monograph is being composed at the 30-foot diving tower that pokes up its head from a float in the middle of the placid blue waters of Zuck's Bay. Below us, and to our right, the best gal divers in this country and Canada are arching proudly off the 10-foot board in the second event of the women's national swimming championships.

The sun is warm, the breeze cool, and among the 20,000 or more spectators surrounding the lagoon are plenty of honey babes in next-to-nothing suits. So if you don't mind we'll take time out to breathe a prayer of thanks that we stuck to sports and refused that offer to sell threshing machines, even if it did promise more money and the chance to see Toledo, Des Moines and Dubuque.

Freckle-faced Katherine Rawls, Olympic champion, has just gone off in a juck-kick, and as her slim nut-brown body slices the water, the judges call her score "nine-nine-eight-nine-nine," which is just three ripples shy of the ten that is perfection.

Miss Rawls gets a great hand, but not one to compare with the one that greets Mary Hoeger of Miami, as her head bobs up through the water after a back-jack. Mary is barely nine years old, but it's her weight, not years, that keeps her from being a champion, the springboard needs a 120-pounder to give it the proper "kick" and Mary weighs barely half that.

Once off the board and in the air Mary's form is perfect, but she has trouble getting off. The minute Mary finishes a dive she hurries to the float and runs to the side of her sister Helen and throws a protecting arm about her. Helen, here to do some exhibition diving, has just turned four.

We watched the final of the 100 meter free-style race from our elevated perch and it was quite a sight, for a fraction of a second after the starting gun the seven girls seemed to hang in mid-air, their arms flailing and legs whipping up a foamy churn, they headed for the turn, 50 meters away.

Lenore Knight, the Homes' read, Paigil the experts have named to succeed Helen Madison, of Seattle, was last to hit the water and as the field some exhibition diving, has just turned four.

It was her tremendous shove with her legs against the float that turned the trick. Miss Knight learned the value of a tremendous kick in the Olympics last year when she lost to Miss Madison simply because she lost in the straightaway with a turning kick that shot her out into the clear like a torpedo.

CUBS AND PIRATES PUSH LEADERS FOR LEAD IN NATIONAL

NEW YORK, July 21.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates today were in full cry behind the New York Giants, threatening to overhaul the National league leaders in short order.

The race tightened yesterday when New York dropped a 6 to 5 decision to the third-place Pirates, and the runner-up Cubs downed the Phillies. This left the Giants only two and a half games ahead of Chicago, with the Corsairs trailing the Cubs by a scant half contest.

New York was shaky in the field, contributing three errors to the Pirates victory, the seventh Pittsburgh triumph in the last nine starts.

Benching for light hitting, Babe Herman returned to the Cubs' lineup and equaled the National league record by smashing out three home runs as Chicago crushed the Phillies, 10 to 1. He also made a single, driving in a total of eight runs.

Boston shaded St. Louis, 3 to 2, when the Braves scored the tying and winning runs in the ninth as a result of Pinky Whitney's homer, followed by Lee's walk and Rabbit Maravilla's triple.

Brooklyn wound up only half a game ahead of the last-place Cincinnati Reds, who blanked the Dodgers, 1 to 0.
