

PHI BETA PROGRAM FOR SCHOLARSHIP FUND TO BE AN INTERESTING FRIDAY EVENT

Our Dancers To Give Program On Campus

By MARIAN LOWRY
One of the week's most interesting events comes Friday, the dance sponsored by Phi Beta, women's national honorary music and art group. The recital will be at Guild theater in the Administration building on the campus at 8:15 o'clock.
Miss Ida May Nichols, Gertrude Lewis, Elizabeth Thacher, and Elizabeth will give the program of dances. Misses Theresa Kelly, Janet M. and Margaret Stauff will be pianists. A string trio, made up of Miss Vivien Malone, violinist, Roberta Spicer Moffitt, cellist, Miss Kelly, pianist, will play. This is the program for the recital.

ING HERE
Mrs. R. B. Quinn of Oklahoma City is visiting Mr. Quinn's son-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Quinn. Mr. Quinn is a newspaperman of Oklahoma as U. S. court commissioner for years. He recently resigned as marshal of western Oklahoma serving seven years. The visitors are taking a cabin on the McEwen where Mr. Quinn will spend time fishing.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL OF THE FIRST
The Women's Council of the First Baptist church held its all-day meeting Wednesday at the church, the day being devoted to sewing. A covered dish dinner was served at noon. The meeting again next Wednesday.

TOWN CLUB
The Two-Town club is to meet at Eugene-Springfield auto camp Friday evening for a picnic supper at 6 o'clock.

BURG, July 27. — (Special) — Marriage of Miss Eileen Allum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Allum, to Elmer Harkins was solemnized Tuesday morning, July 25 at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Gus Garboden assisted by W. H. Myers, performed the ceremony. The wedding took place on the porch of the Allum home in a bank of pink and white flowers and green fern and under a bell with pink, blue and white streamers. Preceding the ceremony, James Williams of Eugene, sang "Sweet Mystery of Life," accompanied at the piano by Miss Thelma Allum. The professional for the bride was the wedding march from "The Marriage of Figaro," which was played by Miss Thelma Allum. Margaret Allum, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and there were three bridesmaids, Bertha Allum, Marjorie Allum and Martha Allum. A brother of the bride, John A. Allum, and the ushers were James Allum and Billy Allum, both brothers of the bride. Lois Williams and Mary Allum, nieces of the bride, were bridesmaids. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Clayton Allum. The bride wore a deep flowing gown and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a boutonniere of white roses. The ceremony was a reception held at the home of the bride's parents.

PROOF THAT NEW

FACE POWDER WON'T MAKE BLOTCHES
Many face powders are made out of cosmetics which are so heavy that they clog the pores of the skin. They have dark spots around the nose and white spots between the nose and mouth. They make the skin look ugly, blotchy and blotchy, especially in the nose.
The new Mello-gio Face Powder contains none of these inferior cosmetics which are so heavy that they clog the pores of the skin. Prove it for yourself. Powder one side of your face with another powder. Powder the other side with the new Mello-gio. In five minutes, at your mirror give you the answer.
We challenge the world to produce a finer and more luxurious face powder than the new Mello-gio. The new Mello-gio formula is the formula used by the most exclusive cosmeticians in New York and Paris.
You don't buy face powder to make you look blotchy and blotchy. Therefore, do not waste your money on powders that you are not sure of. Ask for Mello-gio Face Powder by name. Look for the name Mello-gio on the gold box. Refuse the inferior offer of "something just as good" which may blotch your face. Ask for Mello-gio by name and get it. 50¢ and 4¢. Tax free.

Camel's Costlier Tobacco NEVER GET

ON THE NERVES... NEVER TIRE THE TASTE

By JOAN SAVOY
Summer nights are glamorous settings for a woman. Make the most of them by wearing clothes which also spell glamor.
You don't have to be clothes conscious in order to have a good time. Far from it. On the contrary, the well-groomed woman is one who selects her clothes wisely, knows that she looks well in them, puts them on and immediately drops fashion subjects from her mind.
The color of an evening gown should be your first consideration. White is always glamorous. Nothing, save black, quite touches it.
You can afford to go a little exotic when it comes to buying evening gowns. You may be very very conservative in your choice of street, office and other daytime things, but don't let your conservative ideas overshadow ideas which make for glamor in an evening dress.
Trains are new and smart right now. Try on a gown with a train before you decide that you "couldn't" possibly get away with one of those things. It may be that a train is just what you need.
A sophisticated and very glamorous evening frock of madonna blue dull moroccan has a particularly exciting train, made with inverted pleats. The jacket is three-quarters length with carriage pleats at the drop shoulder line. We're gradually getting away from those exaggerated broad shoulders, but, at the same time, continuing to center interest at the shoulders.
The flowers on the left shoulder of the dress are sapphire blue. They're a nice note of color contrast.

Theater Group To Give Special Rehearsal

The children appearing in the pantomime program to be presented by the Very Little Theater group next week are to give a special rehearsal for their mothers Friday morning at eleven o'clock in the yard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Tugman. About fifty children are taking part in the program.
The pantomimes will be given a week from Friday evening, August 4, on the banks of the millrace. Mrs. Ethel Christie is directing the event, assisted by several members of the Very Little Theater group.

Choir Party

More than twenty attended the party given by Miss Harriett Plotts Wednesday evening for the choir of the First Baptist church. The event was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Moon. The group played ping pong in the garden, gave several songs, and then refreshments were served. Rev. and Mrs. Bryant Wilson were invited as guests for the event, too.

TOMATOES FOR VARIETY

With tomatoes so plentiful, combine them with a variety of different things for salad and delight your family. Fresh figs, tomatoes, lettuce and French dressing are a change. Bananas, tomatoes, lettuce and mayonnaise are another change. Tomatoes used with pears, berries and peaches are quite different, too.

When you're in a tight pinch for a dessert—and no time to make one—always remember that sponge cake, wrapped in cellophane, which can be bought in any grocery store, topped with berries or fruit, makes a nice shortcake.

HINTS ON HOUSEHOLD ARTS

By SISTER MARY

THE man or woman who has spent the day in an office, the woman who has spent a good share of her day in the kitchen or anyone who has been indoors all day will find infinite pleasure in meals served in the fresh air. Not only will appetites be whetted but nerves will relax and digestion be aided.
When meals must be served away from the dining-room plan to reduce the number of dishes to a minimum. A one-dish combination of some sort with a salad and dessert simplifies both serving and dish-washing. An attractive bowl of salad makes it possible for each member to serve himself on his plate. If you use compartment plates, the salad plate is quite unnecessary.
Casserole Dishes Are Handy
Casserole dishes combining meat and vegetables, fish chowders and meat and vegetable pies are splendid main dishes for fresh air dinners. Dishes of this type keep hot longer than steaks and chops and preclude the serving of extra vegetable dishes.
Bread and butter sometimes presents a problem in porch and garden meals if served separately. Bread and butter sandwiches or buttered hot rolls will be found a most satisfactory solution to this because they combine two foods in one.
Planked corned beef hash is an economical one-piece dish that is easy to make and appetizing for hot weather. If you use the canned corned beef the dish is extremely simple to prepare and takes very little time.

Planked Corned Beef Hash

Two cups chopped corned beef, 2 cups chopped cold cooked potatoes, 4 hard cooked eggs, 2 cups small onions.
The corned beef must be cooked if canned is not used. Chop meat and potatoes. Put 2 tablespoons fat into a frying pan and heat. Add meat and potatoes and enough milk to moisten. It will take about one-half cup. Cover and cook until thoroughly heated. Pile on a hot platter and press eggs cut in halves lengthwise into hash, putting cut side out. Boil onions until tender and season with salt and pepper and butter. Arrange around the mound of hash and serve the platter with tomato catsup.

You can cook the onions early in the day and reheat them in a very little water and butter. This will slightly glaze them and will take only a few minutes at dinner time.

ONE way to fix a habit is to prohibit it. Never mind all the psychological wherefores that lie behind the truth of this statement. The fact remains.
Take for instance Jimmy, who fell into the habit of putting his feet against the wall and pushing his bed on its rollers as far into the middle of the room as it would go.
The third night his daddy went in and smacked him, rolled him back to place and threatened a good whacking if it ever happened again.
But Jimmy didn't mind getting spanked. He wasn't afraid of anything much and he had a very strong will for a child of four. So he did it again and got punished. This time he did some thinking.

The next day his mother heard the bed as usual scooting across the floor. She went up to find Jimmy fully dressed in his bed, or rather out of it now, pushing it back to place and ready to do it all over.
"You mustn't do that again, Jimmy. You mark the wallpaper kicking it that way." Jimmy regarded the wallpaper. Her

Californians Are Guests Here For Few Weeks

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Jaqua, the former president of Scripps college, Claremont, Cal., and their son, Ernest, are here for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Stark Evans. Mrs. Jaqua is a sister of Mr. Evans.
The visitors have been in Europe all winter and drove from New York city after arriving in the United States. They will spend a month or more in Oregon, planning to go to the mountains and up to the McKenzie, and will return to California during the first September.

GIFT FOR A GARDENER

If you have a friend who is an ardent gardener, why not give her some of the things which every gardener loves but seldom buys herself? There are practical baskets, with wooden wheels, which look attractive and are most useful to push around the garden when you're collecting weeds. It saves the trouble of running back and forth to put the weeds in one pile. And, too, there's no reason why the weed baskets can't be used for collecting the fresh vegetables for dinner.
One night grandma stayed with him while his parents went out.
"Jennie, I had a time," she said later. "Jimmy kept pushing his bed with his feet and—"
"I know all about it," said Jennie grimly. "The little rascal! He was just taking advantage of you. I thought he'd forgotten that habit."
"There is something funny about children. If you want him to stop it why don't you allow him to do it until he's tired?"
"And ruin the paper?"
"Tack up something."
"All right. You do have some good ideas sometimes. Maybe it will work, but I don't know why."
The next day she called Jimmy. "See here," she said. "I've fixed this for you. Now push all day if you like." Jimmy "pushed" about a dozen times. Then he went out and got on his tricycle. Once or twice in the week he pushed his bed at night. His father promised to let him alone. The next week once. And then never again. The impulse or urge, whatever had prompted, had worn itself out.
Must Satisfy Urge
Some habits we must stop because they are really serious. But hundreds of little things will stop shortly of themselves. The child experiments for awhile, then when his urge is satisfied he is no longer interested and he gives it up.
Mothers need not be nervous over these little habits. A little patience and they will disappear of themselves.
