

Public Links Title Play Opens In Rose City Wheat Goes Back Up; Stocks Have Late Rally

CHAMP FAVORITE TO KEEP CROWN; LOCAL TEAM SET

By FRANK G. GORRIE
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 1.—(AP)—Robert Lee Miller of Jacksonville, Fla., saw his National Public Links golf crown on the block today at the Eastmoreland municipal course here but he was right on the job to do a bit of bidding himself as more than 170 nibblers from every corner of the country entered the five-day race for the 12th annual championship.

As the young army of golfers who pay-as-they-play, and play purely for fun, started the long trek for the coveted title, Miller appeared to have his strongest competition from Pacific coast and Honolulu sharpshooters.

Campbell favored Albert "Scotty" Campbell of Seattle, because of his brilliant achievements thus far this season—winning both the Canadian and Pacific northwest amateur championships—was one of the outstanding contenders. But right behind him on the dope sheet were Charles Wilson, Honolulu champion; Charles Ferrera, San Francisco, a former public links titlist; and Tab Boyer, a Portland favorite.

Forty-four cities were represented by from one to six players, including New York, Chicago, Brooklyn, St. Paul, Philadelphia, Buffalo, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Long Beach, Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma, and Portland. Fate of the draw brought together Campbell and Miller in the pairings for the first half of the qualifying round and the gallery looked to the two youngsters for their thrills over the rugged Eastmoreland course which boasts three long dog-leg and three water holes.

Qualifying Round Opens Eighteen holes were on the program for today with as many more tomorrow to decide the 32 stars who will commence hand-to-hand match-play combat Thursday.

Practice rounds ended yesterday with very few of the future greats of golf equaling or breaking the stiff par 72. Oliver Sleppey of Long Beach turned in the best card of the warm-up exercises with a scintillating 68.

The big tournament was officially opened with a huge banquet last night, and the feeling seemed to be general at the meeting that Indianapolis would capture the national show next year. Early starters in today's qualifying round had a distinct advantage over late starters today.

The weather bureau forecast that the temperature today would be higher than yesterday's maximum of 88 degrees.

Eugene's six man team has been in Portland since Sunday, and have had an opportunity to shoot several practice rounds over the tough Eastmoreland course. Although the locals are not recognized as favorites, Eugene followers believe they have a good chance to place in the 32 man qualifying round. Team members, in the order of their ranking, include: Bert Prescott, Sr., captain, Summers, Olsen, Anderson, Young and Caswell.

SOLONS LOSE TO INSPIRED YANKEES
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Inspired by Babe Ruth, the Yankees walloped the Senators in the final game yesterday, 13 to 9, before 17,000 sweltering fans.
Ruth made a triple, two doubles and a single in five tries, his three-bagger clearing the loaded bases during a seven-run spurt in the fourth.
In the only other game played in the major leagues, the St. Louis Browns beat Cleveland, 12 to 8, dropping the Indians from a third-place tie with Philadelphia to fourth position.
Cleveland was leading 8 to 4 in the seventh when the Browns combined three hits and seven bases on balls for eight runs in their half of the frame.

And They Still Call Him Champ!
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—(AP)—John Henry Lewis, negro high school boy from Prescott, Ariz., defeated Maxie Rosenbloom, world's light heavyweight champion, for the second time in a non-title, 10-round bout here last night.
The little colored youth floored Rosenbloom three times in the first three rounds as 9,500 amazed fans watched and cheered. Yet in the eighth and ninth rounds, Rosenbloom stepped out with his old-time speed and administered a sound boxing lesson.

Cantons Will Hold Their Annual Picnic
Members of cantons and auxiliaries of the Odd Fellows will hold their annual outing at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. McKinnis, half a mile above the state fish hatchery on the McKenzie river Sunday, August 6. Members and their families are asked to take basket lunches. Coffee and cream will be furnished by Canton Hovey and auxiliary. An American flag will mark the entrance to the grounds.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Virne Beatrice "Jackie" Mitchell, above, who broke into baseball as a feminine curver with the Chattanooga Lookouts, has pitched some pretty fair ball lately. So when the House of David nine offered her a contract she signed.

M'GUIRE TO MEET BULLDOG JACKSON

Mike McGuire, red-headed Irishman, will tangle with Bulldog Jackson, rough and tough grappler from Klamath Falls, in the 45-minute special event on Thursday's wrestling program in the armory.

Otis Clingman of Oklahoma City and John Nemanic of St. Louis are to meet in the two-hour main event.

McGuire has wrestled an two cards here and in his battle with Dorry Detton last week, proved himself a master of the game. Against Jackson, he will be wrestling a respected but not beloved mat veteran.

Jackson is noted for his bar-room style of fighting while McGuire is clean wrestler when his opponent will permit him to be. The Irishman admits he can take care of himself, however, and will let Jackson set the pace Thursday night. If the Bulldog wants to waste time, well and good, but if he wants to get rough, Mike says he will give Jackson the works.

McLemore's Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(AP)—The S. S. Olympic arrives today bearing a goodly number of first class passengers, including those young men who sailed so bravely a few months ago, the United States Davis cup team.

Their bags will be packed with trunks and gearbags (a shawl for Aunt Emma, an etching for Cousin Clara, a dunhill for dad) but the Davis cup will be missing. As a result their homecoming will be sad, for the United States has little use for a loser, especially a loser who started the race a red hot favorite.

That their homecoming will be dismal is partly the fault of the boys themselves, for in interviews, newspaper articles and talks before and after they sailed, they spoke so lightly of their opponents as to build up the belief that the cup was in the bag. Thus, when it got in the wrong bag, the citizenry's disappointment was heightened three-fold.

The team that arrives today holds one distinction—it's the most criticized of any in history. Since the boys' defeat by the English squad in the interzone final, they and their leaders, have been accused of (1) over-training, (2) under-training, (3) indifference, (4) lack of courage, (5) lack of brains, (6) lack of skill, (7) sixth and seventh vertebrae. Hasn't it occurred to any of the critics that possibly the team was out-classed? That they lost simply because the Messrs. Bunny Austin and Fred Perry were too good for them? Such a thing is entirely possible, for Austin and Perry are right up there close to the top in world ranking and fully capable of whipping any tennis player, anytime. To hear the critics harp, you'd think Allison and Vines were defeated by a couple of clay-court champions from upper Montana, and not by two of the finest shotmakers in the game.

It criticism must be leveled, pray level it at the august governing board of the United States Lawn Tennis association which sent Vines and Allison on that tour of Australia and New Zealand. That was the item which cost us the Davis cup, if anything did. You remember that trip, of course. It was the one which picked up Vines and Hills last September and sent them spinning half way 'round the world, playing tennis and still be fresh and on edge for the cup play is a mystery that only that body could explain.

You can't blame the boys for taking the trip. We'd take it, and you'd take it. Four or five months of barnstorming in the overseas paid in the world with all expenses paid is not a gift to be turned down. They'd have been saps to have refused it. This will be enough for today. It's powerful hot and sticky.

ATHLETICS LEND BEAVERS PLAYERS FOR PENNANT RACE

(By United Press)
The hustling Portland Beavers, strengthened by replacements from the Philadelphia Athletics when replacements were needed and just a half game behind the top - bracket Sacramento club, will play another series at home this week.

The Mission fields will provide most expected to feature the Beavers, Spencer Abbott recently received Tony Freitas, southpaw who went to the Athletics from Sacramento, and can use him nicely. Portland has started its real drive to repeat its pennant victory of 1932.

Sacramento, the surprise club of the league, has clung tenaciously to the lead for a considerable time and Lew Moreing thinks his organization is sound enough to keep on clinging. The Senators open a series at Seals stadium, San Francisco, tonight. The Seals have not been formidable, but completely reversed their form last week in winning five of seven from Oakland, while Sacramento dropped a 4 to 3 series decision to Los Angeles.

Los Angeles and Hollywood will probably remain within striking distance of the leaders this week. The Angels will again be on their home lot, with Oakland opposing. Hollywood specials are hopelessly out of the flag chase.

Herb Owen pioneered outdoor shows last year and went right through the summer. This year, because of the cool weather, the wrestlers have stayed indoors and here it is the first of August and they're still drawing big houses.

The weather has no doubt accounted for the shows being kept in the armory but I believe it is the quality of the shows and the class of men brought here that has kept the interest at a peak in spite of the season. With his Portland shows drawing bigger and bigger houses and with the Eugene houses continuing to pay out well, the promoter has been able to command the best welterweight and middleweight talent in the world.

If we were to discuss the wrestlers who are gathered here for the war, we would have to start with Otis Clingman because we'd get mobbed by the fans if we didn't. Otis is undoubtedly one of the best boys ever to wrestle in Eugene. But go right down the list and you'll find that practically every top flight wrestler in the U. S. has been here within a few months. Eugene and Portland are the wrestling centers for the light boys and what they do here follows them all over the country.

HIGHCLIMBER

Perhaps it has been the weather. Perhaps it has been the type of talent brought here by the promoter. Perhaps it is a combination of both, but the fact remains that depression or no depression, the ransling game is healthier in Eugene this year than it has ever been in history.

Do you remember two or three years back when the rasslers folded up their mats, put away their ring togs and declared a vacation every summer? It wasn't because they wanted a vacation but because the public lost interest in wrestling along about the first of June and didn't regain its interest until sometime in September.

Herb Owen pioneered outdoor shows last year and went right through the summer. This year, because of the cool weather, the wrestlers have stayed indoors and here it is the first of August and they're still drawing big houses.

PORTLAND MATCH WON BY JENSEN
PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 1.—(AP)—After losing the first fall, Thor Jensen of Elkton, Ore., came back to take the next two and the match from Dorry Detton of Salt Lake City in the main event of last night's wrestling program here. Jensen weighed 161, five pounds more than Detton.

The Utah wrestler won the first fall with a drop toe hold in 7 minutes. Jensen used a body slam to even the match in 5 minutes, and eight minutes later took the deciding tumble with a flying Dutchman.

Tesura Higama, 155, Japan, defeated Mickey McGuire, 157, West Salem, in the semi-final, taking two falls out of three.

Hugh Adams, 160, Portland, won from Harold Hiebert, 160, St. Helens, in the preliminary. Hiebert was unable to return to the ring for the final fall after each had taken one.

Grain Behavior Is Reversed Tuesday
CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Dramatic reversal of grain market behavior took place today, and all the specu-tive pits were filled with orders to buy instead of to sell.

Except for a brief period early, however, when prices rose buoyantly to the topmost point possible under new emergency rules, an artificial deadlock prevailed, and trading was almost at a standstill, but with buyers again confident, whereas yesterday they were dismayed. The reason for the deadlock was that buyers were restrained from bidding above definite upward boundaries, and that sellers below such boundaries today were practically non-existent.

General belief was expressed that before the end of the week normal conditions would be restored, although regulations which prohibited extreme advances or declines would remain in effect.

Wheat closed strong at the day's top level, 5 cents over yesterday's finish, corn 4 cents up, oats 3 cents advanced, and provisions showing a uniform gain of 50 cents.
