ACTIVITY IS REPORTED IN BRICE CREEK C.C.C. CAMP

BRICE CREEK C. C. C. CAMP. (Special)—Last week the Brice Creek camp got shot, and again and again. Three or four times in fact. Here is the dope. The photographer with his big tripod camera came to our camp and took a lot of pictures of us. Boys from Kan-

...of the shots taken were of the activities and of work on the camp. A few local color shots were taken. These photos are to be finished and sent back to camp where they will have the opportunity to be seen by as many as they want at a time.

Improvements are still being made on the Brice Creek camp. The house is now completed but the water will be piped into the camp. There are two drains in the camp. Two wash basins are to be built in front of each tent and a new incinerator and drainage system has been built west of camp.

It is to begin immediately on the mess hall which will be a two-story building. A little later the mess hall is to be partly boarded and put in to take the place of the mess hall.

July 31 was another gala day for the Brice Creek camp. The boys were only pay day, but good news was that we haven't had a single day of rain. You can't really have a whole month. You can't really have a whole month. You can't really have a whole month.

...all have heard the story of the "Smoky" Joe. He has never been seen since. But he can verify that there is a story known as the "Smoky" Joe. He has never been seen since.

...happened this way. Saturday afternoon was sleeping serenely on the Brice Creek, for no one ever dreamed that bears would get hungry this year. But this bear came right in among them and he was a good Goldilocks among the bears. The other bear story. As a matter of course everyone awoke, and the same as our heroine just did, the bear became frightened. The boys all decided to go to the "Smoky" Joe. Now it is this wrong. "Smoky" isn't a bear, but being a cook, he can't preserve the victuals. He is the inmate instinct that warns "Smoky" that Mr. Bruin would be there. The second visit occurred about a week later. This time the bear was on a mission of vengeance. He did those boys so badly that they were shipped running until they found a creek camp. Since "Smoky" was not dressed when the bear arrived, he was approximately a half hour before the rest of the boys. That's a no-nonsense precaution, either.

...considerable progress can now be made for the Brice Creek camp as far as work is concerned. The work is still going along nicely. It is approximately two miles or so. This distance is not all in brush, however, as there are some connecting spaces that still remain.

...Practically all of the telephone lines and the maintenance of the F. C. and trails ways will be completed by the end of this week. The construction of new trails will begin.

...Much the work on the guard has progressed to such a point that the house can be called practically finished. About the first of the work will start on some lookout points. The first point being the first to be constructed.

...RAIN, Aug. 5.—(Special)—Mr. Gene Laker, Mrs. J. W. Laker and daughter, Margaret Hedrick, Mr. Haven were shopping and talking to business in Eugene Wednesday.

...George Louder of Portland is visiting his mother, Mrs. Henry Fanning and brother, R. L. Letson and family this week.

...Mrs. Bond will preach both days and evening at the Christian Church Sunday. Mrs. Bond will sing in the "Holy City" with Mrs. Blackwell as the violin obligato at the morning service.

...Mrs. Rosette is home from the N. X. training camp at San Diego, and is a 10-day furlough.

...Mrs. Grant and son of Elgin, Wash. arrived Monday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Johnson.

...Mrs. and Mrs. Will Carey and family are planning a picnic at Westfir Sunday.

TROOPERS DYNAMITE TREES!

Contract Bridge

By GEORGE SCHAEFERS Associate Teacher—Culbertson National Bridge Studios of N. Y.

The problem hand of last week was held by the writer playing with three other Eugeneans just a couple of days before the article was written. It is quite an interesting and unusually powerful hand in the North position. Here it is:

Bridge hand diagram showing North and South cards in spades, hearts, diamonds, and clubs.

You probably noticed that I said that I held the above hand—and there are four hands—so which one did I hold? You guessed it the first time. I held the South hand—the one without a single honor-trick in it. And my spirits were surely on the low ebb when I looked at it. But when East, the dealer, passed I felt a little better, but then immediately had visions of the tremendous hand West probably had. Then he passed and, imagine my relief when my partner bid 2 spades.

Of course, then it was my duty to keep the bidding open for one round at least, even with the part score, so I told my partner of the bid by bidding 2 no-trump. But she had a hand, a real hand, and couldn't let the bidding die without an attempt at a slam so forced me to bid again by making a jump bid of 4 hearts (her other five-card suit).

Now my hand looked stronger (such conceit, you say?) with four hearts to the J-10-9 and a doubleton spade suit including the Knave. Being forced to bid I supported the hearts to five and my partner raised again to six, which was easily made. Seven were made as a matter of record, the King of hearts being with West but the contract was safe at all times. A fairly good pair of Jacks I held, weren't they?

This is a good illustration of the effectiveness of the two-bid with a part score and the jump rebid. Without these effective weapons in the way of bids nothing short of a gun placed on the table could have forced a bid from the South hand with its three measly Knaves. Correctly

MOTORCYCLE TRIP MADE TO COAST BY HADLEYVILLE MAN

HADLEYVILLE, Aug. 5.—(Special)—J. M. Nighswander of this community recently took a motorcycle trip to the coast and other sections of the western part of the county and gives some of the highlights of the journey as follows:

July 8—Motorcycle without sidecar packed with outfit for camping, weighing 100 pounds, started for Siuslaw. Scared stiff on Mapleton-North Fork hill but got over all right and to Florence. Stayed a week at Florence and Glendora; side trips to beach and from Tahkenitch lake south, and north to Heceta Head for a day of sightseeing of this most wonderful scenery. Dug 13 dozen clams during week. Cool weather.

Monday, July 17—Started for Sulphur Springs, head of navigation on Smith river, 25 miles from Gardiner. Beautiful trip inland by lakes to Ada, then up Fiddle creek, then over mountains to North Fork of Smith river. "Some mountain." Some view of Roman Nose! Met in the road by a full delegation of the younger J. R. Dalley family, to whom the motorcycle was very interesting, and all wanted a ride on same, which they got. It was here that in 1906 the writer and John Sedore had headquarters while holding down a homestead on Scarce creek, 18 miles above on the south side of the river, and now, so Frank Hooker, lookout man for the C. C. C. camp, says, they have laid out a road by our old cabin which is a wreck. In those days we carried our provisions up in it to cruise pack sacks on our backs.

Also the C. C. C. men are building a road up Vineyard creek, opposite the mouth of which is the camp and where they cleared a baseball ground they found a large Dutch oven that we cached there in a hollow stump in 1905 and it is still in good shape. While at Sulphur Springs many old friends were visited, among them being Mrs. J. R. Dalley and family of Sulphur Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Lyster, just married; Mr. and Mrs. William Dalley, North Fork and Main river; Pat Cowan, Jack Cowan and Douglas Dalley and family. While at Douglas Dalley's his varmint dogs treed a bear about 11 p. m. not far from the house and an exciting hunt was in order. It was a female and cubs and in the thick underbrush got away when a flashlight was shined on her.

Douglas Dalley being a fisherman, on Sunday, July 25, he was taken tandem on the motorcycle and we started for the falls and C. C. C. camp, where he proceeded to pull in 14 large cutthroat trout, while the writer visited the camp and with Frank Hooker and William Sylvester, forest ranger just above the C. C. C. camp.

Monday, July 24—Started out and visited the Lincoln Blackwell family on North Fork of Smith river, also Rowe brothers on upper North Fork. Another week was spent at Glendora and procured more clams. On Saturday, July 29, started out for home. Crossed ferry at 7 a. m. in heavy drizzle of mist. It got heavier as progress was made up North Fork of Siuslaw until the hill was crossed, then a dry road was found to be ahead. Hill did not seem too bad after Fiddle Creek mountain. Home to Hadleyville at noon, and found hot and sunny weather.

A WHOLE SHELF OF DELICIOUS CANNED FRUIT

Nothing quite takes the place of the fruit you can yourself for the winter's menu. And it's so easy to can by the oven canning method with the new Estate Gas Range. The oven is insulated so that even when it's going full blast very little of the heat gets out into the kitchen to cause you discomfort while you're doing the canning.

The insulated oven is only one of many things in favor of this new range. The gas-saving cooking top is inclosed and equipped with new type, quick-heating burners. And the easy-to-clean enamel finish and rounded corners are a great convenience.

You'll be pleased at the cost, too. In the various styles there's a wide selection of prices. Come in and let us demonstrate.
